Sunday night there were just ten people left in the village, after its capture by eighteen I.W.W. anarchists, and every one of those ten was an American, the Mexicans having fled for protection to the United States soil. In Mexicali are twenty-eight saloons and cantinas and in these were assembled the heroic ten.

Trains are not running on the inter-California division of the Southern Pacific, a line of sixty-four miles, from Calexico to Yuma, through Mexico, because the Mexican government requested the suspension of traffic, to avoid the payment of indemnity on possible damage. Offices of this division have been moved from Mexicali to Calexico.

The chicken theif band now numbers about 200. Today they received eight new recruits from Mexicali, hobos who drifted from outcast stations of the United States. Most of the revolutionists are either Mexican criminals or mongrel Americans who have good reasons for not risking their presence again on American soil. They have three wagonloads of provisions and one wagonload of ammunition and dynamite. They brought one wagon of provisions across the line at Mexicali and two from a smuggling passage at Holtville, nine miles from El Centro.

They claim they are Socialists, financed by the New York agents of Madero. From Mexicali to Ensenada the distance is 175 miles. The insurgent troops camped tonight in the Pechatchi Mountains, 40 miles from here. In that LEAVES GOLD TO WOMAN.

Virginian Who Struck It Rich as Forty-niner, Dies at Home.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LURAY (Va.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James P. Snyder, who died here today, left to his housekeeper, Mrs. J. C. Southard, a glass jar containing a gallon of California gold which he had kept buried under his home near here since the California gold fever year, 1849. In addition to this, Snyder left Mrs. Southard a considerable fortune. Snyder was among those who first went in search of gold when the early reports of wealth reached the East. He was 82 years of age. Among his later fortunate ventures was an investment in cherry farming, which also brought him a small fortune. He has kept his wealth a secret since he was 20 years of age and, though credited with a good income, his gold find was unknown.

HOTTEST DAY IN FEBRUARY.

FIRST OF MONTH RECORDS UNPRECEDENTED STORY.

San Antonio, Texas, and St. Louis Breaks Even on Temperatures. Tampa, Florida, Cooler Than Mound City—Chicago Twenty-one Degrees Cooler Than Los Angeles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Weather conditions throughout the United States presented some queer phases today. Missouri, Oklahoma and the entire Southwest was baking under the hottest February day in the history, the temperature soaring to 84 in St. Louis, the same temperature prevailing in San Antonio, Tex., while Oklahoma points recorded 90 deg. above. In Oklahoma, it is said foolhardy trees and vegetables are bursting their buds, unmindful of the treachery of March and April, to say nothing of what may develop later.

In the Northwest blizzards tied up traffic. In Duluth schools were dismissed and street car traffic practically abandoned because of snowdrifts.

In North Dakota a party of fifty students attending a farmhouse reception will be marooned there several days because of the fierce blizzards which have stalled all trains. All Canadian weather stations report below zero ranging from 6 to 20 except Montreal, where the maximum was 2 below and the minimum zero.

Willisfon, N. D., and Bismarck both reported below zero weather, the former 16 and the latter 8. Devil's Lake reported 12 below. These were the only points in the United States reporting below zero, although South Dakota must be experiencing practically the same brand of weather.

Tampa, Fla., usually the hottest spot in the States, was 10 deg. cooler than St. Louis. Chicago enjoyed a steady temperature of 41 for the entire day 21 deg. colder than Los Angeles. Snow is falling heavily in North Michigan points and over the Dakotas, San Francisco, Portland and Green Bay, Wis., were the only points reporting rain.

Oklahoma Banks Under New Law Show Decrease in Deposits While National Banks Make Big Gain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OKLAHOMA City (Okla.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A decrease of $57,754.78 in deposits of the Oklahoma State Guarantee Banks since the last statement in November, while the National banks in the State have increased $1,250,000 in the same period, is shown by a consolidated statement of the condition of all of the State banks January 7, 1911, issued today by Bank Commissioner E. B. Cockrell.

It shows total individual deposits of $54,756,580.81 which are compared in the statement with those on January 31, 1910, when the otal was $49,928,444.04. The reserve is reported at 48.5 per cent, against 40.2 per cent in 1910, loans and discounts show a decrease of $37,964,-123.76 against $38,407,930.35 last year. Cash in banks has increased from $4,-092,870 to $4,625,268 and the amount due from banks from $16,634,323.54 to $24,-200,808.79.

TWO DEAD IN AUTO CRASH.

Four Others Probably Dying as Result of Collision With Railroad Car Near St. Joseph, Mo.

Times Correspondent Tries to Interview Party While Passing Gibraltar.

Mystery of Missing Heiress is Apparently Sore Subject With Whole Family.

Impression is Given That All Know More Than They Are Willing to Admit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Nord Deutscher steamship Berlin passed here today en route for New York and was boarded while at anchor by a Los Angeles Times correspondent. The Griscom party, comprising George S. Griscom, Sr.; his son and wife, and E. F. Glenn, were aboard.

The elder Griscom, when asked if he had any solution to suggest in the Arnold mystery, refused to say anything beyond "I have no information."

He was nervous, disagreeable and repellant. He added, in reply to a further question as to why he was returning home now: "I am going in the ordinary course," and turned on his heel.

The correspondent then approached George S. Griscom, Jr., who was amiable, but reticent, declining to discuss the circumstances of Dorothy Arnold's disappearance, saying repeatedly: "I only wish I could give you news of her. It is not true she has been in Florence; I never saw her there."

Mrs. Griscom was startled and apprehensive and evidently afraid to say anything. She said hurriedly: "I can offer no explanation of Dorothy's disappearance. She is not at Florence, as far as I know." Mrs. Griscom would say no more.

The demeanor of the party impressed the correspondent with the suspicion that they knew more than they were willing to state. They were all intensely anxious and suspicious, and their unwillingness to discuss the subject was palpable, but they had evidently made a compact to say nothing. They had remained very much to themselves since joining the ship, all seeming oppressed and restless. They did not land here, but received several cables from Florence.

Mrs. Arnold and John Arnold joined some elderly friends, the two Misses Shackleford, at the Pension Constantino, here, on January 15. John Arnold remained for two days, leaving after a visit to the Anglo-American Hotel and returning to America on the French line.

A friend now at the pension today told The Times correspondent that Mrs. Arnold told her there was no apparent connection between Dorothy's disappearance and Griscom's presence here, and added that her exhaustive search had been completely fruitless.

Mrs. Arnold appeared deeply distressed, but refused to discuss the circumstances or give any theory to Wow.

HOW IT FEELS TO BE WOOED BY AN INDIAN IN HIS NATIVE WILDS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Love is the religion of life, and when Fate, as personified by an obdurate mamma and an unimpressionable and flinty-hearted government agent, interferes, then Fate, I think, is mighty cruel."

Miss Madeline Sullivan, 18, returned to her home, No. 820 Crescent place, this morning, and thus epigrammatically summed up her impression of the interrupted or shattered romance, which ended Monday. Plenty Hawk, her Crow Indian Romeo, was corralled and securely locked up in the reservation "cooler," his pale faced Juliet being escorted from the reservation near Billings, Mont., and sent to her mother in Chicago in charge of a train crew.

"Shattered romance" was the decision of Mrs. Minne Kirschberg Sullivan when she welcomed her runaway daughter home today.

LOVES THE INDIAN.

"Time will tell," naively replied Miss Sullivan.

"But surely, Madeline, you would not want to give up your home and all your friends for this redskin."

"In a minute," was the reply. "You have no idea, mother, what a terribly handsome Indian Plenty Hawk is. I'd go right back now if I thought that horrid Sheriff and the soldiers would not catch me again."

Mrs. Sullivan is said to be worth $250,000, being an extensive owner of North Side real estate. Miss Madeline has an income of $2400 a year in her own right and a bank account of her own.

"Oh, Madeline, Madeline," wailed Mrs. Sullivan, "don't you realize the horror of your position? Think how awful it would be to be the wife of an Indian."

WILL WED BRAVE.

"I am going to marry Plenty Harwk, my Indian brave. I still love him, and the passionate Indian love never grows cold. I will marry him if I have to defy my mother and my relatives, the police, the Indian agent and the United States government. Nothing will stop me."

The girl, dressed in black furs, with a hat flared back from her forehead in sombrero style, and carrying a big buckskin bag ornamented with heads of wampum—a remarkable example of Indian art and a gift from Plenty Hawk—attracted much attention on the train.

She said she was bitterly disappointed at her mother's interference, but returned to her home when the marriage was found to be impossible and Mrs. Sullivan sent her money for the journey.

THE COURTSHIP.

"I'm not going to tell what my plans are, or how I intend going about it to marry Plenty Hawk, because if I did it would be stopped again," said Miss Sullivan. "But I can't live without him. No girl that has experienced an Indian wooing ever forgets. And my Indian brave, I know, will not forget.

"How does an Indian make love? Oh, it's nothing like a white man's way. Sometimes Plenty Hawk and I would ride our ponies for two hours and he would never utter a word. Then, perhaps, he would see a snake and dismount in silence and kill it, and then get on his pony again and we would ride—ride. Oh, it was romantic and exciting!

Terrific.

PANIC CAUSED BY DYNAMITE.

Explosion Shakes Manhattan.

Thirtyt-wo, at Least, Dead And Property Loss is Near a Million.

Explosive Gocs Off in Transit From Car to Lighter and Sinks Vessels.

New Yorkers Terrified When Sky-scrapers Sway and Glass Shatters.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Dynamite in transit from a freight car to the hold of a lighter moored at Pier No. 7, Communipaw, dN. J., explode at one minute past noon today, and in the widespread ruin that followed, seven men are known to have been killed, seven fatally wounded and hundreds less seriously injured. Various reports place the number unaccounted for at from fifteen to twenty.

Thirty-two seems to be a conservative estimate of the dead and $750,000 of the property loss.

The explosion occurred 150 yards south of the Jersey City terminal of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the cause is variously attributed to the dropping of a car of dynamite, and to the blowing up of a boiler of a boat.

The Jersey Central terminal was wrecked; three ferry boats in the slips were damaged; lower Manhattan, across the river was shaken from street level to the top of the Singer tower; severe damage was done in Brooklyn and Staten Island and to the immigration detention station on Ellis Island; the shock was felt at Amityville, L. I., thirty-five miles distant and at Long Branch, N. J., forty-five miles away.

LIGHTER VANISHES.

The damage is so widely scattered that it is impossible to more than estimate it, but in Manhattan alone it is placed at $100,000; on Ellis Island from $10,000 to $25,000 and in all three quarters of a million.

The lighter receiving the dynamite—the Katherine W., owned by James Healing of Jersey City—vanished utterly with her crew of seven men, including the master, Edward Traver.

Alongside was the lighter Whistler, which was so badly shattered that she sank with her crew of two, while the British steam barkentine Ingrid was stripped of her rigging and two deck hands aboard were killed. Fragments of one man's hand were found swinging high on a tangled piece of rope.

The Katherine W. was tied to the outer end of the pier, and a crew of dock hands was unloading a consignment of fifty-pound boxes from two freight cars to the lighter when the crash came.

One report was that the explosive was consigned to contractors up the river for blasting along the Palisades; another that it was bound for Havana.

FREAKS OF EXPLOSION.

Only the Whistler's flagstaff has been found. The freight car went up in a puff of dust. On the rear deck of the barkentine Ingrid were found a pair of iron trucks. They may be the trucks of the dynamite car or of one of the other four cars standing near which were also torn to bits. Fifty yards back stood another car of dynamite. The explosion ripped the roof off and broke in the doors, but the dynamite itself did not explode.

On board the Ingrid, the steel mizzen mast snapped off above the tower yard, and the tangled wreckage came tumbling about the decks. Everything aloft was leveled flat, but the steel plates of the hull held.

For 100 feet the pier end was demolished. The planking seemed to have been ground to powder. Over the broken edges twisted the steel rails of tracks. A steel gondola car on the southernmost track looked like an old hat used for football.

All about were strange freaks of the explosion. One freight car had the roof blown inward, as if it had been crushed by a falling boulder, but the sides were undamaged.

BLOWN FROM CAB.

In the trainshed of the terminal, nearly the whole southern exposure of the glass roof collapsed, showering the passengers with broken glass. One man was struck by a twenty-pound fragment and so severely cut that he died.

An engineer in a shunting locomotive was blown from his cab and died of a fractured skull.

A tug boat captain was hurled from his wheel house and fished out of the water fifteen minutes later.

Inside the passenger station damage was visible everywhere. The floors were littered with broken glass. Windows fronting on the inner court had been sucked from the frames, sashes and all. Slates were torn from the roof. The hands of the ferry house clock were torn off. The southern wall bulged like a pasteboard box left out in the rain. There were no sashes in most of the windows, and no glass in those that had sashes.

MANY PASSENGERS WOUNDED.

Two ferryboats of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Somerville and the Plainfield, lay in the terminal

"Too Much Johnson" Gets Goat of Senate, Too, on Pet Flint Bill.

Two Oppose Measure Which Sends Fourteen to "High and Unhacked."

Genuine Blown-in-the-Bottle Plan to Oust Anderson Aligns Members.

BY W. R. WILLIAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Statistics showing the establishment of "one-man" power in California are now available. The Senate voted to submit to the "big stick" today with just a little less docility than the Assembly, but it nevertheless submitted overwhelmingly. The vote recorded was 32 to 2.

The record now stands: Submissive, 101 members; in rebellion openly, 2 (Wright and Wolfe;) in rebellion, but afraid to vote that way, 3 (Cutten, Curtin and Bills;) "taken to the woods," 14.

Out of 120 members of the Legislature but two had the courage to vote against what they believe to be wrong. The passage of the Flint bill, giving the Governor power to oust Alden Anderson from the office of Superintendent of Banks, by the Senate this afternoon, was the last ceremony in establishing absolution.

MAGIC OF THE BRAND.

The passage of the Board of Control Bill in the Assembly without the initials of "H. W. J." on it was productive of just twenty-five opposing votes out of sixty-nine, which shows how far even the Assembly may be led against a measure the Governor approves, but doesn't demand. The twenty-five opposing votes are the full strength, evidently, of the anti-administration forces on a bill that he has not demanded with his club.

Henceforth the executive branch promises to dominate the legislative and it will be merely a question with the two supreme branches of popular government as to what the Governor wants or does not want. No one dreams of passing anything over his veto. That is regarded as political hari-kari or worse, political death by torture in the Governor's "bank book."

The Flint bill came before the Senate in regular order yesterday and was promptly met with a request by Senator Cutten that he be excused from voting on it, because Frank Swayzee, solicitor for the Superintendent of Banks, is his friend and has been a dutiful public servant.

Senator Wright objected to excusing any members from voting, which brought Boynton to his feet with a suggestion that such a request had never been denied by the Senate.

"If the members of this Senate would vote their honest convictions," said Wright, "the Governor's bill would be in peril. I believe in independent political action and I would like to see political independence in the Senate."

BEG TO BE EXCUSED.

Senator Wright did not insist on his objection to excusing Cutten, though Cutten offered to withdraw the request, remarking that "if members are embarassed by my objection and have not the courage to vote their convictions, I will let them be excused."

Curtin asked to be excused because of his intimate personal friendship for Anderson.

Other Senators explained why they would support the measure, the main reason being because the Governor wanted it.

Senator Boynton expressed hope of a unanimous vote and said every one should be excused who wanted to be.

Wright ended the debate with a statement that he respected the Governor for his politiccal independence and intended to exercise the same privilege himself. The Governor declared that he wanted the power of removal for the good of the public service.

"As the bankers and the public have made no complaint against Anderson," said Wright, "and I have every reason to believe that he is giving the public high and honorable service now I shall vote against the bill for the protection of the public service."

He received permission to have his explanation printed in the record.

Curtin and Cutten explained that had they not been excused they would have voted against the bill. Bills did not vote on recall and asked to be excused after it was ended.

WHO'S THE SUCCESSOR.

The bill will be sent to the Governor tomorrow and he will sign it. Friday he promises to make known the name of the successor of Anderson. There has been a belief that William H. Langdon is to be the man, but his friends now say he refused it.

Tonight there is a report that Herman Weinstock of Sacramento, a close friend of Lissner, is to be the man. There is also some ground for belief that ohn L. Sehon, one of the five commissioners of San Diego's new-fangled government, is a possibility. Sehon was here after the job and left, his friends say, with some assurance of favorable consideration.

Reapportionment, according to the plans of Assemblyman Randall, has "started something" in the Legislature. While the plans appeal to many country members, it hits others so squarely that they are ready to join San Francisco in preventing any reapportionment.

Bad tatics on the part of Randall are charged even by the Los Angeles members and they say the bill is playing right into the hands of the members who want to postpone apportionment.

It is planned to use the constitutional amendment of Senator Campbell permitting legislative districts to disregard county lines as a basis for postponing all reapportionment under the special session that is scheduled by the Lissner-Johnson programme to follow the special constitutional election in the spring or summer. By this means any old scheme of districting will be possible and a "progressive" gerrymander may be the result.

REAPPORTIONMENT.

The effort of San Francisco is to prevent a reapportionment now because she does not want a reduction from twenty-seven members to twenty-one, as her population justifies.

The Randall measure has eliminated Senator Birdsall, whose bill two days ago was a surprise, and San Francisco plans to go further and eliminate the districts of Senators Martinelli and Lewis, in Marin and San Joaquin counties, and give them to the gate city.

The direct result of the Randall measure is to rub the political fur all the wrong way. His distribution of the Los Angeles districts has brought a howl from the old members because the city will control the country, they say.

The real measure is to come from Senator Thompson within the next week. It promises to be a bomb shell.

That there will be only one Japanese resolution in the Senate is the announced determination of the Committee on Federal Relations, of which Senator Wright is chairman, after a meeting today.

The committee was addressed by Rev. M. A. Johnson, a missionary among the Japanese, and W. B. Davis of Los Angeles, in opposition to the spirit of the Sanford resolution protesting against any treaty concessions.

The committee gave both to understand that, at the proper time, a memorial to Congress will issue from the committee and that will be all. It promises to be mild and diplomatic. Until the committee is ready it is not likely the Senate will press the subjection.

Lieut.-Gov. Wallace and Senator Boynton say there will be no alien legislation of any kind. Both have made a canvass of the Senate. Senator Larkin has served notice that he will demand a report from the Judiciary Committee next week, or he "will know why," on his alien land bill.

Looks Good.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles, through its representatives in the Legislature, will ask that the State take over Throop Polytechnic School at Pasadena as the California Institute of Technology. This was the unanimous agreement of the fourteen members from Los Angeles county tonight, and President Scherer of Throop and Mark Keppel, County Superintendent of Schools, were made a committee to draft a substitute for the bill introduced yesterday in both houses.

This new bill will differ only in the fact that the appropriation of $1,000,000 asked will be made payable to the Throop Polytechnic Corporation whenever it turns its property over to the State. This is million for million, as the Throop institution represents a cost of more than $1,000,000.

That Throop's board is ready to carry out its part of the bargain is the assurance given by President Scherer. When he stated the proposition it aroused the greatest enthusiasm and was immediately accepted. No one exhibited more enthusiasm than Keppel, who says it makes it possible for the State to have a great technical school at once and ample area to immediately enlarge it. Throop now occupies twenty-two acres. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, after fifty years, has 1200 students, and is now seeking a new site of twenty acres. California may start with such a site, and a school already built by accepting the Throop offer.

It is not expected that the million dollars will be available at once, but through a series of years; nor is any part of the money to go to the corporation that gives the school. It is all to be spent in improvements and maintenance.

Armed with such a proposal the Los Angeles members are confident the Legislature will make the provision necessary now so that needed new buildings may be provided within the next year. Members of both houses will begin a campaign for the bill tomorrow. It is probable that it will be introduced tomorrow and the first bill withdrawn.

Throop and Berkeley are the only institutions in California included in the itinerary of former President Roosevelt in his California trip. President Scherer announced tonight that he had received a telegram from Roosevelt today announcing his arrival in Los Angeles March 21 at 1:30 o'clock. He will go immediately to the Maryland at Pasadena. At a dinner at the home of Arthur Fleming he will meet a company including John Burroughs and John Muir, the naturalists. In the evening he will lecture at Throop on the zoology of his African expedition.

The two days following will be spent in Los Angeles, according to the dispatch to President Scherer. Roosevelt asked Scherer to see Gov. Johnson and get him to join in the California itinerary and the Governor said he would be at Pasadena with Roosevelt.

Grewsome Sight.

STAKED UP LIKE CORDWOOD, PLAGUE VICTIMS ARE BURNED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most grewsome sight in the world's history was seen at Harbin yesterday, when the wholesale cremation of the bodies of the plague victims was begun. The incineration is continuing today and tomorrow.

In four great pits coffins by the hundreds were stacked upright. Frozen uncoffined bodies were piled on top and the whole, after being soaked in kerosene was fired, the burning taking place two miles outside of the town, under military superintendency.

Despite the fact that the danger of plague contagion is now generally understood, there is no lack of coolies, who, for a small pittance, will, unmasked, handle the coffins and corpses without fear.

Dr. Graham Ashland of the Church of England Mission, who, with Mrs. Ashland, went from Peking to Harbin, telegraphs describing the symptoms of the disease, as other physicians have done. He adds:

"The virulence of the disease is simply incredible. Men are walking about and declaring themselves in perfect health, when suddenly they develop a temperature as high as 40 degrees centigrade. In two or three hours they are dead. The fatalities in the native city average 150 a day.

"Of these deaths, from forty to sixty occur at the isolation hospitals. The remainder are persons picked up in the streets by the sanitary force."

Reports today form Mukden increase the deaths from the scourge there. Tunk Ping Fu, inside the great wall, away from the railway, is stated to be badly infected.

There are also disquieting reports from Tien Tsin, but they have not been verified.

In Peking there are two additional authenticated cases. It is declared that there are three cases of the disease at the Lama Temple. This is not certain, but appears to be suspicious.

WANTS COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE COURT CHARGES ON RUEF RULING.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An investigation of the judges of the Supreme Court of California and its decision to give Ruef a rehearing was proposed by Senator Cartwright, Democrat, of Fresno, this afternoon in a resolution which asked to be printed in the journal only.

The request brought Senator Boynton, administration floor leader of the "progressives" to his feet with a statement that he could explain "privately or publicly" the court situation which led Senator Wolfe to dispute the right of any private explanations. Both Boynton and Wolfe urged that it be sent to a committee.

Cartwright said the resolution was not offered in criticism of the court but for its protection, and he accepted the suggestion that it be referred to the Judiciary Committee without further discussion.

What Boynton meant by his explanation was that he had personally investigated the regularity of the court's proceedings and found that the newspaper statements of them were not in accord with the facts and that the criticisms and denunciation of certain "progressive" papers is not justified.

TEXT OF THE RESOLUTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—Senator George W. Cartwright, of Fresno, introduced a resolution in the Senate late today, providing that the Assembly be requested to appoint a committee to investigate the criticisms made in the newspapers of the justices of the Supreme Court who granted the rehearing in the Ruef case.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the Supreme Court of this State, on or about the twenty-second day of January, 1911, rendered a decision in the case of the people of the State of California vs. Abraham Ruef, in which the defendant is granted a rehearing, and,

"Whereas, various newspapers have published criticisms condemning said decision and intimating that the justices participating therein were controlled by corrupt and unworthy motives, and,

"Whereas, the integrity of our courts has been frequently assailed by public speakers and by many of our citizens, all of which tends to destroy the confidence of the people in the purity and integrity of our courts of justice, be it

"Resolved, by the Senate that the Assembly be requested to appoint a committee of the Assembly, such committee to be authorized, empowered and instructed to investigate the whole subject-matter and particularly to investigate said decision, the grounds upon which the decision is based, and the conduct of the justices of the Supreme Court in relation to said decision, and that the committee report to the Assembly the results of such investigation with such recommendation as to the committee may seem meet and proper in the premises, and be it further

"Resolved, that said committee shall have power to summon witnesses and to send for persons and papers and to issue subpoenaes and compel attendance of witnesses when necessary."

HEWITT HAS BILL TO AMEND STATE CONSTITUTION.

New Section Would Permit Towns Governed by Freehold Charters to Consolidate Despite Differences in Franchises—Los Angeles and Pasadena, for Instance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Hewitt today introduced a constitutional amendment permitting the consolidation of cities governed by freehold charters and which is a preliminary to the enabling act for city and county government, which he will introduce later. The amendment proposed will permit the consolidation of Los Angeles and Pasadena, for example, which is now not possible, as they have different freehold charters and the Constitution provides no way for their surrender. The amendment to section 8 of article XI in full follows:

Section eight and one-quarter—Cities governed under charters framed under the authority given by section 8 of article XI of the Constitution may, under general laws, be consolidated with other cities into one municipal corporation, whether such other cities are governed under charters so framed or are incorporated under general laws providing for the incorporation of municipal corporations, or were created and are existing under special laws. Whenever two or more cities, any one or more of which is governed under a charter so framed, are consolidated, the cities so consolidated into one municipal corporation shall be governed as a city with the name of the one of such cities having the greatest population, as determined by the census last preceding such consolidation taken under the direction of the Congress of the United States or by a census, if any there be, of each of said cities subsequent to said United States census, taken by the legislative bodies thereof, respectively, and under the charter, special law or as a city of the class in which the one of said cities so having such greatest population shall be incorporated and governed under general laws providing for the incorporation of municipal corporations at the time of said consolidation. Upon the completion of said consolidation the charter of any of the cities so consolidated, other than the charter of the city having such greatest population, shall thereupon be deemed to be and shall thereby be surrendered, abrogated and annulled, and the charter of the city having such greatest population shall be and become the charter for the government of the consolidated municipal corporation. Such charter may be amended or a new charter framed for the government of the consolidated municipal corporation as provided in section 8 of article XI of this Constitution."

LABORITE BILLS ARE HEARD.

Employers' Liability Measures Cause Debate — Eight-Hour Law for Women Will Be Reported.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A hearing before the Senate Corporations Committee this afternoon on the employers' liability measures pending was attended by S. H. C. Booth of the Southern Pacific, E. W. Camp of the Santa Fe and A. K. Snook of the Western Pacific, all attorneys. The discussion included all the measures of both houses, but the ones regarded as constitutional—the Roseberry automatic adjustment measure and the Welch American Federation of Labor bill—were the basis of discussion.

Booth, in his argument, said the measures would not effect railroads so much as they would private employers, and he told how the passage of the laborite measure means that every employer must insure the lives of his employes or carry the risk himself. The Welch bill makes the assumption of risk, the negligence of a fellow servant and contributory negligence no defense in actions for damages. Booth declared this revolutionary in the law, as it takes away from the employer all his rights of defense.

The hearing was continued until tomorrow night to give the laborites a chance to be heard.

The Griffin eight-hour law for women was amended today by the Assembly Labor and Capital committee to exempt canneries and fruit packing and will be reported favorably to the lower house tomorrow. A similar amendment to the Black bill in the Senate caused it to be recommitted, such an amendment being regarded as clearly unconstitutional. Arthur Letts of Los Angeles is expected here tomorrow to participate in the fight on the eight-hour law.

Breckett's law to establish labor bureaus under control of the Commissioner of Labor at San Francisco and Los Angeles was also reported out favorably by the same committee.

The Flint bill putting the skids under Labor Commissioner Grant was also reported favorably. It is a "big stick" measure like the Anderson ripper.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Mrs. L. Ingersoll appeared at police headquarters today and positively identified the suit case found yesterday at the ferry checking stand, as the property of J. B. Brice, one of the trio wanted in connection with the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building.

Mrs. Ingersoll told Chief of Police Seymour that Brice used the suit case while he was a boarder at her house.

just edging into the river. All of them careened violently and were showered with their own glass. Many of the wounded passengers came to New York for treatment.

In New York, the terror was intensified by uncertainty. For half an hour nobody knew what had happened or where. Those in the rocking skyscrapers thought the lower floors had been torn from under them.

Those in the street thought the massive towers above them had toppled down. Literally acres of glass were broken. Eighteen windows were smashed in the Standard Oil Company building. In Trinity Church a valuable stained glass window was strewn in the aisles.

New York business men who stood at their office windows looking out over the North River, saw a puff of yellow dust shoot into the air just below the Jersey Central terminal and then drift down the wind until it covered the terminal trainshed. The next thing they noticed was that every tug in the river seemed to be headed for Communipaw.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The city and county of San Francisco entered suit today against County Clerk Harry Hutton for $700, claiming that the latter had retained naturalization fees to that amount, collected during 1910. The fee statute which permits a county clerk to issue naturalization papers provides that all fees in excess of $700 shall be retained by the state Supreme Court held that under the charter of this city the County Clerk could not retain any fees received in the course of duties.

BANK FINALLY MAKES GOOD.

Money Found for Man Who Repays Bondsmen Money Lost in Institution Supposed to Wreck.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) Feb. 1.—Having repaid his bondsmen and repaid the thousands of dollars to depositors lost when his bank failed in 1893, Frank Edmiston, president of the Walla Walla Bank and of the Security Savings Bank who had been a fugitive from justice since his conviction in the federal courts here yesterday by Judge C. H. Hanford, and can now return to the country without fear of arrest, will be free after he learns that the banks were insolvent and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He jumped his bond of $2000 and fled. As the years went by he not only reimbursed his bondsmen but sent thousands of dollars to Seattle and Walla Walla to repay the depositors.

It is not known where Edmiston is, but he is believed to be in Honduras. He is also said to have been interested in large electrical projects in Egypt and for a time was manager of a large mercantile establishment in London. In granting the pardon, Gov. Hay said that any man who had spent years in foreign lands earning money to repay depositors money lost in his banks, had done all that could be reasonably asked of him and was entitled to his legal freedom.

ACCIDENT TO OREGON.

BOSTON RAMS OLD CRUISER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—The old battleship Oregon, which is being rebuilt at the Puget Sound Navy yards, was slightly damaged yesterday when she was rammed by the cruiser Boston. The Oregon is leaking and her stern is settling. It will be necessary to put her in dry dock at once to make repairs. The accident happened when the Boston was being towed to a pier to undergo repairs. When nearing the pier at which the Oregon was moored, the Boston became unmanageable, and was carried by the tide and her own momentum in between the Oregon and the pier, striking the famous old battleship on the starboard side, breaking her mooring chains and tearing loose the rivets in one of her plates. The damaged plate let water into the magazine room under the Oregon's main battery. The Boston was not injured.

OREGON LEGISLATURE REBUKES DIRECT LEGISLATION.

Stalwarts Denounce Effort to Put Republican Body on Record as Favoring "System," Which Member Declares Is "Getting Political Power by Treachery."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The effort by supporters of Senator Jonathan Bourne to put the Oregon Legislature on record as endorsing and approving the "Oregon system" of direct legislation has received its final quietus. The resolution of Senator Albee, giving fulsome praise to the system and Senator Bourne has been defeated in the Senate.

The freakish features of the Oregon system were scathingly denounced by several opponents of the resolution from the Senate floor. Senator Abraham, who led the opposition, said:

"The Oregon system has developed into the science of gaining political power by the way of treachery and betrayal. The primary law is a part of this system so much talked of and in the primary law it is said specifically that it is for the purpose of preserving political parties. But the system is to use the primary law in Oregon to destroy the Republican party.

"We differ from Senator Bourne as to his position in politics. We do not indorse his system of treachery to the party. In the Progressive League, of which he was recently named president, the members all professs to be Republicans, but we find the names of many Democrats among its membership."

Advocates of the Oregon system declare they will bring the question before the Legislature again, but its defeat today was so decisive that there is scant prospects for success.

DRIVING LOGGERS TO DRINK.

Oregon Solon Would Bar All Public Places Save Saloons to Wearers of Calk-Shod Boots.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALEM (Or.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shoes with calks such as loggers wear will exclude persons from all public places in Oregon except saloons, is a bill introduced by Representative Rackloff of Coos county becomes a law.

The Rackloff bill includes railway depots and right of way, which presumably means that no person wearing calks shall walk on railroad tracks for fear of marring the ties. Any church or other public house, however, wishing to prohibit such persons from entering and ruining carpets must post a notice at the entrance, which all persons wearing calks must read.

Mr. Rackloff, out of consideration for the loggers, does not give saloonkeepers the privilege. A penalty of from $5 to $25 is imposed for violation. The bill is prompted by the fact that in the towns of Coos county, whence Rackloff hails, the floors of many public places have been marred and ruined by calk-shod loggers.

FINED FOR "CUSSING."

WOMAN JURY DOES IT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WENATCHEE (Wash.) Feb. 1.—That it is not safe to "cuss," now that women are eligible as jurors, was the lesson learned yesterday by Ned Crane. He was found guilty by a jury of five women of having used profane language and was fined one dollar and costs. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Lavinia Strong, proprietress of a local rooming-house. It was the first woman's jury empaneled here under the new law and the courtroom was packed with spectators.

Mourners in Kentucky Greeted by Supposed Corpse at Funeral.

[Associated Press Night Report.]

GLASGOW (Ky.) Feb. 1.—Stretching out her hand toward those who had assembled about her coffin, Mrs. Jane Pitcock, an octogenarian, caused a panic at her funeral at Gamaliel, Monroe county, yesterday. The funeral sermon had been preached and the lid of the coffin was removed to permit friends and relatives to take a last look at what they believed a corpse. It was then that Mrs. Pitcock regained consciousness. She remained alive for several hours, her death following last night.

SHORT-ARM JABS FOR DIVORCEES.

Learned Jurist Slips One to Bunch at Reno.

Looks Askance at Residence Claim Set Up.

Room in Apartment House Not Legal Domicile.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch] Denying a decree of divorce to Robert W. Sampson today in his suit against Merle Winifred Sampson, Judge Orr upheld his decision, given in the Ford case a few days ago, that persons who merely come to Nevada for the purpose of securing a residence for the purpose of filing a divorce suit are not bona fide residents and therefore the court has no jurisdiction in the matter.

The opinion in the Sampson case rendered today recites that the parties were married September 23, 1903 at Brooksville, Me. On August 20, 1909, the plaintiff alleges desertion on the part of the wife at London, Eng.

The complaint was filed November 18, 1910, and on December 9, the defendant filed a written appearance consenting to any decree that might be entered.

It appears that Sampson registered at a local apartment house April 27, 1910. He remained here one day, and then went to California with his father, staying there until May 27, when he returned to the apartment house and stayed until August, 1910. Then he went to Visalia, Cal. to sell horses and returned on September 4.

Sampson is an inventor and has several patents on which he collects monthly royalties. He has been engaged in perfecting inventions, but has engaged no office in Reno.

From May 2 to November 18 is not even six months, Judge Orr declares and in addition he states that the circumstances of Sampson's residence are not such as to indicate that Sampson considers Reno his permanent home. The order was accordingly entered denying the decree.

The plaintiff was given five days in which to file written exceptions to the order, and because of the fact that time was requested, it is believed an appeal is contemplated.

There is gloom in the colony tonight and it is not improbable that the divorcees now here obtaining a "residence" may band together and have the case passed upon by the Supreme Court.

DINING CARS IN ALASKA.

Prospectors in Far North May Now Dine a la Carte Instead of a La Snowbank.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A cablegram from Cordova says the first dining car service to be inaugurated in Alaska has been installed by the Copper River and Northwestern between Cordova and Chitina. Instead of mushing with a dog team and sitting on the ice in a snow bank to eat a cold lunch the Alaskan prospector and miner now dallies with the viands in a regular Pullman coach.

An Iditarod letter dated December 20 says there are probably between 4000 and 5000 reindeer in the heart of lower Kuskorwim near Bethel. A year ago there were over 3000. Some belong to the government, some to natives, while the Moravian mission at Bethel owns some. There is an abundance of moss for winter and summer ranges. The animals thrive and increase rapidly. To prevent food shortage in the Iditarod, several score of reindeer were driven there early in December and more were to be obtained later in the season.

UNION PACIFIC TO BUILD.

DENVER (Colo.) Feb. 1.—The Denver Times says today that the Union Pacific Railroad will expend many millions of dollars in construction work in territory contiguous to Denver within the next few years. The extension to Fort Collins will be completed at once, and the thirty-five miles of new track on the Northport branch. The Fort Morgan-Denver cut-off will be built this spring. The projected extension of the Southern Pacific system from Southern Arizona into Colorado is also provided for in the new budget announced by President Lovett, according to the Times.

Up to Commission.

ARGUMENTS CLOSE IN PETITION FOR REHEARING VALLEY RATES.

Decision Expected Prior to Date When Former Order Would Become Effective—Northern Interests Fear Los Angeles Intends to Use Victory, If Won, as Stepping Stone for Demands for Still Further Reductions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Argument on the petition for a rehearing of the San Joaquin Valley freight rate case before the State Railroad Commission was completed today by the attorneys for San Francisco and the Northern valley cities and the attorneys for Los Angeles. Seth Mann of San Francisco closed the argument for the proposers of the petition shortly before 6 o'clock in the evening.

The commissioners took the case under advisement and will render a decision as to whether an order of the former commission, made December 24, allowing lower rates from Los Angeles into the San Joaquin, will stand and become effective February 15, or whether San Francisco and the northern cities will be given a rehearing upon the order. The decision will in all probability be rendered prior to the date when the proposed rates would become effective—February 15.

It was shown by the argument of both the attorneys for the railroads—Southern Pacific and Santa Fe—and the attorneys for San Francisco, that they fear Los Angeles intends, if successful in defeating the petition for a rehearing, to begin another action for further lowering of the rates from Los Angeles into the San Joaquin Valley. It was brought out, during the course of argument, that Los Angeles jobbers had subscribed $20,000 to fight any lowering of the rates from San Francisco into the San Joaquin Valley.

ESPEE FAVORS REHEARING.

That the Southern Pacific Company favors a rehearing was brought out by the argument of Attorney C. W. Durbrow of the company. Seth Mann declared San Francisco jobbers wish to have the rates from Stockton south lowered, claiming that water competition exists, while Durbrow wished to have the commission rehear the case so as to adjust and raise the rates from San Francisco to Stockton, claiming that water competition now ceases to exist there.

Attorney E. G. Kuster continued his argument before the commission this morning in behalf of the Los Angeles jobbers. As in his argument of yesterday afternoon, the Los Angeles representative claimed that San Francisco was not entitled to a rehearing of the case affecting the San Joaquin rates from Los Angeles. This morning, however, he went further, and claimed that the decision of the former railroad commission was not subject to a rehearing, as far as the first cause of action was concerned, on the petition of the San Francisco jobbers.

"It is the carriers of the shippers in the valley who have the right to ask," he said. "Let San Francisco attack her own rates into the valley. San Francisco is not entitled to a rehearing unless it can be proved that the rates from Los Angeles are excessive per se."

As in Tuesday's hearing, considerable acrimony was shown on the discussion today.

THAT MOUNTAIN HAUL.

"San Francisco is trying to hold up the rates from Los Angeles now as she did in 1907," continued Kuster.

In discussing the question of a mountain haul into the valley from Los Angeles, Kuster said that William R. Wheeler, in the testimony in the original action, had admitted that the average rate per ton per mile of 4.5 cents from San Francisco to Reno, including a mountain haul over the Sierra Nevadas, was just, but now says that a higher rate of 4.88 from Los Angeles into the San Joaquin is not just.

The attitude of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe was defined today by Attorney C. W. Durbrow upon a direct question propounded by Commissioner Eshleman.

The question was brought about by a statement from Attorney Kuster, in which he said that Los Angeles was not entirely satisfied with the order upon which San Francisco seeks a rehearing. He was asked by Commissioner Gordon:

"Is that meant that Los Angeles intends to begin a new action for lower rates into the valley?"

"I am merely here as attorney for the Los Angeles jobbers," answered Kuster, "and cannot say as to any future action."

"I understand that $20,000 was raised at a mass meeting in Los Angeles to fight any reduction of the rates from San Francisco into the valley," said Commissioner Gordon. "Is that so?"

GREGSON'S STAND.

F. P. Gregson of the Los Angeles Jobbers' Association answered, saying that the money had been raised partly to pay off an old debt of the association and to place the organization on a sound basis.

"We do not contemplate any further action at the present time," continued Gregson. Then, in answer to Commissioner Eshelman's question, Durbrow said that if the Los Angeles jobbers contemplated future action, using the present order as a stepping-stone, it would be much better for the commission to grant a rehearing and thus determine the matter finally and conclusively. Regarding the suspension of the rates allowed by the former commission's order of December 24, Durbrow said that he believed it would work a hardship on both shipper and railroad to continue the rate allowed and later grant a lower rate. He said it would be better to continue the present suspension of rates until the matter is settled.

Kuster, in his argument, said that water competition did not entirely control the rates into the valley. Taking Berenda as an instance, he said that the rate to that place from San Francisco, while originally lowered by water competition, had been kept down by railroad competition on the part of the Santa Fe, and so was ultimately lowered still more.

KUSTER CLOSES.

Attorney Kuster closed his argument for Los Angeles shortly before 3 o'clock, and this was supplemented by a short argument by F. P. Gregson, traffic manager of the Los Angeles Jobbers' Association, who said:

"I wish to impress upon the commission the importance of permitting this order to become effective upon the date set, February 15. We have waited ten years; now Mr. Mann wants us to wait ten more."

C. L. Neumiller of Stockton followed Gregson, saying that his city had been given some relief by the recent order reducing the valley rates, not much, but a little—and since it protects Stockton, that city, as an intervener, does not seek a rehearing.

G. J. Bradley of Sacramento said that his city was neutral, as he considered it a fight between the two big commercial cities of the State.

Seth Mann closed the argument for an Francisco, saying he and his association wished the commission to do as did the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Spokane-Seattle case and the Reno-Sacramento case—consider all rates at once and adjust all. He said in closing:

"Since Los Angeles, the Southern Pacific, Stockton and San Francisco are all dissatisfied with the decision of the commission, we believe that a rehearing should be granted."

Former Senator Thomas W. Palmer Draws Down $212,500 by Living to Pass Seventy-fifth Milestone.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DETROIT (Mich.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A letter of congratulations received by ex-Senator Thomas W. Palmer, on the occasion of his eight-first birthday a few days ago, made public today, reveals that he had practically bet $150,000 that he would live to be seventy-five years old.

The head of an insurance company had been after the Senator for a $100,000 policy for a long time. Finally, about seventeen years ago, he obtained the Senator's consent, but his company refused the risk. The Senator was then sixty-four years old. He proceeded to wager $150,000 with several insurance companies that he would live more than eleven years.

He already has drawn down $212,500 on the bet.

DALLAS (Tex.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Winnie Hunter, aged 18, daughter of A. J. Hunter of Dallas, was today granted a temporary injunction by Judge J. C. Roberts, restraining her father from interfering with her stage career.

In her petition she alleges she signed a contract with the Midnight Sons Company two weeks ago, with her mother's consent, but that her father caused her detention in Denver and had her manager arrested on a fictitious charge of abduction.

Returning to Dallas, she brought the injunction suit, alleging among other things that her father was separated from her mother and had treated her cruelly. She said it was necessary that she earn money to support her mother and four brothers and sisters.

"I can be as good on as off the stage," she told the court.

Mississippi Planter Is Assassinated Through Window—Sheriff in Quest of Former Tenant.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STARKVILLE (Miss.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Whatley, one of the wealthiest planters in this country, was assassinated last night near Sturges.

Whatley and his family had just sat down to the table to eat supper and he was chatting with his wife when a gun was fired from the dining room window. The shot took effect in Whatley's neck. He died from the wound at 4 o'clock this morning.

Tracks were discovered near the window and blood hounds have been telegraphed for to run the assassin down. The whole country is stirred over the horrible tragedy.

Suspicion points to a man who was a renter on Whatley's place last year and with whom the latter had some trouble. An attempt to assassinate Whatley was made on Monday night but the parties were frightened off.

British Company Closes Contract With Panamaian Government Which Opens Up Virgin Territory.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Feb. 1—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ratification of a contract between the Panama Government and the Balboa and Pacific Estates, limited, of London, is expected in the Panama Assembly providing for a railroad from end to end of the Republic. The line will open up the virgin country to the Pacific Slope and parallel that coast. One day it will be an independent link in the inevitable railroad linking North and South America.

The United States is watching with anxious eye this English invasion. Ratification of the contract will give Great Britain a foothold on the Isthmus at the very brink of the Canal and the right to assert a "sphere of influence."

For every kilometer of road construction the company is to receive four hundred hectares of land—equivalent to about one hundred acres—for each two-thirds of a mile.

A right of way of fifty meters is granted together with all land necessary for docks, terminals, storehouses or stations. The line will begin at David and will be extended eastward toward the Columbian border. At present there is practically no agriculture in this region, but there are splendid lands.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Long Beach is at the Legislature through a committee composed of R. R. Young, a brother-in-law of Lieut. Gov. Wallace, Bruce C. Kenyon, former Assemblyman and Stephen G. Long, City Attorney. The purpose is to protect Long Beachin the reapportionment programme and incidentally to prevent the city from "being swallowed up by Los Angeles."

Senator Finn today asked the help of Los Angeles in every way for his bill giving courts power to commit habitual users of drugs to the State Insane Hospital for treatment. Finn, who is sheriff of San Francisco, says he now has fifty or more cocaine victims in his custody. He has restored many by providing treatment when they would consent. He believes Los Angeles and its police commission ought to indorse the plan which aims to do a merciful thing by the drug victims who are habitually in the prisons.

BANKER ENDS HIS LIFE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

AURORA (Ill.) Feb. 1.—Robert M. Newton, aged 45, banker and a prominent horseman, committed suicide last night at Ottawa, Ill., by leaping into the Illinois River. Financial losses, it is believed, led to the act. Newton was cashier and a heavy stockholder in a Billings (Mont.) bank which recently assigned. Newton went from Yorkville, Ill., his home, to Billings, about a year and a half ago, when he put all his money into the Billings bank. He lost about $75,000 in the crash, it is said.

HERMITS LEAVE FORTUNE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WARRENSBURG (Mo.) Feb. 1.—Secreted in tin cans, old trunks and closets, more than $6000 in gold and silver coins was found in a house until recently occupied by J. H. Ronemous and his wife, aged recluses, six miles south of here yesterday. Both died within a few hours of each other last week and were buried in the same grave. They lived apart from their neighbors and it was generally supposed the couple had little money. No heirs have appeared to claim the estate.

TO SAVE YOUNG GIRLS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Feb. 1.—If the plans of the Council of Women's Clubs of Kansas City are carried out, a placard warning young girls of small towns to shun the cities will soon be placed in every depot in this State. At a recent meeting, the form of this placard was decided upon and also that of a placard that will be placed in the Union Depot here telling country girls where to seek aid. The girl intending to come to Kansas City is told to notify the Women's Club two weeks previous so that work may be secured and also two days before she starts so a place for her to live may be found, and a matron be sent to the station to meet her.

CONVENTION OF UNEMPLOYED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Two parties from the colony of "migratory workers" wintering in Chicago, left here for Milwaukee yesterday to attend the second annual convention of the National Commission of the Unemployed and Brotherhood Welfare Association. The first group, consisting of thirty of the more prosperous members of the association, traveled by a steamer yesterday as first class passengers. Their less fortunate brothers of the rank and file marched on the freight yards 1000 strong to make the journey by the most feasible means. Each of the delegates wore a button on which was emblazoned the slogan of "the wayfarers' order, "I am an undesirable citizen."

Cueva, Bolivar and Magdalena Tire of Seeing Bogota Wax Fat Off Customs and Taxes Assessed Against Them—Panama Progress Rouses Spirit of Unrest.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLON, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Cueva, Bolivar and Magdalena, the coast states of Colombia, and the three richest departments in that republic, are on the eve of secession. United action among the three States would almost certainly secure their independence, for combined, they are stronger than all the rest of the country. Colombia would then be relegated to the obscurity of an interior country like Bolivia and Paraguay.

Dissension has become so well defined that President Restrepo is moving heaven and earth to avert the impending blow. Proclamations appealing to the patriotism of the citizens and their pride in a united nation are coming regularly from the executive palacio.

It is the progress of Panama withjn the past seven years which has brought the hate between the coast and interior country to the point where secession is under consideration, Bogota rules the rest of the country with a rod of iron, meanwhile waxing fat off the customs and taxes assessed against the really progressive coast.

Indianapolis Law School Graduate Shows Black Eyes and Bloody Lips as Ocular Evidence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Kelly, recently a graduate of the Indianapolis Law School, was in police court today, and alleged that he had been a victim of third degree treatment at the hands of members of the police department the night before. To back up his story of mistreatment at the hands of the police, he appeared with both eyes black and with badly lacerated lips. He said:

"I was upstairs in the general call room and I beat on the door with a tin cup. I wanted to attract attention and give bond. I did not want to stay in that dirty place any longer than necessary."

"Some one called an officer or two and one of them went into the place and struck me. I knocked him down and then they all jumped on me and dragged me down to a solitary cell, I fought to defend myself, of course. In the cell four or five of them beat me up.

"I have heard about how they do, but I know now. I went through it."

FIND BODY IN CAGGAGE PILE.

Kenosha (Wis.) Girl Who Disappeared Month Ago, May Have Been Slain.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KENOSHA (Wis.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The body of Mary Zahon, who disappeared from her home just north of Kenosha on the night of January 8, was found late this afternoon in a deserted cabbage field on the farm of Christ J. Jacobsen, three miles north of Kenosha. The body had evidently been hidden under a pile of old cabbage for a long time. It was frozen stiff.

There were a score of bruises on the body, but the Coroner is not certain as to the manner in which the girl met her death. The body, when found, was clad only in the underclothing that the girl had worn on the night of her disappearance.

She had been urged to reject the advances of a wealthy suitor who was a friend of her father. After her disappearance a letter was found which had been written by John Frenyak, of Racine, in which he had proposed marriage to the girl. It is admitted that Frenyak was at the ahon home the night the girl disappeared, but he declares that he did not see her.

The inquest will be held Thursday. Coroner H. J. Stanton declared that he had no theory as to the manner in which the girl met her death, but that he would make a most rigid examination into the case.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER (Colo.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Nordan Weisz, millionaire diamond merchant of London, Eng., has no greater right to the possession of his 5-year-old daughter, Marguerite, than any one of the several applicants for her adoption, and, with them, will have to make an appearance before the Juvenile Court in person or by representative June 1 to show what superior claims, if any, he has for custody of his own child.

The child's mother is the wife of an officer of his rank in the British army. Weisz paid a Mrs. McGowan $500 to take the child to America and promised her more money. The humane society took the child away from Mrs. McGowan and is now fighting Weisz for possession of the little girl.

Oklahoma Woman, Nabbed by Sheriff, Wears Underskirt Trimmed With Whisky Flasks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NORMAN (Okla.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff Head of Cleveland county, as the result of the arrest today of a woman charged with "bootlegging" whisky, has in his possession a woolen underskirt taken from her that has twenty pockets, each large enough to hold a half-pint flask. When the officers called to "raid" her house for liquors, she would put her bottles in the underskirt and until her arrest they were never able to locate any whisky in her possession. The skirt was her storehouse.

DOWNFALL DUE TO PORK.

Zion Leaders Relent Toward Widow of Former Head of Church Now Penniless and Ill.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John A. Lewis, Zion leader, has relented in his attitude towards Mrs. Jane Dowie, who is now sick and penniless in Michigan, and in a letter to her declares that if published reports of her illness and destitution are true, he will "do all in his power to aid the widow of the being he loved dearer than any one else on earth."

He at first refused to come to her aid. The orthodox Zion Church people declare that Mrs. Dowie's misfortunes have come as the result of her alleged membership in the Congregational Ladies' Aid Society of Whitehall and her reported use of pork and oysters.

GRILLS ELECTION OF ILLINOISAN.

Senator Declares Lorimer Case Is Disgrace.

Traces His Relations With Lee O'Neil Browne.

Nebraskan Makes Hot Plea for Expulsion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—That Senator Lorimer had full knowledge of the bribery, by which, it is charged, his election was procured, was asserted by Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska, in an address before the Senate today.

This assertion was a step in advance of any that had been taken on the subject of the election of the Illinois Senator, and if accepted, would result in Lorimer's expulsion.

Mr. Brown undertook to show that the relations between Lorimer and State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne had been such as to render it certain that Lorimer had been positively advised as to Browne's operations in Lorimer's behalf.

To this end the Senator undertook to show that the support of Browne and his thirty Democratic followers had been procured through Speaker Shurtleff, the room-mate and warm friend of Lorimer, and that after Lorimer and Browne had been brought together they were in constant conference, meeting as often as a dozen times in one evening.

ADVISED WITH BROWNE.

"What were these conferences about?" asked Mr. Brown. Making reply to his own inquiry, he said: "Every Senator here knows they related to the ways and means necessary to win votes for Lorimer.

"On no rational theory can anybody conclude that Lorimer was unadvised by Browne of anything that Browne did for him and whatever Browne did and whatever difficulties Browne encountered in his canvass for support among his followers for Lorimer must have been made known to him at these conferences and independently of any direct testimony on that question.

"It must be concluded in all good reason and conscience that Browne concealed nothing from Lorimer, and that Browne did nothing to further the election of Lorimer that Lorimer did not know about at the time. This construction is supported by every undisputed circumstance surrounding the transaction."

Quoting then Browne's admission that he did make reports to Lorimer, Brown commented: "Browne was by his report to his chief and it is highly unbelievable that he kept from Lorimer the information about the bribery of Beckemeyer, White, Link and Holstlaw.

"Lorimer is bound by the testimony of this witness, the Senate is bound by it. It has a compelling force that cannot be resisted in the light of this

Senator Declares Lorimer Case Is Disgrace.

Nebraskan Makes Hot Plea for Expulsion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—That Senator Lorimer had full knowledge of the bribery, by which, it is charged, his election was procured, was asserted by Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska, in an address before the Senate today.

This assertion was a step in advance of any that had been taken on the subject of the election of the Illinois Senator, and if accepted, would result in Lorimer's expulsion.

Mr. Brown undertook to show that the relations between Lorimer and State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne had been such as to render it certain that Lorimer had been positively advised as to Browne's operations in Lorimer's behalf.

To this end the Senator undertook to show that the support of Browne and his thirty Democratic followers had been procured through Speaker Shurtleff, the room-mate and warm friend of Lorimer, and that after Lorimer and Browne had been brought together they were in constant conference, meeting as often as a dozen times in one evening.

ADVISED WITH BROWNE.

"What were these conferences about?" asked Mr. Brown. Making reply to his own inquiry, he said: "Every Senator here knows they related to the ways and means necessary to win votes for Lorimer.

"On no rational theory can anybody conclude that Lorimer was unadvised by Browne of anything that Browne did for him and whatever Browne did and whatever difficulties Browne encountered in his canvass for support among his followers for Lorimer must have been made known to him at these conferences and independent-ly of any direct testimony on that question.

"It must be concluded in all good sense and conscience that Browne revealed nothing from Lorimer, and that Browne did nothing to further the election of Lorimer that Lorimer did not know about at the time. This conclusion is supported by every unquestioned circumstance surrounding the transaction.

"Even then Browne's admission that he did make reports to Lorimer, Brown commented: "Browne was using his report to his chief and it is wholly unbelievable that he kept from Lorimer the information about the bribery of Buckmeyer, White, Link and Helm.

"Lorimer is bound by the testimony of his witness, the Senate is bound by it. It has a compelling force that cannot be resisted in the light of this record, and when it is established in the proof that Lorimer knew what Browne was doing it is established that the bribery of at least four members of that Legislature was committed with the knowledge and with the consent of Mr. Lorimer, and when that fact is established all disputed questions of law are taken out of this case.

FORFEITED RIGHT TO OFFICE.

"The only theory on which the election of Mr. Lorimer can be sustained is that no one was bribed by Browne to vote for him. If Browne bribed nobody, Lorimer knew it. If Browne bribed anybody, Lorimer knew it and consented to it, and thereby forfeited all title to the office.

"And when the committee agrees that with four votes bribed by Browne, Lorimer's election is still valid, the conclusion must fail, because, under the direct and undisputed evidence of Browne, as well as under all the other convincing circumstances and proof, it is obvious that Lorimer knew all that Browne did.

"There is no escape from this conclusion. A Legislature composed of men chosen by their neighbors to act for them as legislators, under oath to discharge a public trust with honor, forgot and betrayed that trust.

"The betrayal was on a wholesale scale and after the Legislature had been deadlocked for nearly five months it was out of reason, if not impossible, for an honest election of anybody to result. The silent and iron hand behind the scenes, knowing all that was being done for him by his agents, and consenting to, if not directing, their every act, was Lorimer himself. Such is the story of this record and such should be the verdict of the Senate.";

So serious did Mr. Browne consider the questions involved in the Lorimer case that he declared that a wrong judgment in it was "likely to mean and ought to mean eventually the end of the Senate."

He asserted further that the Lorimer election "tells a story of shame and ignominy unparalleled in the history of legislation."

NEW WEST POINT REGIME.

Infantry Officer to Succeed Cavalryman as Commandant of Cadets. Radical Change in Military Rule.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WEST POINT (N. Y.) Feb. 1.—Capt. Frederick W. Sladen will succeed Col. Frederick W. Sibley as commandant of cadets at the West Point Military Academy next week. For the last five years he has been captain in the Fourteenth Infantry, acting as secretary to the general staff in Washington. On taking up his duties at West Point, he will assume the rank and pay of a lieutenant-colonel.

Capt. Sladen is 43 years of age and was appointed to West Point from Massachusetts, graduating in 1885.

The appointment of Captain Sladen as commandant is looked upon by military men as the passing of what is known as the "cavalry regime" at West Point. Both Col. Hugh L. Scott, the superintendent, and Col. Sibley, are cavalry officers.

MR. TAFT CANCELS SOUTH TRIP.

Political Guessers See in Action President's Expectations of Special Congress Session.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—President Taft's announcement today that the southern tour, which he had planned to take early next month, would be canceled, with the exception of the visit to Atlanta, March 10, started political tongues to wagging with rumors that his purpose was to prepare for a possible extra session of Congress in case the present session fails to enact the reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada.

Pressure of business and too many invitations to visit places in the South while making the tour are the reasons assigned for the cancellation of the trip.

Fears have been expressed that the Senate would "talk the reciprocity measure to death," or kill it in some other way, although it was believed the House, probably with the aid of the Democrats, would pass it.

If this should be the case, the President would feel, it was said, that he could depend on a Democratic House, such as would exist after March 4, to support him in his effort to pass this legislation. An extra session would force action on the question, with the chances apparently in favor of the President getting his reciprocity legislation.

CAN'T LOCATE BLAME.

COMMITTEE PASSES BUCK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The Rules Committee of the House, which made the investigation demanded by Representative Hitchcock of Nebraska, has not been able to find out what happened to delay the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation report. Public Printer Donelly testified today that he had given due diligence to its preparation, but had not understood it was a "rush job." The committee will present a chronological story of the progress of the report from the day it came into the House until it finally reached the Agricultural Committee, and will let the House decide whether blame attaches at any point.

APPEAL FOR HELP.

MANY CHINESE STARVING.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—An urgent appeal for aid to relieve famine conditions in China has been received by the American National Red Cross Society from Chairman Ferguson of the Shanghai Relief Commission. Mr. Ferguson cables: "Consul Gracey reports pitiful conditions in Nan King and other refugee centers. Fifty thousand to one hundred thousand famine refugees in hovels on swampy lands are practically foodless, clothingless and sleeping in mud and water. Epidemic is feared. Consul and strong American relief committee request special Red Cross appropriations." The society announces it will forward contributions sent to it at Washington.

SCALPED BY MACHINE.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT TO GIRL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The power-driven tabulating machinery of the Census Bureau was credited with its first accident yesterday when Miss Alice V. Houghton, a clerk, was scalped by the instrument at which she was employed. Her hair became entangled in the rollers and her scalp, including the skin of her forehead and her eyebrows was ripped off. The doctors took 100 stitches. They believe the girl will recover and possibly save her hair. An investigation looking to the installation of safety devices will be made.

Denver claims the honor of being the first city to organize a San Francisco 1915 Club, when two hundred citizens met, discussed in terms of approval the action of the House in voting in favor of San Francisco for the fair and adopted resolutions pledging unstinted and enthusiastic support to the fair.

Religious Revival in Indiana Brings Forth Strange Fruit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROOKVILLE (Ind.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Great religious fervor has marked a revival meeting at Buena Vista, where the exhortations have been followed by dances and shoutings.

One farmer, Howard Jackson, raised a crop of fine tobacco last season, but after conversion he decided the use of tobacco was inconsistent in religion. He employed help, built a pyre and dramatically burned the crop. When the flames were hottest, he threw his lodge pins, one by one, into the fire and renounced the orders.

One citizen remembered stealing some chickens in boyhood for a feast and made public restitution.

WASHINGTON BRIEFS.

Population of Nome.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Poulation statistics of the thirteenth census, announced today, include Nome, Alaska, 2600 for 1910, as against 12,488 for 1900, taken during the rush to the gold fields.

Negro Given Office.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Charles A. Cottrill, the Ohio negro who was appointed in December to be collector of internal revenue for the District of Hawaii, was confirmed by the Senate today. Some time ago a protest was made against the appointment on charges which were investigated and disproved.

Judicial Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—President Taft nominatd Judge George E. Martin of Ohio, today to be associate judge of the Federal Court of Customs Appeals, to succeed William H. Hunt, who was confirmed by the Senate yesterday as judge on the new Commerce Court.

Appointment Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Senate rejected today the re-appointment of Fred C. Harper to be collector of customs at Seattle, Wash. Matt Piles, a brother of Senator Piles, is a candidate for collector. Senator Piles told the Senate that Harper was objectionable to him.

Postoffice Appointment.

WASHINGTON (D.C.) Jan. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Edwin E. Shoemaker has been appointed postmaster at Farmerville, Tulare county, vice M. Rayburn, resigned.

PRINCESS NOT FOR JAY GOULD.

HAWAIIAN BEAUTY EMPHATIC IN DENYING REPORT.

Declares No Truth Exists in Widespread Report of Engagement. Two Meet at Actors' Fund Fair and Devotions of Young Millionaire Cause Much Speculation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Anna Douglas Graham, the daughter of a Hawaiian princess, today emphatically denied a report which had been published to the effect that she was to wed Jay Gould, son of George J. Gould. The young woman made the denial at her home, No. 15 West Sixty-seventh street. She seemed very indignant over the report.

"There is absolutely no truth in any sort of a rumor to the effect that I am engaged to Jay Gould," she said. "I want it denied."

"Do you know Mr. Gould?" she was asked.

"Yes, I know him," she answered. "He is merely an acquaintance. He is a very estimable young man, but I want it denied that I have any intention of marrying him. I have no idea as to how any such absurd rumor could have started. But I do hope it will be denied."

Miss Graham is a strikingly handsome young woman of about twenty years. She has dark hair and eyes and is tall and slender.

Miss Graham is the daughter of Mrs. Hubert Vos, wife of the famous portrait painter. Mrs. Vos was, before she married Douglas Graham, the Princess Kaikalani. Miss Graham inherited a large fortune from her father.

Mr. Gould first met Miss Graham at the Actors' Fund Fair. While the fair lasted his attentions to the daughter of the Hawaiian Princess and the wealthy Hawaiian planter were the talk of people attending the fair, and the report of their engagement was circulated.

SOUTH PASADENA.

SOUTH PASADENA, Feb. 1.—The much-talked-of storm drain endured its first real test during the rains of the last few days. Although it was paid for under protest by some of the citizens, those in its immediate vicinity are very well pleased, as the drain carried off the water nicely, thereby saving a great deal of valuable property, which heretofore has suffered loss. The east side storm drain, as it is known, empties into the Huntington ditch and was completed last summer, and some of those upon whom the assessment fell feared that it would not be a success or of any great value to property.

The Lincoln Park Study Circle met at the home of Mrs. Caroline Adams on Palm avenue yesterday afternoon. Miss Jennie Kennedy spoke on current events. There were papers read by Mrs. Caroline Adams, Mrs. P. J. Cooney and Mrs. G. W. Penefield.

BONILLA TAKES PUERTO CORTEZ.

SOURCE OF HONDURAS REVENUE IN REBEL HANDS.

Insurgents Now Control Whole Atlantic Seaboard of Southern Republic, and Predictions Are Freely Made of New President Taking Office Within Month.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bonilla will be president of Honduras within two weeks, or at the utmost, thirty days, say his sympathizers here. Puerto Cortez is being evacuated and Gen. Christmas will take charge of that city tomorrow morning. This news was received today by cable and by wireless from a number of sources. This leaves the whole Atlantic Coast in the hands of Bonilla and his personal general.

The taking of Puerto Cortez was peaceable. The commandant asked for twenty-four hours to consider Gen. Christmas's demands for surrender, then complied. The government is weak and has no troops to withstand the revolutionists, otherwise Puerto Cortez would have been defended more stubbornly than the capital. It is the most important seaport and its customhouse receipts do more to support the government than any other source of revenue. These receipts, of course, will fall into the hands of Bonilla, and, indeed, were the prize for which he sought.

The march to Tegucigalpa will be started within the week. The population is openly in sympathy with Bonilla and the government conscripts are deserting. The only battle in prospect is at Tegucigalpa which will be defended, at least until Davilla deems defeat certain, when he will attempt to escape, having arranged this already.

GATES'S BILL REPORTED OUT.

Administration's Freak Legislation Slides Through Committee on Greased Skids and Unamended.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The initative and referendum constitutional amendments of Senator Gates, administration measures, were reported out by the Judiciary Committee this afternoon without opposition and with but little amendment. The hearing on the recall amendment was postponed until Friday afternoon because there is a hard fight ahead—a fight that will be made State-wide—on including the judiciary in this fad. It is impossible that the recent Reuf decision of the Supreme Court will escape being the subject of both sides in discussing the recall, the Bar Association, citing it as a case where inflamed public sentiment might override the law, and the other side justifying the recall by the act of the court.

ERUPTION KILLED HUNDREDS.

Latest Reports to War Department Regarding Philippine Disaster Shows 700 Destroyed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The eruption of Taal volcano and the accompanying disturbances in the Philippines killed 700 people in the town of Talisay, according to the report of the Governor of Batangas province, cabled to the War Department today by Governor General Forbes of the Philippine Islands. The earthquake shocks continue, the Governor General added.

Recent earthquake shocks have been slightly perceptible in Manila, Gov. Forbes reports, but they have caused no damage. Since the first disturbance the seismographic apparatus of the Manila observatory has recorded the unprecedented number of 714 shocks.

The Philippine authorities are adopting relief measures, as the falling mud and lava destroyed the crops. The Red Cross Society is taking steps toward that end.

SUICIDES DROP; — MURDERS GAIN.

Homicide Popular in Chicago During January.

"Pleasant Weather" Reduces Self-Slaying.

Gas Route Beats Gun Ticket in Popularity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Experts in psychology and criminology are baffled by the records of murders and suicides in Chicago during the month of January.

Tables compiled today show an increase of 117 per cent. over the corresponding month of the previous year in the number of murders. In singular contrast to these figures, the suicide list reveals a decrease of 31 per cent. from last year, for the same period.

Investigation has brought forth the theory that the unprecedented wave of murder has grown in proportion as the methods of the judicial department have degenerated. The slump among suicides is ascribed to the unusually mild and pleasant climatic conditions that have prevailed.

Thirteen murder cases have been turned over to the grand jury by the Coroner during January, 1911, against six in January, 1910. In cases of homicide, where the cause of death is accidental or justified, murder is not charged. There are some cases not enumerated that have not yet been decided by a Coroner's jury.

Twenty-nine persons took their own lives in the month just closed. In the same month last year forty-two ended their existence.

Gas has superseded shooting as the favorite means of committing suicide. Gas was used by nine persons and revolvers by eight. Poison and hanging were tied with four victims each. Jumping out of windows and cutting the throat are the least popular modes. These methods claimed two lives each.

Foreigners lead the list of suicides, which includes twelve Americans. Six Germans committed suicide, giving to that nationality the top place in the foreign column. No instance of an Irishman, Italian, Austrian or Frenchman meeting death at his own hands appears in the records of January.

DEATH LETTER LIST GROWS.

CHICAGO CANDIDATE RECEIVES TWO MORE.

"Withdraw from Aldermanic Race or There Will Be Trouble," Is Gist of Warnings Sent Col. Moss, Who Would Attempt to Defeat Kenna. Politician Is Undaunted.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO (Ill.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Col. Leopold Moss, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Alderman in the First Ward, who says he has been the target for many verbal and written threats since he started out to defeat Aldermar. Kenna, today reported two more "death letters." This makes a total of three such letters sent to Col. Moss since he entered the race.

The latest epistles are written on plain white paper with a lead pencil. They follow:

"CHICAGO, Ills., 1-27-11.

"Dear Col.—Withdraw from your ald. race at once or there will be trouble, second or last warning.

"FROM A FRIEND."

The second letter bears no heading. It follows:

"You better forget about running and forget it quick. See? He don't know about this, but his friends won't stand for it. We'll blow up your place first and take yourself next if you don't get out.

"COMMITTEE."

"I am not afraid," said Col. Moss, after reading the Itwo letters. "I cannot be scared out of the race, either."

BABY STOPS BULLET.
SHOT MEANT FOR MOTHER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Two-year-old William Pele died in Bellevue Hospital early today as the result of a revolver shot fired by some one, who, the police believe, intended the bullet for the child's mother, Mrs. Catherine Pele, a widow. A man whose ideptity has not been learned by the police visited Mrs. Pele's home on Third street yesterday. They quarreled for more than an hour and then the man fired two shots and ran from the house. One of the bullets entered the baby's head. An ambulance took the child and his mother to Bellevue Hospital. The mother has steadfastly refused to make any statement. Police refuse to answer any questions regarding her assailant.

BRIDE BALKS ON "OBEY."

Indiana Woman, Twice Married, Halts Third Ceremony, But Finally Gives In and Is Wedded.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAWRENCEBURG (Ind.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because she had to promise to "honor and obey" the bridegroom, Mrs. Nora Hess Powers of Aurora, pouted for a long time in the parlor of the parsonage of the German Evangelical Church before she would consent to become Mrs. Louis H. Schroeder.

"I don't believe in it and it would not mean anything if I did say it," protested the bride, smiling at Rev. George C. Maul, the pastor, who was performing the ceremony.

The big preacher smiled back was firm. Mr. Schroeder, the stalwart bridegroom, a cooper in Aurora, wisely kept out of the controversy. It was not long before the contrary young woman got tired of waiting and finally spoke up with, "Well, I'll say it, if I have to."

She had been married and divorced twice before and said "honor and obey" had caused both of the legal separations.

KINDLY DEED GAINS REWARD.

Minnesota Man Wills Several Thousand Dollars to Woman Who Once Gave Him Seat in Car.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EVERETT (Wash.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Mary Kings, wife of an Everett carpenter, was advised today that under the will of J. S. White of Duluth, Minn., in which city White recently died, she has been willed property worth several thousands of dollars.

The meeting between Mrs. Kings and White, which resulted in the legacy being left her was an unusal one. Years ago in Detroit, Mrs. Kings gave up her seat in a street car to Mr. White, who with his family then made his home in Ludington, Mich. He obtained her name and address and said that some day she would be well repaid for her kindly action.

Hearing later by chance that White's fortune was depleted and that four of his six children were down with diphtheria she hastened to his aid, though he was nothing more than a stranger, nursed the children and helped over his hard times. Soon afterward White regained his fortune and paid her completely for the timely assistance she had rendered.

Mrs. Kings lost track of the White family three years ago when they removed from Ludington to Duluth, but the news of the legacy shows that White had not forgotten her kindness.

EXCEPTION TO ALL RULES.

Use of Red Cross Emblem Permitted Where Begun Before January 5, 1905, Says Dispatch.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The desire of the American Red Cross to insure to itself the exclusive use of the red "Geneva Cross" as the emblem of the society, and its effort to get the Federal authorities to assist in the enforcement of that provision of the Red Cross charter, according proprietary rights in the Red Cross emblem, will be subject to the following exception specifically set forth in the charter:

"Provided, however, that no person corporation or association that actually used or whose assignor who actually used the said emblem, sign, insignia, or words, for any lawful purpose, prior to January 5, 1905, shall be deemed forbidden by this act to continue the use thereof for the same purpose or for the same class of goods."

A firm in Cincinnati which used the Red Cross emblem pior to January 5, 1905, as a trade mark, in connection with shoes, has drawn attention to the inadvertent omission in a dispatch of the Associated Press of last Sunday night, of this exemption. The dispatch was based upon an official announcement of the American Red Cross, which made no mention of the exemption.

DEFICIT IN TREASURY.

January Clearings Show Balance of $267,000 on Wrong Side of Uncle Sam's Ledger.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—In spite of a strong rally in the last six days of the month, the Treasury closed January with a deficit of $267,000 in the ordinary and a total deficit of nearly $4,000,000 of which fully $2,000,000 represents Panama canal payments. Practically the same showing was made in January a year ago.

Treasury officials congratulate themselves on the fact that the total deficit to date for the fiscal year is only $21,000,000 as against $45,000,000 last year.

Both the working balance and the general fund go into the new month reduced about $4,000,000. But a working balance of $34,000,000 and prospects of $35,000,000 before another month, combined with a general fund today of $85,450,000, indicates the cash drawer is holding its own.

A drop in ordinary receipts to $52,000,000 as against $57,000,000 in December is the prime cause of this month's deficit. Disbursements were $52,000,000, a half million less than in December.

It was evident that customs receipts ran a little behind the normal. However, total receipts for January were $2,000,000 greater than a year ago.

Twelve new national banks began business in January and the total number of those institutions is now 7226. National bank circulation stands at $726,400,000.

The mints were fairly active, turning out more than $6,200,000 during the month, of which $5,500,000 was in gold.

YEARN FOR HOBBLE SKIRTS.

Indianapolis South-Siders Lament Because Streets Are Too Muddy for Nobby Gowns.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Picturing the streets of the South Side as so muddy and poorly cared for that the women of the section cannot wear hobble skirts as do the women of the more aristocratic North Side, a protest was sent to Mayor Shank today warning him that if he wants to be re-elected he must give this matter some attention.

Mayor Shank at once sent the protest to the Board of Public Works for its consideration, but no action was taken.

"Though I'm only a little miss," said one letter, "I want to give you some advice," and the writer pictured a state of unrest on the South Side and of displeasure with Mayor Shank's administration.

"You remember all those negroes you fed watermelon to before you were Mayor," queries the letter. "Well, those negroes are just as good now as before the election, and you ought to take care of them."

ENGLISH PRINTERS' LOCKOUT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Feb. 1.—At a meeting today the Master Printers' Federation of the United Kingdom decided to declare a national lockout on February 25 if the compositors persisted in their demand for a working week of fifty hours. A number of leading firms have announced their intention of making their establishments non-union henceforth. The newspapers will not be affected by the dispute.

BULLDOG TELEPHONES POLICE.

Wise Animal in Pueblo Spoils Plans of Looters Who Attempt to Burglarize Grocery Store.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PUEBLO (Colo.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jumping upon a table, thus upsetting a telephone, Nig, a big black bulldog, summoned the police to a grocery store and prevented a burglary.

The dog is always left in the store at night. Shortly after midnight, the Crawford number was flashed in on the telephone board. Central could get no reply, but when she heard what sounded like groans, she informed the police and a patrol wagon was rushed to the scene.

It was found that burglars had attempted to pry open the rear door, but had failed. Officers believe the dog accidentally knocked over the phone, on a desk, but the grocer insists the dog knew what it was doing.

Railroad Record.

READY TO BUCK RAILWAY BILLS.

Illinois Lines Object to Too Much Regulation.

"Full Crew" Measure Held as Laborite Scheme.

Employers' Liability Law Not to Their Liking.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Railroad officials throughout Illinois are aligning their forces for the purpose of combating what is expected to be the annual grist of "regulating" bills at the present session of the State Legislature. A few measures obnoxious to the roads already have been presented and many more, it is said, are scheduled for introduction.

Railway officers, who have had experience along this line, declare that many of the bills are nonsensical on their face and are introduced primarily to afford some legislator the satisfaction of being asked to withdraw them. There will be no lobbying force located at the State capital, but whenever a measure is presented to which the roads object, one or more experienced railroad employees will be sent to Springfield to point out what are believed to be vital defects in the bills.

Plans already have been discussed for opposing the "full crew" bill, which provides that every switch engine operated with the State must be manned by five men, and prohibits a foreman from doing the work of a switchman. It is declared that such a law would work a hardship upon the railroads in many cases, and, incidentally, would furnish an effective means for unions and switchmen to strengthen their forces.

Another bill, already introduced and not liked by the railroads, provides that the State railroad and warehouse commission shall be empowered to order the elevation of railroad tracks at any grade crossing in any part of the State.

The employers' liability bill, as at present drafted, is another measure that does not meet with favor on the part of the railroads. The latter favor more specific definition of the amount that shall be paid in the event of injury or death to any employee while in the performance of his duty.

GREAT SUBWAY PLANS.
CHICAGO TO LEAD WORLD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Chicago is to have the most elaborate subway system of any city in the world, if plans drawn by the city traction experts are adopted. Complete details of the plans which will revolutionize the transportation business of the city have been worked out by B. J. Arnold and will be submitted to the City Council next Monday. Warned by the experience of New York, which found its subway facilities overtaxed a few months after it opened for traffic, Arnold has provided for tunnels that will extend clear from building line to building line, instead of from curb to curb. By utilizing the space under the sidewalks, not only is provision made for the housing of public utilities, but four, and in some streets, six tracks are to be laid. The bottom of the subway will be forty feet below the street level at its greatest depth. It will be constructed on two levels so that there will be no crossings below the ground. On April 1, the special traction fund available for the subway scheme will be $6,000,000. The first section of the system which will be recommended will run from the vicinity of Chicago avenue and Wells street to Twenty-second and State street, a distance of about two and one-half miles.

Conrad J. Lutgen.

BERKLEY, Feb. 1.—Conrad J. Lutgen, former auditor of Alameda county, died suddenly of pneumonia this morning at his home, No. 2424 Tyler street. Mr. Lutgen came home from a trip to San Francisco last Friday suffering from a high fever, which had attacked him early in the day.

Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, U. S. A., rehospital here today of pneumonia. He American fleet around the world in 1908-9, died in the Naval Medical School hispital here today of pneumonia. He arrived in Washington last Friday from his home in Newport, R. I., for special duty in the State Department, incident to his representation of the United States at the conference of naval powers of the world at London. He was taken ill shortly after his arrival, and yesterday afternoon he entered the naval Hospital. The death of Admiral Sperry was a shock to his fellow officers in the navy and a blow to the State Department, which had counted much on his assistance in perfecting a translation of what is known as the Declaration of London. The best known service of the deceased officer was his trip around the world as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet. He assumed charge of the fleet at San Francisco, in May, 1908, and relinquished his command after the vessels had arrived in Hampton Roads in the spring of 1909. Admiral Sperry was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1847, graduating from the Naval Academy in 1866. He was a recognized authority on tactics and one of the most brilliant strategists in the service. He also was an authority on international law. Admiral Sperry was retired for age, September 2, 1909.

OPPOSE ROAD'S TARIFF.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 1.—An investigation of the operations and tariffs of twenty-six railroads doing business in the western part of the United States, whose rates for coal transportation from the mines of Utah to points of shipment are alleged to be unlawful, discriminatory and designed to eliminate a competitive market, is urged in a petition forwarded today to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Consolidated Fuel Company and the Castle Valley Coal Company, both Utah concerns. Nearly 1000 points are affected in the States of Utah, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Wyoming, Washington, Oregon and California, declares the petition, where the alleged barriers against the independent concerns have been raised. The present established rate on all classes of coal, the claimants charge, has made the transportation from one line to another prohibitive.

BUTTE REDLIGHT DOUSED.

Lid Clamped Down on Big Mining Camp's Famous Tenderloin and Women Prepare to Quit Town.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Feb. 1.—At midnight last night Butte's notorious red light district was wiped out of existence by order of Mayor Charles P. Nevin. All the owners of resorts had been ordered to close at 12 o'clock or suffer the penalty of being raided and thrown into jail.

When a squad of officers under Police Chief J. J. Quinn descended upon the district at 12:12 o'clock, the zone was in complete darkness.

All afternoon yesterday hay racks and vans of all kinds were busily engaged in removing trunks and various articles of furniture, the belongings of some 350 women who occupied the quarter. Most of the women announced their intention of quitting Butte, under the belief that the "tenderloin" which has been one of the sights of this big mining camp since its earliest days, is a thing of the past.

Formerly the blare of the drum and piano could be heard from numerous dance halls and these, too, have been closed by the Mayor's order. The district was within two blocks of the heart of the business center of the city and comprised about four blocks.

GERMANY WANTS BARS UP.

Conservative Leader Demands to Know What Steps Are Being Taken to Shut Out American Securities.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—Count Von Kanitz, conservative, announced today in the Reichstag that he would ask the government what measures it proposed to take to prevent the German market being flooded with foreign securities.

The Count evidently referred to the report that the Berliner Handelgeisselschaft, an important banking institution, contemplated making an attempt to list the stock of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway on the Berlin bourse.

It has been semi-officially announced that the Prussian government is considering the advisability of rejecting the application, if it were made, in view of the condition of the German gold market.

The committee on foreign affairs of the Austrian delegates, in session at Buda Pest yesterday, authorized a resolution favoring President Taft's disarmament proposition.

FEELING OUT RECIPROCITY.

House Democrats Are Active at Instance of Minority Leader Clark, Who Favors Canadian Measure.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The attitude of the House Democrats toward the reciprocity agreement with Canada is being canvassed at the instance of minority leader Clark.

Today he asked every State delegation to take up the matter and report to him, so that he might know the general temper.

New York, led by Representative Sulzer, started the ball rolling and the conference was unanimously in favor of passing the resolution.

Virginia delegates held a meeting at the same time and the concensus of opinion was for the agreement.

Democrats from other States talked over the situation, and the sentiment, so far as it developed, seemed to be that the Democrats should pass the measure.

Secretary of State Knox and Special Agent Charles M. Pepper, of the State Department, in a hearing before the Ways and Means Committee next Thursday, will urge the Republicans to support the agreement.

Albuquerque Ranchman Promises to Drive Team of New Mexican Burros to Capitol Doors.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before Champ Clark does his promised mule-driving stunt in Washington, Sol Luna, Republican national committeeman from New Mexico, will beat him to it.

When the big Statehood special leaves Albuquerque on February 7 for Washington, bearing the official returns of the election of January 21, when the New Mexico Constitution was overwhelmingly ratified, there will be on board two handsome, well-trained burros from the ranch of Luna, and these burros Mr. Luna will drive down Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol in a cart that will contain the returns.

Luna has the fleetest and most graceful burros in the Territory and his team will create a sensation.

Joseph G. Robin, alleged wrecker of banks, must stand trial in New York on eight indictments charging larceny in the first degree. Although five alienists testified that in their opinion he was crazy, a jury before Judge Swan thought otherwise and has returned a verdict of "sane."

Indiscreet.

PARIS PUBLICIST IS SENTENCED FOR LIBELING KING OF ENGLAND.

Newspaper Man Is Unable to Prove Published Story of Alleged Morganatic Marriage of British Potentate to Daughter of Admiral, and Is Scored by Lord Chief Justice, Who Declares Punishment Is Inadequate.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Feb. 1—The report, oft-repeated, that King George while a cadet in the royal navy morganatically married a daughter of Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, was given complete refutation in the highest court of England today.

Edwin F. Mylius, agent and distributor of the Liberator, a Republican paper published in Paris, which revived the tale last November was tried on a charge of seditious libel, was promptly convicted and given a maximum penalty of twelve months' imprisonment.

In pronouncing sentence, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone said the punishment was inadequate for one who had chosen a weapon for a personal attack upon His Majesty, from the use of which every honorable man would recoil.

The story had been current for a long time, but it became specially irritating to British sensibilities upon King George's accession.

As published by Edw. H. James, editor of the Liberator, it set forth that in the life time of the Duke of Clarence, his eldest brother, and before George became heir to the throne, the future King visited Malta, where he fell in love with and married Mary Elizabeth Culme-Seymour, eldest daughter of the admiral, then stationed at Malta as commander in chief of the Mediterranean squadron.

This was supposed to be in 1890, but the admiralty records showed that the King did not hold an appointment on any ship that visited Malta between the fall of 1888 and the summer of 1893. The marriage records of the island of Malta were produced to prove than no such marriage had been recorded.

Admiral Culme-Seymour swore that his two daughters, one of whom had since died, never had an opportunity to meet His Majesty.

The daughter in question, now the wife of Captain D. Napier, entered the witness box and said she had seen the King but three times in her life.

Mylius offered no testimony and did not examine the Crown's witness. He confined his defense, which he conducted himself, to technicalities, asserting that he could not be legally tried in the absence of his accuser.

The proceedings came to a dramatic close when, after sentence had been pronounced, Sir Rufus Isaac read a letter from King George, in which the writer set forth that only the advice of the officers of the Crown that such a course would be unconstitutional, had prevented him from appearing personally in the courtroom and publicly branding as untrue the allegation that he had ever entered into any marriage alliance other than that contracted with Queen Mary.

The prosecution was conducted by Sir Rufus Isaacs, the Attorney General, assisted by Sir John A. Simon, Solicitor General, and Attorneys Roylatt and Muir.

REFUTES SCANDAL.

In a dramatic speech, Sir Rufus characterized the story of the morganatic marriage as absolutely false, regretting that His Majesty was not permitted to face his slanderers, and concluded with the declaration that the suit had not been brought to protect the monarchy, but that King George had sought the protection of the court as a man, a husband and a father.

One of the Crown attorneys, Muir, conducted the prosecution of Dr. Hawley Crippen recently.

WEAK DEFENSE.

After the formalities of opening the proceedings were concluded, Mylius began his case by demanding the return of his private letters, which he asserted had been seized, in gross violation of his legal rights. He demanded the presence of the King, "because every accused person has the right to be confronted by his accuser, and, secondly, because in a libel action the prosecutor must be in court in order that the defendant may see him; and, thirdly, because there is no proof that the prosecutor is at present alive."

In pronouncing sentence the court declared that the most ordinary investigation which any humble man would have undertaken must have shown the charge untrue.

SUNNY MONDAY
is as far superior to the ordinary yellow laundry soap as the modern air-ship is to the toy balloon.

Yellow laundry soaps contain from 30% to 40% rosin. There's not an ounce in Sunny Monday—just choice fats and vegetable oils.

The result—Sunny Monday will not shrink woolens and flannels, will not fade out colors, will make your clothes whiter, sweeter and cleaner than they ever were before.

SHORT LINE VILLA CO.,
LINTON TEDFORD, Sales Mgr.,
720 Security Bldg. A3501.

FOR SALE—

We are building the most artistic 5 and 6-room bungalows near the foothills in beautiful West Hollywood. These houses are complete in every detail, with nothing whatsoever left out. They are built for a class of people who are looking for a suburban home, and yet have the advantages of the city.

A school is nearby, good car service and the social features of Hollywood cannot be excelled. The trend of building is westward—property is advancing rapidly, and it will not be very long before the choice foothill property is gone.

Prices are reasonable, ranging from $3600 to $3850. Small payment down, balance like rent. Come in and talk the matter over with us, or take the Hollywood car, get off at Gardner and walk one block north to Pacific avenue.

FOR SALE— WHY NOT HAVE AN ACRE?

What a big difference there is in life on a small, narrow, city lot, and on an acre. On the former you simply have room for your house and a little lawn. On an acre there is plenty of additional space for vegetable gardens, fruit and shade trees, chickens; plenty of space for children to play and to get the benefit of the sunshine and fresh, wholesome air. An acre makes you feel like a landowner; a citizen. Furthermore, the man who buys acreage close to a growing city is laying the sure foundation of a fortune. The city is growing up towards him, and his property is increasing in value without the slightest effort on his part. Why don't you select one of my few remaining acres at Somerset. $10 cash will start you, and $10 monthly is all you need. Somerset is only 20 minutes away by trolley—a thriving suburban place, with schools, stores, telephones, good car service, etc. The soil is a rich sandy loam. Abundant water is furnished free. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to put your present rent money into a home at Somerset? Think what it would make you! Full information at my office and excursions every hour daily and up to 2 p.m. Sundays.

These acres are almost in the city and are being eagerly sought by those who appreciate the many advantages of buying acres in the rapidly-growing southwest. Many realize that while their home is located near enough that they may go to and from the city each day, they have also made an investment, bought a piece of land close to a growing city which is sure to increase in value.

Go out and see the high elevation, the sandy loam soil, note the nearness to the city, the water supply and gas mains being laid to each acre then you will decide that here is the place to make your home.

The soil is a rich sandy loam, perfect for the production of all berries, fruit and vegetables.

FOR SALE—
ORANGE GROVES.
IN THE FAMOUS HIGHLAND DISTRICT.
Parties looking for high-grade orange groves should not fail to visit Highland, the best navel orange district in the world. This famous orange belt is five miles north of Redlands and six miles east of San Bernardino. Highland may be reached either by the Santa Fe railroad or by electric cars from the two cities named above. Buy your ticket to Highland. My office is close by the Santa Fe station, and just across the street from the end of the electric line. If parties will notify me in advance or will call at my office, I shall be pleased to show them over the Highland orange belt free of expense.
My experience in orange culture covers the past twenty years. I have raised from the seed to full bearing some of the best groves in Highland. For many years I have served as expert for some of the largest banks in the county, appraising orange lands, groves, water stock, water rights, etc., to determine actual values, and I am still doing this work. This varied experience for twenty years has given me wide familiarity with orange and lemon groves in the Highland district. It has led me to study with great care the varied soils, rights in the different water companies, waste water rights, storm water rights and dangers, flume and weir systems, needs of trees under varying conditions of soil, packing-house rights, and a thousand-and-one other conditions of vital importance to buyers of groves. I make no mention of pests as the Highland District is absolutely free from scale and all other pests injurious to citrus trees. It is the famous "Prosecute District,"—that is, it is set apart as a district free from all pest and protected by special laws.
All correspondence strictly confidential, both with owner and purchaser. If you wish to sell, come and see me. If you wish to buy I can save you time and money and take you at once to the very best property on the market.

BUSINESS INVESTMENTS—

"BE GOOD TO YOURSELF."

Does 1911 find you more successful and happy than before? Or are you in the same old rut? No man is getting all that he should out of life unless he has formed some good helpful habits. The "saving habit" is all right, but there is a better one—"the good investment habit." Have you formed it? If not, here's a fine chance to start. If you already have the "good investment habit" you will investigate this proposition and join its ranks. Others are profiting.

TO THE MAN WHO KNOWS
WHAT CONSTITUTES A GOOD INVESTMENT.

You are the man I wish to interest. You realize the key note of success today is in selecting a good clear judicious investment where your money is not merely rented to a bank at a small per cent. gain, while they invest it keeping the big profits for themselves and allowing you a small rental. You desire the entire amount which your money earns. Here's a proposition which gives it. Play fair with yourself and investigate today. Address M, box 107, TIMES OFFICE.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BALLOTING.

Colorado Legislature Still Maintains Deadlock.

Friends of Shafroth Claim a Chance for Election.

Many Believe Sessions Will End Wtihout Choice.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Feb. 1.—Efforts made in the last two days to bring about a caucus of the Democratic majority of the Legislature on the United States Senatorship have failed and in all likelihood no further attempt will be made in this direction soon. The forces of Mayor Robert W. Speer, of Denver, leading candidate, were credited with the move.

Telegrams and letters are being received daily by Senator F. E. Carringer, who has been voting for Gov. Shafroth, commending him for keeping the Governor in the race. Many predict that in the event of failure to settle on Speer or Adams, Shafroth will be the choice of the Assembly. There are many others, however, who believe the Assembly will adjourn without electing a Senator.

Mayor Speer gained two votes in today's ballot for United States Senator. The vote:

Democrat: Adams, 20; Martin, 2; Maupin, 1; O'Donnell, 5; Taylor, 2; Thomas, 5; Speer, 27; Shafroth, 1; Ward, 5.

HOLD-UP MEN VICIOUS.

Employee of Electric Company Knocked Senseless—Confront Victim Near Home.

Brutally slugged after he had been held up at the point of a gun by two masked bandits, E. H. Luker of No. 1105 Jane street was robbed of $45 at 10:15 o'clock last night, a few moments after he had alighted from a street car at the corner of Jane and Doris streets, in Boyle Heights.

Luker, who is an employee of the Edison Electric Company, was paid last evening and carried all of his money in his pocket. He told the police that he thought the bandits were men who knew he had the cash with him.

As he reached the corner of Stephenson avenue and Doris street, Luker says, he was confronted by two men whose faces were concealed by black masks. One of the men stuck a big revolver against his stomach, but before the victim had time to say a word or make a move, the other bandit struck him a blow on the back of the neck, knocking him down.

When he recovered consciousness, Luker found himself lying on the sidewalk with his pockets turned inside out and his money gone.

He made his way to his home, scarcely more than a block away, and from there telephoned to the police. He said he had been struck and knocked out so quickly that the only description he could give of the robbers was that one was about 6 feet in height and the other about 5 feet 8 inches.

GRAIN BROKER LOVES AFFINITY.

ANGRILY RETORTS HE WILL NOT RENOUNCE WOMAN.

Further Declares He Will Not Return to Buffalo With His Wife Who Trailed Him to His Cosy Nest in This City and Said He Would. Amicable Arrangement Expected.

Declaring that he would neither return East with his wife nor abandon his affinity, George Dilfer, the Buffalo grain operator who deserted his wife and family July last, became angry last night when questioned concerning the latest phase of his marital tangle.

Dilfer was found at his home, No. 2317 Montclaire avenue, and refused to submit to an interview. He would not permit his affinity to be interrogated by the reporter, stating that they had decided to prevent every effort at publicity.

Only once did the reporter obtain a rise out of him. When Dilfer was told that his wife had announced that he was willing and ready to return with her to their home in Buffalo and renounce the young woman who had accompanied him to the Coast, he replied, with heat.

"I will neither renounce the young lady nor will I return to Buffalo with my wife. Further than that I refuse to say at this time. Perhaps there will be a moment or two in the future when I can talk, but now—never."

Dilfer, in his brief interview last night, demonstrated he is cultured and refined. A peek into the cozy bungalow further proved that the couple is artistic in temperament.

It was announced yesterday by Attorney Jutten of the firm of Gray, Barker, Bower, Allen, Van Dyke and Jutten, representing Mrs. Dilfer, that an amicable arrangement would be effected between the parties today. It was broadly hinted that the principal feature of this would be Dilfer's return to Buffalo with his wife. It is said on good authority that Dilfer will agree to an equal division with his wife of the $50,000 that he is alleged to have taken when he came here.

STEAMER GROUNDS IN STORM.

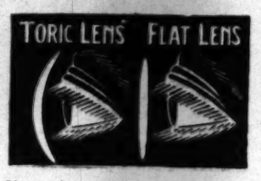
SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—A wireless message from the Canadian Pacific steamship Princess Adelaide says that vessel went ashore at Appletree Point during a blinding snowstorm tonight. A hurried survey of the steamer's position leads her master to believe that she can be floated without difficulty at high tide tomorrow.

Appletree Point is on the west side of Puget Sound, fifteen miles north of Seattle. The Princess Adelaide was bound for Seattle with passengers from Vancouver and Victoria.

Wasted Energy

If it is necessary to hold a paper more than 14 inches from the eyes in order to read, a tax is put upon the eyesight. Energy is wasted, the eyes are strained, and the foundation is laid for future trouble and disease of the eyes. Stopping eyestrain is necessary for health.

My rightly-fitted glasses stop eyestrain, and are guaranteed for one year. No charge for any change that may be required during that period. That's the fair way.



If you have had trouble with your precious glasses, let me make you a pair of Toric Lenses (deep curved). They afford a wider range of vision, and can be placed closer to the eyes than the flat lenses can.

If you want double lenses for far and near sight, my Kryptoks are the best lenses made.

SATISFACTION AND COMFORT
are obtained by my patients, thousands of whom have been rightly-fitted by me during the past six years in Los Angeles.

Special lenses are made for every patient. No extra charge for the examination.

Remember my guarantee. You cannot afford to waste your eyesight.

INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE FAVORS DRASTIC ACT AGAINST GRAFT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Feb. 1.—The enactment of a drastic corrupt practices act, with a maximum penalty of ten years imprisonment and $10,000 fine for the failure of a legislator to report immediately any attempt to buy or influence his vote, and the adoption of reforms in the fire insurance laws of the State, were recommended in a lengthy report of the Legislative Investigating Committee, submitted to the Legislature today.

THE PROPOSED REFORMS.

Drafts of bills which the committee proposed should be enacted into law were included in the report.

The proposed reforms include: Placing of rate making associations, including the New York Fire Insurance Exchange, under control and supervision of the State Superintendent of Insurance.

Vesting the superintendent with ample power to prevent discrimination in rates.

Enactment of anti-rebate law, prohibiting sharing or "splitting" of premiums, and making it a misdemeanor to give or accept rebates.

The Investigating Committee was appointed in 1910 by the Legislature to investigate corrupt practices, and insurance, other than life insurance. It is composed of members of both bodies.

In probing corrupt practices in connection with legislation, the committee according to the report, investigated alleged bribe-giving brought to the surface in investigations conducted in 1910 by the Senate and the State Superintendent of Insurance, together with certain other unverified allegations. These allegations, the report says, were made in connection with the payment by the State of a beet sugar bounty, the passage of the anti-race track gambling law, and of amendments to the agricultural law with reference to milk.

FIND GRAFT EVIDENCE.

The committee found abundant evidence of graft. In the beet sugar-bounty case, however, it rejected the testimony of Harry F. Zimmerlin, who swore that he had paid $3000 to a Senator and $1500 to an Assemblyman, both of whom are now dead, for their votes in favor of legislation favoring Zimmerlin's employers, the Lyons Beet Sugar Refining Company.

The report says: "The committee is impressed with the significance of the fact that each of the legislators to whom it is alleged payments were made is dead and unable to face his accuser. In the absence of corroborative evidence, and in view of the appearance of the witness, Zimmerlin, upon the stand, his manner of testifying and his very apparent confusion of mind, the committee cannot conclude or report that these payments were made to the members alleged."

Depressing.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN'S CONDITION CRITICAL; DEATH HOURLY EXPECTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 1.—The Most Rev. Patrick John Ryan, Archbishop of Philadelphia, who has lain almost at the point of death since last Thursday, is still alive, but his condition is critical.

In the afternoon he gave what is probably his last message to the world and his adopted country, through Cardinal Gibbons, who visited him in the cathedral residence. Late today the archbishop's physicians said his chances of surviving the night were slender.

When Doctors L'Place and Anders left the sick room early in the night they said Archbishop Ryan's condition was very much depressed.

"He is very weak, and his pulse flickers," they added. "He was still able to converse with us, but his speech was not nearly so fluent as in the afternoon when he was talking with Cardinal Gibbons."

Cardinal Gibbons made two visits to the dying prelate today. When he entered the room on the first visit, the archbishop's yes were closed and the cardinal placed his hand gently on his head, saying: "Your grace does not know me?"

"After forty-four years I know every tone of your eminence's voice, and now I am, as I ever have been, profoundly convinced that you are the instrument of providence for the promotion of everything good for our church and our country," replied the archbishop, without opening his eyes.

In the conversation the archbishop said: "If we keep our country conservative no country will be so great as this. No country has such elements of greatness as this."

Following his second visit, Cardinal Gibbons said in an interview: "The Archbishop's mind is still perfectly clear. His memory is most tenacious. He recalled interesting words of many different periods in his life, and not only events, but persons also. I need not say how much I have been edified by his beautiful, pious sentiments, rejoicing in the advancement of religion in this country, and saying that the hopes and stability of this nation depend upon the permanence of our religious and moral principles.

"The Archbishop said: 'If this nation is to last it must be governed by the same principles in the future as in the past.' He expressed hope that God would bless our much-beloved country."

MOTHER CHURCH TAKES STEPS TO COME INTO MRS. EDDY'S ESTATE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—A move to carry of the terms of the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, was made today.

A bill in equity was filed in the Supreme Judicial Court asking that the executor and the trustees of certain trust indentures, executed by Mrs. Eddy in 1907 and 1908, be instructed to turn over her real estate in Massachusetts to the directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, the residuary legatee under the will. The amount is estimated at $1,500,000.

The bill refers to the State law, which provides that "the income of the gifts, grants, bequests and devices made to or for the use of any one church shall not exceed $2000 a year, exclusive of the income of any parsonage land granted to or for the use of the ministry."

It also is said the real estate referred to is of large value and the income will exceed $2000 a year.

The bill says the State law in question "has no application to the gift made by the will in that the residuary clause in said will leaves the property to be held by the petitioners in trust for charitable purposes."

An answer later was filed by the attorneys for the trustees, in which the defendants admit the allegations of the bill, including the one in which it is said they "profess themselves ready and willing to make such conveyance if the same can be legally made, but add they are advised by counsel that as trustees no conveyance should be made by them without an order of court."

The bill is brought by the Christian Science Board of Directors, in charge of the affairs of the First, or "Mother" church of Boston.

direction they hope to intercept and annihilate soldiers decoyed from Ensenada in a narrow and steep defile where one man could slaughter fifty. Then they would continue to the capture of Ensenada. It is believed here now that the main object of the Mexicali attack was drawing of Federal forces from other strongholds. Thomas P. Daly, local manager of the Imperial Development Company, controlled by John Cudahy, of Chicago and owning 16,000 acres of land on the Mexican side, has received assurance from the revolutionary leaders that no American interests will be disturbed anywhere.

PEOPLE FLOCK FROM JUAREZ; REDS COMING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A large quantity of arms were taken to the Juarez race track from El Paso tonight and guards placed over the stables. Armed men are on the tops of the taller buildings of Juarez. Everything is quiet at 11 o'clock.

Pascual Orozco and his insurgents are rapidly nearing Juarez and if he is not already fighting the Federals outside the city, a battle is expected by the Mexican officials within a few hours.

To night at 9:15 the Mayor of Juarez ordered all gambling resorts and saloons closed in Juarez and warned the women and children to go to El Paso. Since that hour there has been a steady stream of people from Juarez to El Paso. Americans returning from the gambling games and families of Mexican citizens coming for the night.

Some communication was had between the Mexican officials and Col. Alfred Sharpe, commanding Fort Bliss, but all officials are silent.

At 9 o'clock tonight the entire garrison at Fort Bliss, five miles from the city, came to El Paso on street cars and silently took station on the Texas side of the Rio Grande. The picket line extends from the smelter, five miles north of El Paso, clear around the city of El Paso on the Mexican side.

TOURIST TIDE AT HIGH MARK.

GREATEST NUMBER OF WINTER VISITORS IN TOWN.

Large Number of Automobiles Brought Is an Indication of Attraction Which Good Roads About County Possess for Those Who Have Come to Enjoy Themselves.

(Office of The Times, N S. Raymond avenue.)

PASADENA, Feb. 2.—At no time in the history of this city have there been so many winter visitors as there are now. During the last two weeks each train arriving from the East and North has brought them, but yesterday was by far the best of the year, more than two hundred came in on the various trains and registered at the different hotels. Advance notices for today indicate equally as many. All of the big hotels are filling very rapidly and the managers are happy because they now know this will be the best year they have ever had.

Inquiry at Hotel Raymond last night brought the reply that there are now 6 guests more than on the same date a year ago. The Green is caring for forty-five more and the Maryland has something over 100 more than a year ago. The smaller hotels are doing equally as good business in proportion to the capacity of their houses. The Pintoresca, which has been closed all season due to thec hange in ownership, will reopen in a few days and already there is a large waiting list.

The season, so far, has been one of the best in a number of years so far as the weather is concerned and those who have been here some time are greatly pleased and their smiles and optimism act as an invigorating tonic to the newcomers.

The great number of private automobiles which have been brought in this winter is a good criterion to the business. It is estimated that fully 500 of various kinds and makes are being housed in the various public and private garages of the city. Over half of the people who are staying at the big hotels have brought their machines with them and are making good use of them. Never before has there been so much touring as this year. Every morning and evening the machines are lined up in front of the hotels waiting for touring parties who are going everywhere. Some go to the golf links, others to the seaside resorts, others to the orange groves and a large number "just take a little ride over to the city." Every road and especially the paved boulevards are seemingly crowded all day.

"This good roads movement here in southern California is proving to be a great inducement for people to come here for the winter and put in their time motoring," said a prominent Chicago banker yesterday at the Hotel Raymond. "When this county boulevard system is completed, Southern California will be the mecca for enthusiastic tourists of the world. The weather enables one to take a ride almost every day and these roads which have already been completed are as nearly perfect as those found anywhere in the world."

"Our good roads system is the biggest help our hotels have ever had," said Walter Raymond, in discussing the pleasures of the winter visitors. "Our good roads and facilities for enabling tourists to get about have served the purpose of keeping many people from going abroad this year. Already we have a great number of travelers who have spent their winters in Italy and France for many years. They are here and like California better than those countries. Besides that we have a large number who have been in the habit of going to Florida. This season will be by long odds the best winter southern California has ever had, but not the largest we will have, because I believe we will have more and more each year."

CROWD COMING.

Delegations from Azusa to the sea, including representatives from every immediate city on or contiguous to the proposed foothill boulevard, will gather in Pasadena this morning and hold an old fashioned gabfest in favor of the proposed Arroyo Seco bridge, which is to span the Arroyo Seco at the foot of West Colorado street and form the connecting link in the beautiful boulevard system from the mountains to the sea. Yesterday afternoon a delegation from the Pasadena Board of Trade visited the prominent cities of Glendale, Tropico, Hollywood and Santa Monica and invited everyone of those cities who is interested in the good roads movement to come to Pasadena today and "talk it over," and they have promised to come. Another delegation went east to Monrovia and Duarte.

"Never has a delegation of Pasadenans been met such a cordial reception as we did today," said W. F. Knight, chairman of the bridge committee, last night. "Everywhere we went today the people welcomed us and we found them enthusiastic for the bridge. They wondered why in the world the bridge had not been built years ago. They realize the great advantages of it, because it runs up one of the most scenic roads in the county and Southern California. The winter visitors and our own people want to have a route to the beautiful canyons above Glendale, in and around Hollywood and the Santa Monica mountains without having to go around the Horn,' through Los Angeles to do so.

"We find the people of the San Fernando Valley and Santa Monica far more enthusiastic than our own cities, if anything. But we have no fault to find with Pasadena people with the exception of a few who live on the bank of the Arroyo Seco, who seem to want to corral everything for their own interests. I believe ninety-nine out of a hundred of our people want the bridge and want it as soon as possible."

WILL EXTEND LINE.

The Lake Vineyard Land & Water company which has proposed to build a reservoir and pipe lines to furnish the "dry tract," will extend the time for making deposit for another month or two in order to allow the out-of-town people an opportunity to pay up. When the proposition was first made, February 1 was set as the limit. There is an element in that section which is objecting to the plan, but it is said they are in the large minority.

WILL MOVE STATION.

The ticket office of the Pacific Electric Company will be moved from its present location to the Southern Pacific depot, corner of East Colorado street and Broadway, March 1, according to present plans. The present lease of the Doddsworth Building, Fair Oaks and Colorado street, expires March 1 and, inasmuch as the Pacific Electric now belongs to thre Southern Pacific, the present depot will be utilized.

The change will be welcomed both by the people of the city and the traveling public because it will provide many better waiting room advantages not now afforded. Several changes will likely be made in the running time of the cars, especially the Short Line cars.

WILL HOLD SMOKER.

The members of the Board of Trade and invited guests will hold a big "get together" smoker in the board rooms on West Colorado street Tuesday. Reports on the things which have been accomplished this winter and the projects to be launched will be freely discussed.

TAX STATEMENT.

Tax Collector Munson issued an annual statement of business yesterday. The total amount of taxes due for the year was $420,206 and the total collected $402,351, leaving a delinquency of $17,855, as compared with a delinquency a year ago of $15,011.

TRY FOR CONVENTION.

The City Council yesterday morning adopted resolutions extending an invitation for the next annual convention of the Plumbing and Sanitary Engineers to meet in Pasadena next year. The 1911 convention will be held in Milwaukee next week. City Plumbing Inspector Shaver left for that place yesterday morning carrying the invitation.

SOCIETY DOINGS.

Last night was Arcade Night at the Hotel Green, when the children and their parents were delightfully entertained in the new arcade in the east building of the hotel. The children of the guests of the hotel were served with supper, which was followed with various childish games. Later the "grown-ups" joined in the fun-making and enjoyed several hours playing old-fashioned school games.

Mrs. J. Foster Rhodes and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. F. Rhodes, entertained yesterday afternoon with a handsome bridge party.

Mrs. A. A. Libby entertained at her home, No. 665 South Orange Grove avenue, yesterday afternoon, with a small luncheon in honor of Mrs. James Gray of Evansville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Carpenter entertained a number of guests at dinner last night in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Freeman.

HAS UNIVERSITY FLAVOR.

Wedding in Hermosa Beach at Which President of the U.S.C. Conducts the Ceremony.

HERMOSA BEACH, Feb. 1.—The residence of Dr. L. B. Stookey on Longfellow avenue was the scene of a pretty home wedding last evening, when his sister, Miss Adele Stookey, and Dr. Alanson Halden Jones of Los Angeles were united in marriage. Rev. Dr. George F. Bovard, president of the University of Southern California, performed the ceremony in the presence of about 100 guests. The bride was attended by Mrs. L. B. Stookey and Dr. John C. Ferbert acted as best man. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. Stookey. She wore white cashmere de soie and a bridal veil of Brussels point lace.

The decorations for the house and for the wedding supper were in green and white, carnations and ferns being used. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Lyman Poke Stookey of Los Angeles. She graduated in 1909 from the University of Southern California with the degree of M.A. She also taught languages in the university at that time and has spent several years abroad for study. Dr. Jones is a prominent young physician of Los Angeles. Dr. and Mrs. Jones will live on West Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles.

At the regular meeting of the City Trustees last night, J. P. Luxford was elected a member of the board to succeed George J. Schultz, after a lively voting contest between the representatives of the two factions of the town, the "back country" residents and the property owners of the ocean front. The election of Mr. Luxford will give the majority to the "front" people.

LET PAVING CONTRACT.

Pomona City Trustees Give Holt-Avenue Job to a Local Man Whose Bid for Work Is Lowest Submitted.

POMONA, Feb. 1.—The contract for paving Holt avenue has been awarded by the City Trustees to Louis Ferrell of this city, whose bid was the lowest submitted for the work and was: Macadam 9 1-4 cents per square foot; gutters 11 cents per square foot; culverts, $5.75 per lineal foot. This bid for oiled macadam was accepted because it was the opinion of the majority of the interested property owners that if an attempt was made to secure a standard paving, the work would be indefinitely delayed.

The actual work of paving will be commenced within sixty days and will be completed in June. The paving will extend from San Antonio to Park avenues. Larger water mains will be laid along Holt avenue while the street is torn up.

CHARTER ELECTION CALL.

City Clerk Trotter has been instructed by the City Trustees to publish the election ordinance and notice of new charter election calling for the ratification or rejection of the document by voters on the 16th inst.

Because of a ridiculous mix-up over the new steel doors for the City Hall vaults, caused when the late contractor, Burge had charge of the City Hall construction, the agent of the Mosler Safe Company came here this week and removed the doors, shipping them back to Los Angeles, before the Trustees were advised of the action. This is not much regretted as the doors were said not to be up to the requirements and other doors will be ordered, which will delay the occupancy of the new structure until about the first of March. The Trustees state that there was no reason for the arbitrary method taken by the Mosler Safe Company's representatives in carting off the safe doors, which would have been accepted and an adjustment made, even, though the doors were not just such as were needed; because of the fact that they were already in place and the Trustees are anxious to complete the building.

CATALINA ISLAND.

AVALON, Feb. 1.—A. L. Mentor of Alberta, Can., today brought to gaff and albacore weighing forty-one pounds, after a battle which lasted one hour. Another successful angler was Mrs. Ida Beech Stewart of Long Island, with a fish weighing thirty-six pounds. Both anglers used light tackle and received buttons from the Tuna Club. Mrs. Stewart is author of several books.

HOT SHOT OUT FOR WITNESS.

INTIMATION OF TROUBLE MADE BY PROSECUTOR.

Preliminary Examination of Ward, Charged With the Murder of Bowers, After a Five-Hour Session, Is Continued Till Today — Search Fails to Find Any Firearm.

LONG BEACH, Feb. 1.—After a five hours' session today the preliminary hearing of George R. Ward, charged with the murder of John Bowers on the morning of January 17 was continued until tomorrow morning, at which time it is expected that Mrs. Bowers, the widow, will be called by the prosecution.

Whether she will respond is problematical. She has disappeared, so far as efforts of the police officers to find her are concerned, and Deputy District Attorney Veitch, who is conducting the hearing on behalf of the State, exhibited some anger today at finding she was not in the courtroom. The attorneys for the defense scoffed at any intimation that she is in hiding. They assured the prosecutor that by their advice she is quietly escaping any unnecessary annoyance and that she will be on hand when called. Veitch intimated that if she is not there will be some trouble for somebody.

The State, according to the opinion of those interested in the case, made little progress today in its contention that there was any premeditation or motive in the alleged murder. All of the testimony introduced was interesting but devoid of any sensational features and differed little from the first published stories of the tragedy. There is no question but that Ward killed Bowers, but his story and that of Mrs. Bowers that it was done under the supposition that Bowers was a burglar is as yet uncontradicted, and the fact that the story told by the defendant to the doctor called in after the shooting was well connected and shows no weak points is as trong link in Ward's favor.

Dr. A. W. Buell was the first witness called this morning and he was taken over the ground, carefully both in direct and cross examination, but beyond the fact that he found Bowers dead, and Ward and Mrs. Bowers distraught and nervous and advised the two latter to lie down and compose themselves, nothing new was brought out. Dr. Buell also detailed the story told by Ward of how he had killed Bowers, thinking him a burglar. When he reached the body it had not yet stiffened, indicating that he had been called in all haste.

Thomas Bowers, brother of the deceased and the complaining witness, was the next witness, but threw no new light on the crime. He had been awakened by Ward and told he had killed Bowers. He dressed hurriedly and, coming out, found Mrs. Bowers trying to telephone. He also described the house and the location of the porch where the body was found. He assisted in taking the body in the house and remained with it until the doctor arrived, so that no one else had any chance to meddle with it. The moon was shining brightly and he could readily distinguish his brother's face as he stepped out upon the porch.

The bloodstained overcoat, the weapon which killed Bowers, the part of the skull entered by the bullet and the small gun found on Bowers body were offered as exhibits. The afternoon was taken up with the examination of Officers Powell and Raney, who were called to the house after the shooting but they threw little new light upon the tragedy. Officer Raney was still on the stand when the court adjourned.

As intimated yesterday the hearing was behind closed doors, the public being excluded, an exception being noted in the case of newspaper men and members of the bar. All witnesses were also excluded except the complaining witness, brother of the deceased. As soon as Ward arrived from Los Angeles he lighted a cigarette and smoked it in evident enjoyment. He seemed listless and apathetic and gave no outward sign of interest in the proceedings save occasionally when an apparently pertinent question was asked a witness. Then would come a brief fleeting glance of keen interest to be replaced an instant later by the old look of indifference. Ward is in evident ill health, though the probable nervous excitement of his pending trial served today to clothe his cheeks with a slight flush, hectic in its nature and obviously unnatural.

FIND NO FIREARM.

Careful search of the vicinity of last night's tragedy, when a man supposed to be E. Tasso, a French Canadian, met death under the wheels of an Alamitos Bay car, failed to uncover any weapon which the supposed hold-up man should have had and, in the light of statements regarding the man, the police are inclined to believe that Tasso either deliberately committed suicide, or was seized with an attack of epilepsy and, staggering out to call for assistance from the approaching car crew, stumbled onto the track and was accidentally killed.

Rev. Reardon, priest in charge of St. Anthony's Catholic Church says Tasso came to him three weeks ago bearing a letter of introduction from Rev. Turdeaux of Los Angeles, who came from the same section of Canada and knew the family well. In conversation with Rev. Reardon, Tasso told him that he had started to study civil engineering and combined practical work with theory, and that while handling some heavy timber, a log fell and crushed his foot necessitating amputation of his toes, making him a cripple. He also said that he was subject to epileptic fits during which he lost all control of himself.

In conversation Tasso apeared to be a well-educated and informed man. The only explanation of the fantastic manner in which the dead man was clothed was that he had been drinking heavily and running out of money to get more had become chilled and finding a bathing suit in one of the unoccupied houses had utilized it for warmth and then, despondent over the squandering of the money he had collected to get back home, decided that suicide was the quickest release from trouble. The Coroner will hold an inquest tomorrow morning.

WOMAN SHOWS GRIT.

Alone and unattended, in a small house on Court drive, Mrs. Eliza Spohn, aged 70, was seized with congestion of the lungs yesterday, and would have died but for the exercise of an extra will power which enabled her to reach the front door and call for help. Medical attention was given her and today she is out of danger.

John P. Craig today announced that he has made arrangements to build a steel freighter as soon as he can assemble the material. The vessel will be larger than either the Hubbard or Navajo. For business reasons Mr. Craig declined to give the name of the company contracting for the ship at present. The Craig people expect to complete their big floating drydock before beginning the new work.

The total delinquency on the city taxes of 1910-11 is $18,417.85, to which will be added penalties and costs amounting to $3465.56.

The little engine used by Aviator Smith, in his Damoiselle, the clown aeroplane at the Domingues meet, has been sold to G. D. Hook of this city, who will install it in a new plane he is building. He has a new idea about aviation and in his machine is using three planes. The Damoiselle engine weighs about forty-eight pounds and Hook's machine, complete, will weigh about 200 pounds.

H. Currier, son of the head of a large New York advertising concern, reached here today and will remain awhile with a friend, A. P. Center, recovering from a trying experience in Kern county, where he was arrested on suspicion and held in jail several days before he could get word to his father. He was finally released and came on to Long Beach.

Four complaints were issued today against L. M. West, under arrest at Fresno. Three of the warrants charge him with issuing bogus checks and the other charges him with forgery. These warrants will be held pending the disposition of the Fresno charges of forgery.

LOOKING FOR CRUCIBLE PLANT.

LOCATION QUESTION MAY BE DECIDED TODAY.

Representatives of Chamber of Commerce, Huntington Interests and Company to Have Meeting at Which It Is Expected Matter of She Will Be Determined.

REDONDO BEACH, Feb. 1.—A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce, composed of R. E. Matteson, W. J. Hess and E. C. Thomas, and O. N. Tomlinson, representing the Huntington interests, will meet tomorrow with Dr. Herron and M. C. Warman of the Warman Steel Casting Company, when the question of the location of the crucible steel foundry is to be finally settled.

At a meeting of the Public Utilities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday a counter proposition was drawn up to meet the proposition of the steel people, entailing some slight changes in the conditions. It is thought there will not be any hitch in the matter now and the early building of the plant on the old site of the Coyote automobile factory, on the Huntington company's property, east of town, will follow if the agreement is made tomorrow by the representatives of each side.

TUMBLE HE MUST.

Twenty members of the American Biograph Company of New York are here today under the management of Frank Powell, posing for pictures for the scenes of a comedy, "Cured." The grounds of Hotel Redondo, the wharves and the beach are the settings for the scenes of the play and the company will remain here the rest of the week before the completion of the pictures for it. That the life of the moving picture "original" is not at all times "a life of ease" is doubtless the opinion of one of the company, who tomorrow will be the central figure of a thrilling scene, in which he is pushed off the end of the wharf while in a wheeled invalid chair. Although he will alight on the sand below instead of the ocean, as will appear in the picture, even at that, to make the drop and escape without breaking any bones would be almost impossible to any but an experienced moving-picture player. The exaggerated facial make-up of the players, which appears grotesque, is a source of wonder to the uninitiated onlooker. This is said to be necessary to get the proper facial expression in the pictures when completed.

PASSING OF VETERAN.

James G. Brown, a ranchman living at Meadow Park Tract, three miles from the city, died yesterday after a year's illness from dropsy and heart trouble. Brown was 66 years of age. He leaves a widow and eight children. He was born in Ohio and had lived in California on his ranch near here the past five years.

He was a veteran of the Civil War, having belonged to Co. B, Eighteenth Iowa Infantry. He came from a family of patriots. His great-grandfather fought in the Revolutionary War, his grandfather in the war of 1812, his father in the Mexican War and both he and his father in the Civil War. One of his sons fought in the Spanish-American War.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the residence, followed by interment in the Wilmington Cemetery.

CLERK LOSES HIS WIFE.

Member of Office Staff at the Soldiers' Home Is Called to the Bedside of Dying Spouse in Los Angeles.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Feb. 1.—S. J. Rogers, "return clerk" in the quartermaster's office, was called last week to the home of his wife in Los Angeles, who, after a lingering illness, was reported to be nearing the end. Yesterday he sent a message saying that she had passed away that morning. Rogers, in addition to his official work, has for several successive terms been the popular treasurer and caterer of the "non-com" officers' mess, and is universally esteemed. Mrs. Rogers leaves one son and three daughters, all residing in eastern States.

Official changes here are: R. M. Moore, promoted to be chief clerk in the pension department of the treasurer's office, vice McMillan resigned, to enter the real estate business in Los Angeles. Harold C. Moran (civilian) of Ocean Park, is appointed order clerk, vice Moore, promoted. Otto Haese (civilian) appointed surgeon's clerk, vice Slocum, resigned to take employment in Los Angeles.

The Soldiers' Home baseball nine will play on Saturday afternoon with the L. A. Hardware Company's team.

The ambulance was hurried to Sawtelle last evening in response to a call, and returned to the hospital with Veteran Enoch Napier, who was suffering from an attack of apoplexy, from which he passed away at 4 a.m., today. Napier served in Company A, Twenty-second Kentucky Cavalry, was a native of Kentucky, admitted from Los Angeles in 1897 and was aged 71.

Harold G. Coleman, formerly Captain of Company A, Seventh California Infantry, a native of New York, admitted from Greeley, Colo., in 1901, died January 29, aged 81.

Peter Costelloe, formerly hospital steward, Fourteenth Maine Infantry, a native of Maine, admitted from Los Angeles in 1905, died January 29, aged 71.

Charles H. Morgan, formerly of Company G, Eleventh Kansas Cavalry, admitted from Sawtelle in 1910, died at Moorland, Kan., December 10, 1910, while on furlough, aged 63.

Drs. Shores, Specialists

Drs. Shores & Shores have spent their lives in the study of Chronic Diseases of Men, Women and Children. Thy have treated over 100,000 cases, an experience rarely ever granted any specialists, and have gleaned therefrom information that is invaluable to sick people. They would not attempt to treat Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria at any price—not because they don't know how, but because they have not given it the thought and constant study that other doctors have, and, in short, it is not in their line of specialties. Every moment is given to studying CHRONIC DISEASE. That is where they excel and that is where they can serve you better than anyone else.

They know what causes Catarrh. They know how to cure it. They know what causes Stomach Trouble. They know how to CURE it, instead of merely relieving it. They have studied the Liver, the Kidneys, the Ears, the Throat, the Lungs and Private Diseases, and they know what to do for these troubles. That is all they claim. All they treat.

BED PLANT PROSPECT.

Installation of Machinery for Manufacturing Institution to Begin at Wilington Within a Short Time.

WILMINGTON, Feb. 1.—N. W. Kline, president of the Kline Invalid Bed Company, was in Wilmington today with a party of Los Angeles men who are said to have interested themselves in the new concern. The factory building, which is located in the eastern part of the city, was finished several days ago and, if present plans do not miscarry, the work of installing the machinery, which has already been purchased, will begin in the near future. This is the largest and most important industry that has been located in Wilmington since the city consolidated with Los Angeles. The factory when running at its full capacity will give permanent employment to about 200 workmen and, according to a statement made by President Kline this morning, enough advance orders for beds have already been received to keep the wheels moving more than twelve months.

The Banning Company's steam tug Catalina, one of the oldest boats in the harbor, is being overhauled and remodeled and in a few days will go forth with all the appearance of an entirely new craft. The boat is sixty-six feet long, and, with the gasoline engine that is being taken from the Cricket, will be capable of handling anything that enters the harbor.

The Weaver Construction Company of Los Angeles this morning began the work of clearing the site on Canal street that is to be occupied by the new Winslow building, which will be the third large business block to be started here in the last two months.

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Co., 74 Cortlandt Street, New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c and $1 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

Danderine

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows: "When I began using Danderine my hair would not cease to fall out, and now it is away below my hips."

Another from Newark, N. J. "I have been using Danderine regularly. When I first started to use it I had very little hair, now I have the most beautiful long and thick hair anyone would want to have."

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Danderine enjoys a greater sale than any other one preparation regardless of kind or brand, and it has a much greater sale than all of the other hair preparations in the world combined.

DEAD HUSBAND UNDER FIRE

WIDOW ACCUSES HIM OF A BIGAMOUS MARRIAGE.

Strange Suit Affecting Realty Holdings Filed in the Superior Court. Tale of Two Nations and Also One of Two Cities Involved in the Contest for Property.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 1.—Sensational allegations charging the late Thomas Jobbitt with bigamous marriage are contained in a suit filed in teh Superior Court today by Mrs. Mary B. Jobbitt for possession of valuable realty holdings left by will to Mrs. Katherine Jobbitt.

Mrs. Mary B. Jobbitt is a resident of Chicago. She says she was wife No. 1 of Thomas Jobbitt and that her late husband was a party to a bigamous marriage with wife No. 2, now deceased. The story told in the petition boiled down follows: Mrs. Jobbitt No. 1 was married to Thomas Jobbitt in Canada in 1864. They lived together at Lakeview, Chicago, until 1885, when the husband came to San Diego. The wife remained in Chicago, receiving letters from her husband, who advised her to be ready to start for San Diego at any time. Jobbitt at that time was living with Katherine Keap, who had two children by her first husband. They were married without Jobbitt being divorced from his first wife.

Before his death Jobbitt deeded to wife No. 2 his real property, which, after his death was deeded by wife No. 2 to her two children. She died soon thereafter. Mrs. Mary Jobbitt came to San Diego from Chicago last Saturday and at once brought suit for appointment as administratrix of the estate of Jobbitt. She says her son will come from Chicago to assist her in regaining her property, which is valued at about $5000.

JOB FOR SLOANE.

State Senator Wright evidently believes one good turn deserves another. He is sponsor for a bill in the Legislature which gives to San Diego county another judge of the Superior Court. For the reason that W. A. Sloane could not muster votes enough Senator Wright was returned to his seat for another term. Now, the Wright bill provides a good job for Sloane, as it is believed he will accept the newly-created judgship when it is tendered him by Gov. Johnson. The fact that Judge Sloane is one of the persistent followers of the Lincoln-Roosevelt movement gives him the inside track for the position.

PERCIOUS ALLEGATIONS IN CASE OF ESTATE.

Defendants Are Accused of Having Induced Dying Woman to Sign Deeds When She Was in an Irresponsible Condition — Property Owners Protest Against Waters.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 1.—Joseph M. Slatter of Los Angeles, today through Attorneys Amend & Amend, instituted suit in the Superior Court against Beatrice E. Hards, Wendell Hards, J. G. Slatter, B. T. Slatter and Vera R. Egnew, to set aside transfers of resident lots in the St. Elmo district, here from Anna C. Slatter.

The complaint is startling in its charges against the Hards. It alleges that they "fraudulently and wickedly for the purpose of rendering Anna Slatter's estate penniless, in their own hands wrote out the deeds involved and, supposing she was dying, and while she was in a weak, exhausted condition, and irresponsible, induced her to sign the deeds."

A feature of the case is that despite the foreclosuness of the charges the property at stake is valued at only $200.

ANNOUNCES BURGLARIES.

The sheriff's office today announced three burglaries at Redlands, commited Monday night. The thieves got away with more than $1000 worth of jewelry. The homes entered were those of Mrs. Tathall, Mrs. Kerr and Ben Johnson. These families were at dinner at Wisshickon Inn at the time. This makes $3000 worth of jewelry stolen in Redlands in the last three weeks. The inn was one place recently robbed. Redlands officers kept the news of the robberies Monday night a secret, presumably fearing that publicity might appriae the burglars of their work.

This makes eight north of jewelry stolen in Redlands in the last three weeks. The inn is the place recently robbed. Redlands officers kept the news of the Sunday night a secret, preferring that publicity might expose the burglars of their work.

FLOOD PROTEST.

Property owners are up in arms over the ramming of Devil Canyon and Sand Canyon creek down A street, in this city. Protests to the City Council and Board of Supervisors are being circulated. It is declared that some ranchmen have built a dam on their property to protect certain tracts, and thus the water pours down the city street, doing great damage at each storm.

Matt Maginnis, who pleaded guilty last Monday to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon upon Charles Linder, a barkeeper, because the latter would not give him liquor, was sentenced today to serve two years in the County Jail. Maginnis served a long term in the penitentiary for killing his brother-in-law years ago.

The suit of A. M. Ham against the Grapeland Irrigation district to recover $12,000 on bonds issued under the Wright act, commenced this morning in the Superior Court. The district seeks to avoid the payment on technicalities. Other suits will follow if the Ham suit is successful.

FIRST GUN IN CITY CAMPAIGN.

CITIZENS OF FOURTH WARD HOLD CAUCUS.

Candidates Are Nominated for the Office of City Trustee and Member of the Board of Education. Strange Case of Cross Purposes Develops in the Justice's Court.

SANTA ANA, Feb. 1.—The first gun of the coming city campaign was fired last night, when the citizens of the Fourth Ward met in caucus for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for the office of City Trustee, and also for member of the Board of Education. George McPhee and W. L. Duggan were the unanimous choice of the caucus for trustee and member of the School Board, respectively.

A strange case of cross-purposes occurred in Justice Cox's court here yesterday. Porpirio Vilma was arrested on complaint of his father, charging battery. When Porpirie was arraigned yesterday morning, he pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set for 3 o'clock in the afternoon. When the case was called for trial, the complaining witness refused to testify agaist the defendant. Porpirio then pleaded guilty to the charge, and Justice Cox gave him a sixty-day suspended sentence.

STIR ON CONTRACT.

The Board of Education, at its meeting Monday night, decided to take matters into its own hands with regard to the long delayed completion of the new Jefferson school building in this city. The contract for the erection of this building was let to James O'Brien, a local contractor, who sub-let the contract for the heating and ventilating system to the Mechanical Machinery & Electrical Company of Los Angeles. This concern has for some reason failed to comply with the provisions of the contract and the specifications, and the building, which was to have been copleted last September, is not yet ready for occupancy. The board instructed the City Attorney to take steps to compel the contractors to carry out the contract and complete the work immediately.

GETS CHAPTER HOUSE.

Santa Ana has secured the $5000 chapter house which is erected in each city which meets certain requirements of the American Woman's League. This city having attained a membership of 140, qualified for the chapter house and the Heninger brothers of this city donated a lot for the building.

SAN JACINTO RIVER FULL.

Stream Shows Effect of Late Rains and Carries a Larger Volume Than at Any Other Time in a Year.

SAN JACINTO, Feb. 1.—The San Jacinto River has begun to feel the effects of the continued rains and is running bank full, carrying a larger volume of water than at any other time in more than a year. The extensive levee built along the stream by the San Jacinto Levee District and by the government is holding well and the big volume of water is kept within its proper banks. It is estimated that the levees would withstand twice the flow that is now passing.

There is apparently no chance for a crop failure this year, if present indications count for anything. Grain fields have been so thoroughly soaked that crops will need no more rain until March. With light rains in March and April, enormous yields of wheat and barley should be produced.

The recent rain brought the total precipitation for the season up to 8.55 inches.

Dr. A. J. Shoemaker, special government physician, arrived the first of the week on an official visit of inspection to the Soboba Indian reservation. He is giving special attention to the eye disease, trachoma, which he has found prevalent among the Indians of the Southwest.

A. L. Colton, who last week bought the Castillo Canyon property, arrived Tuesday from Rockford, Ill., to take possession of his place and make arrangements to move his family here next fall. This property was formerly occupied by Victoriana, the oldest chieftain among the Sobobas.

Milo Mathews this week sold ten acres on San Jacinto street to the Citizens' Water Company. The land was purchased, it is reported, for a reservoir site, to be used in connection with the enlarged water system this company contemplates installing.

Moderate rates, only, at Coronado.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Feb. 1.—The rainfall for the recent storm was .76 inches, and for the season 6.08 inches. The recent rain followed a half hour of strong north wind and fell with the force of hail.

A meeting of the Board of City Trustees was held Monady evening in regard to the sale of a gas franchise to Mrs. M. A. Gardner and M. C. Cambern, who expect to begin developments for gas as soon as the matter of the franchise is completed.

All days good at Coronado.

COLTON.

COLTON, Feb. 1.—Charles Pond, an employee of the Fox Woodsum Lumber Company, fell from a wagon yesterday and fractured his shoulder. His injuries rendered him unconscious for several hours.

Redlands.

PETITION FOR WATER PLANT.

CITIZENS PROPOSE TO TAKE TO MUNICIPAL DRINK.

City Trustees Are Asked to Take Steps Toward the Establishment. Two Local Sources Available, One Being a Company Outfit and the Other the Supply.

REDLANDS, Feb. 1.—Petitions are in circulation, several of them being started today, asking the City Trustees to move toward the establishment of a municipal water plant. The movement has been given some semblance of public and civic indorsement by the secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, E. B. Patterson, circulating one of the petitions.

The petition is short in its text merely reciting that Redlands is now a city of more than 10,000 inhabitants and that the time has come for it to take a step of this kind. Two local water sources are available, one being the Domestic Water Company's plant, the stockholders saying they will sell to the city at any time at a price to be fixed by a board of competent engineers. The other source is the water supply of San Timeteo Canyon, consisting of the rights of the Singleton, Cheney and other properties in that section on which R. Holtby Myers, J. J. Suess and others have an option.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.

Redlands is in the midst of an amateur theatrical season, two productions by local talent being announced for the near future. The local lodge of Elks, which each year gives a comedy at the Wyatt operahouse, is now rehearsing William Gillette's "All The Comforts of Home," Edward Foley, formerly leading tenor with Savage's "Prince of Pilsen" company, being the manager and coach for the performance. The cast for the play includes many of the old favorites and several new ones, including the following: Edward Foley, Walter M. McIntosh, H. O. Smith, Miss Frances Hamilton, Mrs. Edward Foley, E. M. Boyd, Miss Grace Lilly, Fulton G. Feraud, E. J. Dana, R. M. Hamilton, G. E. Sucher and S. F. Simon. The play will be presented February 14 and 15.

The senior class of the high school today announced the cast for its annual play, which is this season George Ade's "College Widow." The play will be presented at the Wyatt April 7. The cast includes the following seniors: Charles Driver, James Bennett, Harry Kean, Harvey Higbey, James Purvis, Herbert Huntington, Neal Thompson, Joe Prendergast, Ferdinand Lever, George Trinkhaus, Arthur Daniels, Marion Frost, Charles Barker, Hiram Johnson, Walter Haskell, Mabel Durst, Naomi Jennings, Marguerite Barkeley and Hazel Park.

REDLANDS NOTES.

McLane; Prelate, V. Asher; K. of R. S., G. E. Sucher; M. of F., Carl McIntosh; M. of E., William Medland; I. G., Fred Turner; O. G., M. W. H. Williams.

The women of the Redlands Country Club are arranging for a match to be played within the next six weeks on the local links. The following handicaps have been given the active women players of the club: Miss Katherine Williams, 2; Mrs. W. D. Betheller, 2; Mrs. H. C. Breeden, 2; Mrs. D. C. Lefferts, 2; Mrs. Gregory Palmer, 6; Mrs. J. S. Clark, 6; Mrs. A. C. Denmaner, 8; Mrs. M. S. Phillips, 10; Miss Dora Jefferson, 10.

The people of the Mission district west of Redlands will hold an election the 27th inst. for the purpose of voting bonds to the amount of $4000 for the purchase of a suitable lot and the erection of a new school building, the school having outgrown the present building.

Plenty of minimum rate rooms now at "Hotel del Coronado."

Work Begins in Fullerton on Playhouse Structure to Be Used for Moving Picture and Vaudeville.

FULLERTON, Feb. 1.—Work was commenced here this morning on a modern brick theater building, to cost $6000. It will be located on the vacant lot on Spadra avenue, immediately adjoining the southwest corner of Commonwealth and Spadra avenues, owned by Mrs. Adele Browning, who is having the work done. The plans drawn by Architect Frank L. Stiff of Los Angeles, call for a modern theater building, 35x98 feet. The front will be finished in Moorish style, with box office in the center and entrances on both sides. The interior will be equipped with a large stage and drop curtain. When ready for occupancy the theater will be conducted as a moving picture and vaudeville house. C. G. Ross of Los Angeles has the contract for erecting the building and forty days is the time limit set for its completion.

INSTALLS WIRELESS.

R. C. Keen has installed a wireless telegraph outfit in this city. The aerial has been erected on the top of the building occupied by him, and the apparatus may be used for commercial purposes. The instrument is of very high power, dislodging 25,000 volts at the spark gap. It is one of the most powerful of the smaller stations on the coast and it will be possible with it to reach points nearly a thousand miles distant.

GETS READY FOR SHOW.

Directors of the Porterville Chamber of Commerce Will Have Exhibit at Pacific Land and Products Expo.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 1.—Members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met this afternoon with F. A. Gillis, the special representative of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition of Los Angeles, and a definite decision was made to maintain at the exposition a Porterville exhibit. It is hoped that the other leading cities of Tulare county may be induced to cooperate to the end that a county exhibit may be maintained as well, with special showing from each of the leading cities.

A. E. Miot, secretary of the county Board of Trade, is in Los Angeles with a county exhibit, giving exhibitions and lectures at the Chamber of Commerce of the southern metropolis. It is planned to transfer this county exhibit, together with whatever special showings are secured.

FORM GRANITE COMPANY.

After years of neglect, in which time the quarries have been visited by leading building experts of this and other States, who pronounced the material of superior quality, a company has at last been formed to exploit the Porterville grey and the Porterville black granite, on a scale somewhat commensurate with the extent of the deposits.

Millions of yards of this granite are to be found in the foothills and to develop the deposits there has been organized the California Granite Company, with a capitalization of $150,000.

Directors of the company, all of them being Porterville men, are H. G. Reinhardt, R. G. Williams, J. E. Tetrault, W. A. Sears and H. G. Traeger. It is the purpose to at once secure the necessary machinery for use in the quarries and in this city a large polishing works with the very latest machinery is to be built.

Monuments of the stone will be cut and building material and dimension stone of all sorts will be produced. The black granite is a very beautiful stone, jet black in color and of great hardness, taking a mirror polish which adapts it to the highest class of interior decoration.

GOOD FOR VALENCIAS.

Reports from the Globe country indicate that the present year will be a record breaker in the production of Valencias. Weather conditions have been ideal and, if the orchardists could have had the rain just when they wanted it but few changes would have been made either in the time or the extent of the downpour.

BURNS INFESTED TREES.

Commissioner Schulz and his deputies rejected more trees in the past four days, orange stock which came in from a northern point in this State having been found with black scale. About 3000 of the trees were found so affected with this pest that it was deemed dangerous to even allow them to be returned and they were ordered burned on the spot. Cars in which they were shipped were sprayed and fumigated.

Notifications were sent to the nurserymen who made the shipment that if a similar shipment is sent here the points of entry in this county will be closed against them for further shipments.

Shipments from the southern counties this year have been uniformly first class, and the first shipper is yet to be reprimanded this season, in those counties.

BOAT BELCNGS TO BELL.

Yacht, Which Is Subject of Suit in Federal Court, Has Had Long and Varied History.

The Fulton Marine Construction Company was given judgment for $319.22 against the yacht Aloha, which the had libeled, by Judge Wellborn of the United States District Court, yesterday.

The boat was formerly owned by Frank Bell, who is now on trial in the Superior Court for murder. Around it have been woven several interesting escapades. Bell once kicked the attaching constable off it and sailed away. He declared he would run it into a slough and let it rot before he would have it taken away from him.

It is now the property of his mother. It will not be sold as it was released under bonds and the bondsmen will pay the judgment.

LOSES ILLEGAL PROFITS.

Aged Watchman Who Confesses Smuggling Opium Sinks Fortune in Stocks at San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Investing the profits he derived from smuggled opium, W. J. Fitzgerald, the aged watchman of the Pacific Mail dock, accumulated a fortune, but he has probably sunk most of it in mining stock gambling. Today he admitted having bought 2500 shares of mining stock with his earnings from the opium traffic.

Weeping bitterly, the old man was brought before United States Commissioner Wright to answer a second charge of having smuggled more than $1200 worth of the drug from Asiatic liners, which was found at his lodgings. The decrepit prisoner, who has passed his seventieth year, admitted his guilt and waived a hearing.

Fitzgerald admitted he has been acting as the agent of the local opium ring. His price for every tin of the drug he landed was $6. Each trip from Pier 44 when the liners were docked meant 4 for him, as he claims that he easily could carry away ten tins at a time. When arrested he had ten tins in his possession, and when his room was searched three days' supply, or thirty tins were found.

Officers of the Pacific Mail line steamers have also been implicated in the recent smuggling plots. Fitzgerald admits that the quartermaster of one of the Pacific Mail ships is a leading member of the ring.

OLD-TIME BOURBON DEAD.

Bright's Disease Carries Off "Boss Gambler" of Tacoma, Long Prominent in Democratic Ranks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John J. Malone, for many years the most prominent Democrat in the Northwest, died last night, aged 62 years. For twenty years he was president of the Warwick Liquor Company, selling that business last year. Death resulted from Bright's disease, which confined him to his home for several months.

During boom days Mr. Malone was known as the "Boss Gambler" of Tacoma. For years after Harry Morgan's death, in the early nineties, he operated the famous Comique Theater. Twice he aided in thoroughly organizing the Democratic party in this State. His friends included nearly every prominent person of Tacoma and other Washington cities. No one ever appealed to him for aid without receiving assistance.

When young his parents moved from Pennsylvania to Leavenworth, Kan. He enlisted in a Kansas regiment as mule driver, serving throughout the Civil War. Later he moved to St. Louis. After the war ended he was educated for the priesthood.

His funeral will be under the auspices of the Elks and Eagles lodges. His widow and three brothers survive him here.

The province of Manitoba, Canada, is suffering from milk famine. More than 1,000 gallons of milk are imported into Winnipeg daily, although with the ad valorem duty of 17 1-2 per cent, milk has risen in price to the point where the dealer cannot profit. The people of Manitoba are hoping for the passage of the pending reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada which admits milk free of duty.

Restorative Treatment for Nervous Men

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men, it is presumed to be infallible, while the profession generally endorse the ingredients and prescribe them in many different forms of various diseases. The following formula is highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, timidity in venturing, dizziness, heart palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremities, tired-all-in feeling and general inability to do those natural and rational acts upon which depends a man's success and happiness in social and every-day life.

The instructions for mixing at home secretly so that no embarrassment may be felt, are as follows: First — Get 3 ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound and 1 ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours. Then add 1 ounce compound essence cardiol and 1 ounce tincture cadonesse compound (not cardamom), and mix all together. The directions are to take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, until bounding health and full strength are restored. Even a few weeks will witness most wonderful results.

Astonishing nervous force and equilibrium follow the treatment, no matter how serious the case.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

The news value of any advertisement depends entirely on its truthfulness and common sense. Based upon these two facts we hope to make this short talk of special interest to all persons who are afflicted with an old sore or chronic ulcer. If in presenting the merits of S.S.S. as a cure for these troubles, our line of reasoning appeals to you, it will be an easy matter to prove the truthfulness of our statements by sending you a free book containing many testimonials from persons in every part of the country who have been cured of an old sore or chronic ulcer by the use of S. S. S.

Whenever a sore or ulcer becomes chronic or refuses to heal, is because of bad blood; the healing qualities of the circulation ha been weakened by impurities or poisons in this vital fluid.

The blood is the great source of nourishment for all flesh tissue As it constantly circulates throughout the system it carries the necessa nutrient properties to every portion of the body. It is because of th continual replenishment that the flesh remains firm and healthy a free from disease. Since the blood exercises such an important a necessary function we can easily understand why impurities or poiso in this vital fluid so often infect and disease the flesh at some particul spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it cause the form tion of old sores or chronic ulcers.

Every symptom of an old sore suggests diseased blood. T inflammation, discharge, discolored flesh, and the fact that extern applications never have any curative effect on these places, show th deep down in the circulation there is a morbid cause that prevents t place from healing. But more convincing proof that bad blood responsible for old sores is furnished by the fact that even removi every visible trace of the ulcer by surgical operation, does not cure. THEY ALWAYS RETURN.

Only by cleansing the blood of the poisonous cause can an old sore be cured. S. S. S. heals them by going down into the circulation and removing the cause from the blood. When this has been done there is no longer left any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and permanent healing of the ulcer. When S. S. S. has purified the blood and the place is once more nourished with pure, rich blood, then every symptom disappears, and it is not a surface cure, but the place is firmly and solidly healed fro the bottom to the outer skin. S. S. S. is recognized as the greatest all blood purifiers, and therein lies its ability to cure old sores. It purely vegetable, containing no mineral in any form, and its fine ton effects are always helpful in overcoming the impure systemic effects an old sore. Forty years of cures is the record of S. S. S., and wh it has done in thousands of cases we feel perfectly safe in saying it wi do in your case if you are afflicted with an old sore.

We have a special treatise on Old Sores which we will be glad t send free to all who desire it. It contains the statements of many wi nesses as to the efficacy of S. S. S., some of whom you may know We will also be glad to send free any special medical advice you desire

CURED MAN AND WIFE.

It gives me pleasure to relate my experience with S.S.S. Both my wife and myself have cause to believe it the greatest of all blood purifiers. I at one time had an old sore on my nose which caused me a great deal of uneasiness, being afraid it was malignant. My wife also had an ugly old ulcer on her face which gave her considerable worry. We know of no cause for these old sores so concluded they were due to bad blood. We both used S.S.S. and it cured us sound and well. This was some years ago but neither of us have ever had any signs of a return of the sore. I cheerfully recommend S.S.S. as a cure for Old Sores.

A PARTING SURPRISE.

Retiring Foreman of "The Times" Composing Room Receives Handsome Gift at the Leave-Taking.

Slim W. Crabill, for eight years and before the efficient and popular foreman of The Times composing room, formally severed his connection with that department of the paper yesterday afternoon at a pleasant leave-taking with its old men, held at the mechanical headquarters, College and San Fernando streets.

Large delegations of composing room, stereotyping department, proofroom and pressroom employees were on hand at 4 o'clock to give their old "boss" the glad word—and often the sad word—in farewell, and between the "courses" of the generous Dutch lunch set for the occasion expressions of mutual regard between the retiring foreman and the "boys" of the departments were frequent.

Following the luncheon, Mr. Crabill was presented with a magnificent diamond-set Masonic emblem, an expression of regard from those present. The speech of presentation was feelingly and gracefully made by Phil Shanahan of the composing room. "Slim" was overcome by a genuine attack of happy surprise but responded in a vein that left no doubt of his pleasurable emotions at the significance of the gift and appreciation of its merits as a work of art.

Following Mr. Crabill's remarks Gen. Otis spoke briefly, paying tribute to the retiring foreman's qualities personally and as an executive exhibited in the position he so long held. He thanked the men for their demonstration.

Mr. Crabill leaves the composing room of The Times to take the superintendency of the splendid new plant of The Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House, just north of the Chamber of Commerce Building on Broadway.

SALE OF ART STUDIO.

Hemenway Purchases the Gallery of Mojonier—A Gothic Effect That Is Very Striking.

W. G. Hemenway has purchased the Mojonier photographic studio on the seventh floor of the Auditorium building. Increased business has made larger quarters a necessity. The Gothic style of architecture makes this studio one of the handsomest in Los Angeles as well as one of the most spacious of the kind. The entire studio is to be refurnished in ornate style and the two floors will contain all the latest devices known to the trade.

The location of the Hemenway studio at No. 351 South Broadway is central, but the rush of business demands more extensive quarters. At least for the next six months, or anyway until August, the Hemenway studio on Broadway will be kept open in order to avoid confusion on the part of patrons who are in the habit of calling at the down-town office. The Auditorium building is also close to the heart of the city and in the near future this will be the exclusive home of the Hemenway photo takers.

Recently Hemenway toured through the East and learned new ideas which it was impossible for him to work out at the Broadway site. He at once began to look for a location that would lend itself to his new ideas. He found an opportunity when a chance was offered to purchase the Auditorium location. He was the successful bidder, though at least three other offers were made in Los Angeles and one was made by a San Francisco man.

One of the assets which Hemenway secures is the large number of valuable negatives which Mojonier has collected for the past few years. Portraits of prominent men and women in this city and on the Pacific Coast, pictures which are invaluable, are to be given an important place by the man who has made such a success of the photographic art.

Peerless SILENCE COMFORT

THOSE features which constitute the "good points" in a high-class motor car are all found in the Peerless superlatively expressed.

H. O. HARRISON CO.

Apparition?

SLY "BOO-WOO" A TERRORIZER.

Dressed as a Woman, Has a Deep Bass Voice.

Great Search for Brooklyn Heights "Spook."

Some Say It Vanishes, and Some It Sprints.

Garbed like a woman and with the deep bass voice of a man, an apparition is creating a reign of terror on Brooklyn Heights. That the mysterious being has human flesh and blood is the belief of the men of that part of the city, but it has eluded capture as successfully as though it were composed of mist.

The scalawag is of the "boo-woo" type, who causes his feminine victims to be paralyzed with fear in their tracks, and then runs away without in any manner attempting to do them bodily harm.

The appearance of the strange thing out of the shades of night has so worked on the nerves of some of the women that they are willing to take oath that it is a ghost. The traditions of the neighborhood are sought for, some tragic happening which would cause a spirit to come back to earth and create so much torment.

The police have been appealed to to use all their wiles in capturing the thing or working a spell to drive it from the city. Secretly officers have sought a glimpse of it, in order to express the opinion of expert criminologists. They have not been rewarded with a single glance at the shadowy form.

BULLET AS A TEST.

The braver men of the vicinity have determined that it is their duty to join the peace officers in their endeavor to restore quiet and a feeling of safety. They are certain that the best way to ascertain whether it is a human form or only an apparition is to send a leaden pellet through the center of its outline. To have the right to carry firearms for this purpose, they are seeking to be deputized in order that they may not break any laws. One of the latest to apply for a deputyship is John Nefrony, who will join the band of gallants which has sworn to exterminate the evil being or perish in the attempt.

The spookish entity appears on the streets shortly after dusk, or at about the time when theater-goers are accustomed to return to their homes.

The thing is clad in the latest styles in feminine clothing, her features are well shaded by a picture hat of immense proportions. Its body is draped with a daintily-trimmed gown and partly shielded with a cape, gracefully thrown back from the shoulders.

The women of the neighborhood have grown accustomed to watch with fear its approach and flee from any strange woman they may see coming toward them.

SHUNS MEN, SCARES WOMEN.

It shuns anything masculine and so far no man has ever set eyes upon it.

However, its appearance is usually so sudden that it is upon its victims before they have time to realize that they are being accosted.

Its antics on all occasions have been the same. It comes out of seeming nothingness and stops short in front of little parties of two, three or four women.

Involuntarily they stop as it steps in front of them. Eyeing them carefully for a tense moment, it breaks into an unearthly jig, suddenly stops and throws back its hat and part of its clothing. A man's face is disclosed, and the feet of a man protrude from beneath the garments.

"Boo-woo," the uncanny thing cries, as it pokes its face toward its victims. Then, with a hollow laugh, it glides away. Some of the women declare it vanishes, while others say that it runs away as would an ordinary being.

The police say an idiot or a lunatic is causing the disturbance, and are seeking to get hold of him. The male members of households which have been frightened are inclined to think a practical joker is loose.

Great efforts are being made to capture it, whatever it may be. If it is a man who is having "fun" with the weaker members of the community he will probably suffer a good trouncing if he falls into the hands of the self-appointed vigilance committee which is hunting the "spook" with man's weapons.

FIRST MUTUAL GATHERING.

Hotel Interests Representing Two Hundred Million Dollars to Meet in Santa Barbara Middle of Month.

The joint meeting between the Southern California Hotel Men's Association and the San Francisco Hotel Men's Association, which will be held at the Hotel Arlington the 15th inst., will be one of the most important gatherings of the kind in the history of California.

This will be, in fact, the first time that the two large hotel men's organizations of the State, which control $200,000,000 of hotel property, have come together.

The object is two-fold. The New Arlington, in Santa Barbara, will open its doors for the first time on the 15th inst., and the hotel men will celebrate with a large banquet.

The principal object of the meeting, however, is to further the mutual interests of the two organizations, and to work for more unanimous action taken on all matters of general interest to the hotel world. There is much legislation now coming up in Sacramento which is of paramount interest to the hotel men. They will discuss the different bills and will arrange to support those they deem favorable, and oppose unitedly those which seem objectionable.

John S. Mitchell, formerly president of the Southern California Hotel Men's Association and now the national president of the Hotel Men's Mutual Beneficial Association, will be one of the principal speakers.

Harry Fryman of the Hayward, who is president of the Southern California Hotel Men's Association will also be one of the speakers at the banquet and Col. Kirkpatrick of the Palace and Fairmount hotels will be toastmaster.

It is expected that fully thirty hotels of Los Angeles and vicinity, and about twenty of San Francisco, will be represented.

Pluck and Luck.

QUICK FIND OF GOLD BY A VEGETABLE MAN.

EIGHTEEN months ago J. M. Worton peddled vegetables from a truck wagon to wealthy patrons in the West Adams street district. Yesterday in Los Angeles he closed two deals which he expects to bring him on the way to millions.

For three years, while living at Highland Park, Worton stuck to his truck wagon from early until late, and his wife's thrift and economy backed his labor. He was trying to get a grub-stake, and the minute he had the funds in hand for a prospecting trip of reasonable length he sold his vegetable route and made for the hills. He cut the trail of the Santa Fe at the town of Drake, in Mojave county, Arizona.

Less than a week from the day he packed his burros he found what he was looking for exactly six miles east of Drake. Straight across his trail rose an immense boulder of red oxide quartz. Worton unpacked his burros and made the camp which today is called Camp Worton. That very hour he christened his find The Rich Strike, and after feeding himself and the burros, walked into Drake to write for his father and brother, Edgar and George E. Worten, residing at No. 960 Crocker street.

WIFE HITS IT, TOO.

"I had made two fortunes before in my life," said Worton, "and I had lost them both through dealings with dishonest partners. I had learned enough by this time to take my own relatives for partners, and the plan has worked differently than when I made my other strikes. I sent for my wife and three children right away because my camp is on Walnut Creek, so that I did not have to wait to develop a water supply. My family came along with my father and brother, and my wife not only cooked for our own party and for the two hired men, but part of the time she actually got into the shaft with a pick and shovel and did the labor of a man. Afterward she went out prospecting for herself and made a find which I bonded in Los Angeles today, for her. She retains one-half interest in her property and gets $75,000 for the other half. The first payment will be made today in the form of a fine house and lot. The proposition of being a helpmeet with my wife is no idle boast. Her claim runs along a ledge of red oxide which is exposed for 4500 feet and which varies in width from five to forty feet.

FIRST PICK THERE.

The property which my father, my brother and myself are working and which belongs to the three of us, has made so good that one of the features of my business in town today is to buy and ship a ten-stamp mill to handle our dump. At a depth of 400 feet we have cut an ore vein varying in width from ten to twenty-five feet and which assays anywhere from a few dollars to thousands per ton. We have plenty of wood and plenty of water and I believe I have discovered one of the greatest gold mining districts in Arizona. I am the first man to have struck a pick in that locality and this is the first time the public will read about it.

"My wife and children are still in the camp and although my wife has made a fortune of her own by the deal which goes through today I cannot persuade her to come back to the city yet. The pioneer spirit and the prospecting fever both have her in their grip, and these things give one a joy of pursuit which is almost as much satisfaction as the fortunes which one sometimes makes.

"I tell you it is mighty nice to know that I could now buy my wife as fine a place as any of those at which I used to stop my truck wagon on rainy mornings."

MEANS PROSECUTION IN ALARM-BOX CASE.

City Auditor's Deputy Announces That Criminal Charges Will Be Brought and He Has Evidence Which He Believes Will Convict—Gamewell Attorney Attacks the Auditor and His Report.

F. W. LLOYD, a deputy in the City Auditor's office, told the Supply Committee of the City Council yesterday that criminal charges will be brought against some one connected with the purchase of Gamewell Fire Alarm boxes by the city. He said he had an affidavit in his pocket at the time, which he believed would secure a conviction.

Lloyd had no sooner finished his statement that there will be criminal prosecution than the information came out that F. W. Frankhouseh, former superintendent of the fire alarm system, has left the city. Frankhouser has been under surveillance for some time. On January 15 he resigned his position with one of the local telephone companies. The man who was watching Frankhouser, became sick, during one of the rainy days of last week and while he was off guard the former city employee left town.

Councilman Andrews asked Lloyd if members of the former Council would not be found guilty of conspiracy in suppressing information they had in regard to the Gamewell affair. Lloyd said they did not have evidence enough probably, to convict any one, as he had already applied to the District Attorney once for a warrant and been refused.

"But," added Lloyd, "the investigation has been going right on, and the next time we apply for a warrant we expect to get one, and it may land one or two persons in a hard place to escape from."

Attorney Goudge suggested that the statute of limitations might intervene, as the alleged transactions took place over three years ago. Lloyd said they would apply in the case of bribery or graft but not in the matter of alteration or falsification of records.

ATTORNEY ATTACKS ADITOR.

Attorney Goudge, representing the Gamewell company, accused City Auditor Myers of fraud in submitting the report to the Council on which his refusal to pay nearly $4000 in demands is based. He said the majority of statements in the communication were false and had been submitted for the purpose of prejudicing the case. He gave Auditor Myers the benefit of believing in the truth aof his own charges, but said he was nevertheless as "fraudulent and culpable as if he had knowingly stated an untruth."

Goudge was unsparing in his attack on Auditor Myers. In the first place he asked the committee to consider a question of personal privilege. He then said:

"I refer to anonymous allusions in this communication from Mr. Myers referring to certain persons who have had some part in these transactions. My standing in my profession is worth more to me than the entire amount of these Gamewell demands. I was at one time engaged in the services of the city, and I think no one will deny that I discharged my duties ably and satisfactorily. I think I may even say that I rendered distinguished service to the city. Since I played an important part in the affairs of the city, I do not think I have done anything to lessen my standing. I should very much regret that this committee might in any way seem to accept a criticism of my conduct from a newly-fledged official who has yet to win his spurs.

"I think since leaving a public office I have refused more fees than I have accepted, because I could not appear in anything that would be against the public interest. I hope this committee will make it clear that it does not accept any such construction of this report as to reflect upon my connection with the matter."

GOES INTO REPORT.

He then launched into an attack upon the report itself. A majority of the statements contained in it, he said, were false and a public officer who would make such statements after a four-month investigation, even though he thought them to be true or had no information upon which to base them, would be guilty of a fraud.

The first alleged false statement he called attention to was that Myers had said, "The greater part of a year had elapsed when someone connected with the Gamewell company conceived the idea of reviving the demands denied by the former Council." Goudge showed that it was but two months instead of the greater part of a year. The next alleged misstatement was that Myers was "persuaded the Council was ignorant of the report of the former Council." This was characterized as the "product of a biased and prejudiced mind," because Goudge in his letter had called the attention of the Council to that report.

Myers's statement that the city had paid exorbitant prices to the Gamewell company, he said, was not supported by any evidence. To prove that it was not so he showed that all other cities have paid the same prices for the Gamewell boxes that were charged in Los Angeles. The fact that other boxes could be procured for half the price he said was no more evidence than that some watches can be bought for a dollar while others cost fifty dollars. He further disagreed with the opinion of the City Attorney that this Council could lot act on warrants denied by a former Council.

The final Gamewell argument was that the company does not ask to be paid for the boxes if the city objects to the price, but that they want the goods returned. Auditor Myers, he said is proposing that the city embezzle the goods to square its account while at the same time showing indecent haste to pay the demands of Cregier for his boxes.

SAYS HE CAN SUBSTANTIATE.

Deputy Lloyd was present representing Auditor Myers. He said he could verify with evidence every one of the statements made by the Auditor in his report to the Council. An affidavit which he had in his pocket, he said, would show that there had been a conspiracy to split up the Gamewell demands so that they would not have to be advertised. He then acknowledged that he had been for several years an agent of the Gamewell company in Southern California, and had plenty of evidence as to the existence of their prices. He said he knows who altered the demands and who gave

Will the Doctor Who Made It Have to Pay?

Professional reputations which have been built up on years of successful practice of surgery by the leaders of the local medical fraternity were yesterday staked on a single operation.

Surgeons under oath had solemnly declared that a certain condition existed within the abdomen of Henry Christie, proprietor of the Christie Shoe Company. Other surgeons, of equal reputation, likewise sworn to tell the whole truth, averred that their fellow practitioners were mistaken. To prove that they were correct the latter volunteered to explore Christie's abdominal cavity, and carried out their offer.

The outcome of the operation will not be definitely known for several days, but the surgeons who performed it declared last evening that they are confident that it is a success and that it demonstrated that their diagnosis of the case was correct.

The proceeding was a result of a

Los Angeles Pioneer Passes Away in Home He Occupied More Than a Third of a Century.

Felix McLaughlin, who had resided in this city for thirty-five years, died yesterday at his home, No. 413 West Washington street, at the age of 70 years.

When the deceased came to Los Angeles, where exactly half his life was passed, he bought a tract of land, opposite where the Polytechnic High School stands, put out an orchard and conducted a dairy. As the city spread in that direction, he laid the ground of in what is known as McLaughlin's Subdivision, and sold off the larger portion of the property. On other lots he built houses and rented them, during a number of years past, and in one of them he died. His wife preceded him to the grave five years ago, and there are no children. When quite a young man, prior to his removal to this city, he served three years in a cavalry regiment in the regular army. He was born in Boston, but at the time of his removal to Los Angeles he was living in Cairo, Ill.

The funeral will be held at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, at 8:45 Saturday morning, when a mass will be celebrated by Father McDonald.

FRIENDS' MISSIONARY MEETING.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Friends Church will meet at the church, Third street and Fremont avenue, this afternoon at 2:30. An address will be delivered by Mrs. Stevens of Hollywood, formerly a missionary in Japan, on the subject: "Co-operation of Temperance in Missions." The public is invited to attend.

WANT REID AS GUEST.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday sent a telegram to Whitelaw Reid, who is at the Grand Canyon on his way West, asking if he would be the guest of the chamber at a reception to be tendered at his convenience. He is expected to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow.

The "King's" Message.

SAYS HE WON'T PINCH IN POTATO FAMINE.

LOS ANGELES is staring in the face of potato famine. This condition has been brought about first by the manipulations of Maurice Zuckerman of Weyl-Zuckerman & Co., and within the past two days by the railroad tie-ups. Yesterday morning, although no changes were made on the Produce Exchange wholesale price lists, the market on Highland potatoes advanced 20 cents, from $2.05 to $2.25.

Zuckerman executed one of the most masterly manipulations of his entire campaign for supremacy. On Monday afternoon his northern representatives took up all the surplus potatoes that could be purchased in San Francisco, about twenty carloads. Further than that, he bought outright all the output of the Lompoc growers for the next two weeks, which places him in absolute control of all stock that comes into Los Angeles for that period.

Receipts of potatoes for a week past have not averaged much more than 1000 sacks a day, while the daily consumption is figured at this season with the prevailing high prices at about 2200 sacks. As a result there are scarcely any potatoes in the hands of the dealers save those that Zuckerman will release.

This shortage has been intensified by the washouts on the Salt Lake Railroad. In a statement yesterday, Zuckerman said that he at present has reports of thirty-seven carloads held up behind the break of trackage in Utah.

In addition to these potatoes, an average of three cars a day are coming for the same dealer from Idaho and Colorado, where he purchased every available car during the first part of January. Before the delayed cars are put into motion and the first of them arrive in Los Angeles at least two weeks will have elapsed.

TELLS OF THE ROUND-UP.

Zuckerman, on his return from the North, where he has been pulling all the final strings to the bag that holds the potato crop secure in his hands, gave a few details of the maneuvers which led to his present control of the market.

"Last fall I realized that the California harvest would be much lighter than the year previous. My men in the field kept close tab of the yield per acre, and it was far below that which had been expected. There was a shortage of potatoes in Oregon. The Middle West and East also reported light crops. It was a chance of a lifetime and, with my brother in charge of the northern fields, I gave orders to buy.

"Before the middle of December it leaked out in the North that our firm had holdings which aggregated those of can find many opportunities of buying, selling and trading profitably by reading Times "Liners."

Persons in search of rooms, board, flats, apartments, houses, help or situations also get splendid results from The Times classified advertisements.

Month after month, year in and year out, The Times prints more advertising than any other paper in the world.

The following figures tell the story:

For the week ending Sunday, January 29, The Times printed 2068 more agate "Liners" than the aggregate of all other Los Angeles news. papers combined, and 6579 more than its nearest local competitor.

The total number of "Liners" published by The Times for the seven days from January 23 to 29, inclusive, was 13,796. The prize of Five Dollars in Gold has been awarded to Mrs. C. A. Daniels, No. 843 West Thirty-seventh Place, city, whose estimate of 13,796 "Liners" was the first and only correct answer received in last week's contest.

FIVE DOLLARS IN GOLD GIVEN AWAY

One week ago today The Times printed 1556 agate "Liners." On the same day its nearest local competitor printed only 871 agate "Liners."

On Tuesday, February 7, and on each Tuesday thereafter, a prize of Five Dollars in gold will be awarded to the person making the first nearest correct estimate of the total number of "Liner" advertisements published in The Times during the seven days from Monday, January 30, until Sunday, February 5, inclusive.

Estimates should not be made until after the publication of The Times on the last day of the week for which the contest is held, and they must be delivered before 10 a.m. the following Tuesday. The name of the prize winner for the preceding week will be published every Wednesday. This contest is not open to employees of the Times-Mirror Company, and this company's advertisements should not be counted.

All letters should be addressed to the Contest Editor, and each will be numbered in the order of its receipt in the office, 531-535 South Spring street.

Transaction in Aqueduct Securities Takes New Turn When Telegrams Read Asking for Delay Until February 15 to Increase Order by Millions for Immediate Delivery.

The City Council was notified yesterday morning that the New York syndicate might want to purchase the entire issue for 1911 before February 15. In order to avoid a number of transactions the Council voted to give the syndicate until February 10 to say how many bonds it will purchase this month.

After agreeing to take the first installment of $816,000 on Monday, the representatives of the syndicate immediately got busy with the City Treasurer's office, and a number of telegrams passed back and forth. The first suggestion was that the purchasers would probably call for $1,632,000 worth in addition to the necessary purchase of the $816,000. Then they said they might take over the entire option for the year, amounting to $4,896,000. They agreed to say definitely what they would do by February 10.

The Mayor and the Council were rather in hopes that the year's issue would not be taken at once, as it will add considerably to the amount of interest to be paid. Nevertheless, as the bonds were sold under these terms, the Council had no choice and voted to wait ten days to see how many bonds will be taken at once.

APPLAUSE AND HISSES.

SIXTEENTH STREET SCRAP.

The City Council wrestled unsuccessfully yesterday with the Sixteenth street improvement problem. Uncle Jerry Andrews, in a flight of eloquence, drew a remarkable burst of applause from the large audience of property owners, while Councilman Whiffen drew an equally enthusiastic response of hisses. The matter finally went over for four weeks with the question of adjusting the assessments referred to the Streets Committee.

Certain property owners in the district formed for the opening and widening of Sixteenth street as a cross-town thoroughfare, claim that they are being unduly taxed. They say the improvement will not benefit them in proportion to the amount it will cost.

Councilman Whiffen tried to tell the protestants that they were not taking a sufficiently broad view of the situation. In the course of a few years, he said, Sixteenth street would intersect the main business portion of the city. It would then become essential to have an open thoroughfare between Pico and Washington streets. He believed the property would increase many times in value the amount paid for the improvement. Samuel Rees supported Mr. Whiffen's argument, saying that he owned property on Sixteenth street and would gladly pay his assessment.

BEACH LIBEL SUIT DRAGS IN SUPERIOR COURT.

Interrogate Ocean Park City Clerk in Regard to Various Happenings in That City During Controversy Between Abbot Kinney and Other Faction.

In the slander action brought by George M. Jones against Abbott Kinney, in Judge Woods's court, yesterday, the day was taken up by the examination of Gordon Watt, City Clerk of Ocean Park. Cross-examination will be resumed this morning.

It was shown by the interrogation of Watt, that Kinney was an interloper in his occupancy of his bathhouse site on Horizon avenue. Witness said that the ground upon which the structure stood had been deeded to the city by Jones and George Frazier.

The records also demonstrated that the occupancy of Lorelei avenue by the Los Angeles Pacific Railway, allowed by a permit running for eight months, had been so occupied ever since.

As to the location of the City Hall, it was shown that Kinney had offered a site for the structure near the shoe factory and as far away from the center of the city as Tokio, where it now stands; that the original grantors received $5000 for the site, and that the money was immediately donated toward the erection of the City Hall, according to the agreement when the purchase was made.

The charge in regard to the Board of Trustees compelling Kinney to remove Tent City, was shown to have arisen from the fact that Kinney secured a permit from that body for eight months, and that the time was extended in order to allow him to remove the tents.

WIFE'S BOND.

IS FIXED BY COURT.

Another turn of the judicial wheel in the Brunner divorce case took place in Judge Craig's department yesterday. The bond to be given by Mrs. Louisa Brunner, pending an appeal to the Supreme Court, was fixed at $4000. Brunner's attorneys wanted it placed at $10,000; Mrs. Brunner's legal representatives thought $2500 would be about right.

There was considerable sparring between attorneys before the order was made. Attorney Britt thought it would suit the purposes of the plaintiff to prolong the litigation as long as possible in order to give her old husband a chance to die. This view was attacked by Attorney Waterman as a statement without foundation.

It was shown by testimony that the rental value of the property in litigation is about $2500 a year. Teresa Brunner, one of the children, was charged with having sided with her mother in securing the property of the old man. In the original divorce proceedings, Teresa was restrained from disposing of the notes and securities that had been placed in her hands by her mother. It was estimated yesterday that it might be three years before the case is finally disposed of by the Supreme Court, and the chances are that by that time the former "lottery king" will be dead.

PAWNS HER RING.

MOVES TO ESCAPE RENT.

Edna Modie was given a decree of divorce yesterday by Judge Hutton from Frank Modie, on the grouhd of extreme cruelty. They were married in Leavenworth in 1907. The wife testified that during their three years' residence in Los Angeles they changed their residence eight times to avoid paying rent. The wife also testified that her husband quit work the day after their marriage. She is now employed in an office.

Mrs. Modie said that on more than one occasion she had pawned her diamond engagement ring to pay the grocery bill; redeeming it afterward by her own efforts, only to have it go again, when the grocer would no longer be denied. She gave strong evidence showing her ill-treatment at the hands of her husband. He did not appear to defend himself.

ASK ACCOUNTING.

A MINING PROPOSITION.

An action was instituted in the Superior Court yesterday by Joseph H. Parker against James M. Herndon, for an accounting of the funds arising from the sale of a half-interest in certain mining property.

It is alleged in the complaint that January 1, 1904, Herndon was the owner of a one-half interest in thirty mining claims known as the Crescent and Regent group and also thirteen gypsum claims in the Palen Mountains.

At that time an agreement was made, the plaintiff alleges, providing that he should examine into the quantity and quality of the ore to be found on the claims, with the idea of utilizing the information for the sale of the interest of the defendant in the property.

It is further alleged that the defendant has secured not less than $10,000 for his one-half interest in the mines disposed of, and that under the terms of the contract entered into, Parker is entitled to one-sixth of that amount. The plaintiff also asks for an accounting of all transactions of Herndon, with a view to ascertaining his share in the business.

MARTINEZ ACQUITTED.

MANY INFORMATIONS.

The jury in Judge McCormick's court found Francesco Martinez not guilty of the murder of Gregoria Garcia, in a grading camp at Latin Station, last fall. A stiff defense that Martinez had only attacked Garcia when it was necessary to save his own life, seemed to impress the jury.

The following informations were filed yesterday:

Cornelius Beckwith and Frank Fuentes, failure to provide for their wives; W. H. Harris, assault with intent to commit murder; Clarence Thomas, burglary; Dan Walsh, burglary; Sam Apadoca, murder; Walter Taylor, burglary; Charles McCasdan, burglary.

E. A. McDonald pleaded not guilty to the charge of obtaining property under false pretenses, and his hearing was set for March 21.

Probation was denied Jose Valenzuela, who was found guilty of grand larceny, and he was sentenced to Folsom for two years.

SCAN EVIDENCE.

MUST BE CORROBORATED.

Judge Hutton yesterday criticized professional detectives who furnish evidence in divorce cases. The court said that in his career on the bench he had never granted a decree on the unsupported evidence of a detectiv engaged in that sort of business. He therefore refused to give Eva Winfield a decree from her husband, Edward F. Winfield, on the ground that he had been intimate with a woman in Redondo. He gave her the relief sought on the ground of extreme cruelty on the part of Winfield. An order was made for $40 a month to be paid the wife for the support of herself and their three minor children.

SICK REMEMBERED.

TOBERMAN WILL FILED.

By the terms of J. R. Toberman's will, filed for probate yesterday, $20,000 is left in trust for the benefit of the indigent sick. A son and a grandson are provided for, and the balance of the estate is divided among nephews and nieces. The testator died in Hollywood, January 26. The value of his estate is fixed at $265,000.

The home place in Hollywood, block 14, there and $40,000 is left in trust for Mabel S. Toberman, one of the

to be divided among his wife and children. If there are none, it is to go to the residuary legatees.

James W. Toberman, a grandson, is left $25,000 which is to be placed in trust for him until he is 25 years of age. If he should die before that time the money is to go to his wife and children, if unmarried it is to revert to the Board of Foreign Missions of the M. E. Church, South.

The $20,000 bequeathed to the indigent sick is left to the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South to be used as a permanent endowment fund.

THESE BEQUESTS ARE MADE.

Mrs. Harriet Dalton, sister-in-law, $6000; Mrs. Mary Green, sister-in-law, $4000; Frank E. Minnis, nephew, $4000; Henry J. Minnis, nephew, $4000; Samuel H. Minnis, nephew, $4000; Emma Minnie Chandler, niece, $6000; James T. New grand-nephew, $1000; Albert W. Toberman, nephew, $4000; Charles E. Toberman, nephew, $6000. Also, $2000 is left in trust for the benefit of Ralph T. Minnis, nephew, $4000, in trust for benefit of children of James Toberman, nephew.

The balance of the estate is to be divided among the following nieces and nephews: Frank H. Minnis, Henry I. Minnis, Samuel H. Minnis, Emma Minnis Chandler, Albert W. Toberman and Charles E. Toberman. Charles E. Toberman is named as executor. He lives at Hollywood, but the remainder of the nieces and nephews reside in Missouri.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

ACTION IN DAMAGES. A jury in Judge Houser's court is hearing the evidence in the action brought by Cono Moreno against the Los Angeles Railway Company, for $10,850 damages, alleged to be due on account of injuries received December 24, 1909. He says he was struck by a car of the defendant corporation, while driving his wagon along Central avenue.

LUCKY MARSHAL. The jury in the case brought by Edith M. Nelson against W. M. Kellogg, City Recorder Whaley and City Marshal Troughber of Watts, for damages for alleged malicious prosecution, brought in a verdict against Kellogg and Whaley for $500. The action as to Troughber was non-suited. It was shown that Troughber as Marshal, was merely an agent of the Recorder in making the arrest of the plaintiff.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by Klamath River Canning Company, capital stock, $150,000, incorporators, G. L. Hogan, W. C. King and C. H. White, subscribed, $300; Braun, Bryant & Austin, capital stock, $10,000, incorporators, Joseph G. Braun, William F. Bryant, Aubrey E. Austin and Vera L. Braun, subscribed, $10,000; Associated Land and Development Company, capital stock, $75,000, incorporators, Hancock M. Johnson, R. G. Johns, William T. Lisenby, Fred A. Willis and Frank R. Willis, subscribed, $425; Parent Grain Food Company, capital stock, $100,000, incorporators, E. De Muelle, R. Hynes, Fred Gilberg, M. J. Sophy and H. Eller, subscribed, $5; Fowler Brothers, capital stock, $75,000, incorporators, John W. Fowler, Robert A. Fowler, Agnes L. Fowler, Matilda Fowler and Willard Goodwin, subscribed, $500; Charles R. Hadley Company, capital stock, $60,400, incorporators, Charles R. Hadley, F. W. Flach, F. D. Barnhill, Charles B. Root and I. A. Lothian, subscribed, $60,400.

SMALL ESTATE. A petition was filed in the Probate Court yesterday for the admission of the will of Johanna J. Mallgren, who died January 19, leaving real estate in San Pedro valued at $10,000. Under the provisions of the will one-half of the estate goes to her husband, John N. Mallgren, and one-half to their daughter, Eva. To Hilmer Johnson, another daughter of the testator, $3000 in cash is bequeathed.

TO CHANGE NAME. The Stockwell-Haley Company filed a petition in the Superior Court, yesterday, praying that the corporation be allowed to change its name to L. W. Stockwell Company. J. M. Haley is no longer connected with the management of the concern.

DAMAGE ACTIONS. Nora Edgeland began an action yesterday against the Los Angeles Railway Company for $5035 damages. She alleges her injuries were received December 11, 1910, on North Avenue 20, when struck by a car of the defendant corporation.

Mamie L. Callison wants $25,500 of the Los Angeles Railway Company, for being struck by a car April 16, 1910, while she was attempting to cross Figueroa street.

Bert C. Hiner sued Frank Bungay and others for $372, alleging that he was struck by an automobile owned by the defendant.

JUROR FINED. R. G. Dupuy, a juror in Judge Houser's court, was fined two days' pay and his mileage, amounting to $11.20, because he was late in reporting for duty in Department Three yesterday. Dupuy, who lives in San Pedro, said he forgot about his duty until it was late. He arrived just before the noon recess. The court accepted the excuse, but imposed a fine.

FEMALE DEITY STIRS STRIFE.

THE DISCUSSION ABOUT "KALI" RESULTS SERIOUSLY.

Excited by Wine Three Hindus Violently Disagree, and After Indulging in a General Fight, Are Haled to the Police Station to Cool Their Ire.

A woman was found to be at the bottom of the trouble in a Police Court case yesterday morning. "Kali" is her name but her identity was disputed. That was the cause of three Hindus appearing before Police Judge Chambers to answer to a charge of disturbing the peace. After hearing a recital of the trouble the Hindus were fined $10 each. The woman escaped.

The controversy was over the respective duties of the goddess Kali. Chen Singh, Gun Singh and Song Singh drank freely Tuesday night and then went to the room on Wilmington street, where "Kali" figuratively appeared.

After hearing Gun and Song argue heatedly over the goddess, Chen invaded the field with the assertion that they were both wrong.

"You are mistaken, bhai, Kali is not the goddess of death," said Chen to Gun. "You bhai," said Chen to Song, "are in error in thinking that Kali is the goddess of the sun. There is no such goddess as 'Kali.'"

To hear Kali declared a myth resulted in Gun and Song uniting forces. They armed themselves with beer bottles. Chen seeing the preparations granted another bottle.

BEGGS FROM OFFICER.

T. Kelly, charged with vagrancy, admitted in Police Court yesterday morning that he had begged 25 cents from Sergt. O'Brien. His case will come up today for final disposal.

"You see, judge, I was in need of funds to make a small purchase," Kelly explained. "I have some money but I had left it with my banker in Tropico and was temporarily financially embarrassed."

If Kelly is successful in showing that he has been working, he will receive different treatment than the common vagrant.

WRONG EAR.

HEARING IS AT FAULT.

If W. P. Sipes, charged with vagrancy, wanted a speedy hearing in Police Court, yesterday, he made a big mistake in suddenly losing his hearing.

"Guilty or not guilty," Bailiff Vignes screeched in Sipes's ear. He sadly shook his head and pointed to his ears.

"Case continued until Friday afternoon. Defendant remanded to jail," said Police Judge Chambers.

A look of dismay passed over Sipes's face, as he seated himself. A suppressed ripple of laughter passed down the line of prisoners.

PORTIA WANTED.

VAGRANT LIKES WOMEN.

"I wants one of them lady lawyers to defend me," announced George Wilson, a vagrant, in Police Court yesterday morning.

"Well, you are particular, aren't you?" said Judge Chambers. "Perhaps you have some lawyer in mind."

"Yes, judge, I have," was the reply.

The case was continued until tomorrow afternoon.

Neglects Sanitation.

I. Burkhart, a wealthy German, was fined $5 by Police Judge Fredericksen, yesterday morning, for allowing a house owned by him on Temple street to be unsanitary. This is the second time Burkhart has appeared in Police Court within a year. The first time he was fined $20 for not providing good ventilation for one of his houses.

Much Court Work.

January was a busy month with Police Judge Fredericksen. He disposed of 861 misdemeanors and as a city justice sat in the preliminary examination of thirty-eight persons charged with felonies, making a total of 899 cases for the month. In all $3402 was collected in Police Court fines.

Brent Case Continued.

LITTLE CHANCE TO BEAT INCUMBENT.

WOOLWINE GAINS WILL NOT PUT HIM IN OFFICE.

Admitting the Goo-Goo Candidate Shows Same Ratio of Gain as Heretofore, Unbiased Lawyers Declare It Is Impossible to Overcome Capt. Frederick's Large Majority.

In the recount of the votes for the District-Attorneyship, sixty-one out of a total 402 precincts have been scanned by the Superior Court, so far. The present legal gain of Woolwine is apparently 321 votes as compared with the count at the November election. If he makes gains in the remaining precincts, unprejudiced attorneys declare that the young Goo-Good candidate has little chance to win over Capt. Frederick's more than 2400 majority.

Woolwine's supporters state he has shown a total gain of 368 votes so far, but the number includes forty-seven not yet passed upon by the court.

Chief Deputy Ford is taking his legal exceptions to the alleged Woolwine count and it is possible that the present controversy instigated by Woolwine's zealous friends, will be carried to the Supreme Court. There are evidences that the votes have been juggled in the clerk's office.

As the result of the count yesterday, the ballots in precincts fifty-five, fifty-seven, fifty-eight, fifty - nine, sixty and sixty-one were passed upon by Judge Murphy and the committee in charge of the work. There was objection on the part of W. J. Ford, representing Capt. Fredericks, to the count of precinct fifty-six, for the reason that the package showed that the ballots had probably been tampered with, and the matter will be taken up later.

The changes as reported in precinct Fifty-eight, where Fredericks lost 18 votes, and Woolwine gained 21 votes, were objected to by Ford, as well as the figures in precinct sixty-one where Fredericks lost 23 votes and Woolwine gained 32 votes. The total gain of the day for Woolwine was 113 votes, which with the 255 that he had gained in the previous count made the aggregate gain for Woolwine 368 votes.

But this of course, includes 47 votes given to Woolwine early in the count, in regard to which the court has not yet given a decision.

In precinct fifty-five yesterday, Fredericks lost one vote, and Woolwine gained 3; in fty-seven, Fredericks lost 4 votes, and Woolwine gained 11; in precinct sixty, Woolwine gained four votes.

In every precinct where the gains and losses are small, no objection has been made in behalf of Capt. Fredericks. Where the large gains are temporarily counted for Woolwine strenuous objections have been made in behalf of Fredericks, and will form the basis of a possible appeal. It is notable that in precincts where the greatest Woolwine gains are recorded, the packages of votes indicate clearly that some had the handling of them other than the election officers. This feature of the case will be the subject of a searching inquiry.

Arizona Man Tells Local Police That After Drinking With San Francisco Stranger, He Loses Cash.

Robbed of a $2000 draft and $10 in cash, in San Francisco, and then placed aboard a Southern Pacific train for Los Angeles while under the influence of some drug, was the story told by Rudlin Tempe,, Ariz., at the Police Station, yesterday afternoon.

Rudlin recited what had transpired in San Francisco Tuesday night. The police have wired a description of a man with whom Rudlin was drinking, to the San Francisco police. They may recognize the man from the description and arrest him.

Francisco he walked about the city. He met a man who, he believes, robbed him.

"I was invited into a saloon to have a drink," Rudlin said. "I only drank one small glass of beer. I felt queer almost instantly and lost consciousness. When I woke up I was on the train. The conductor aroused me to get my ticket. When I searched through my pockets I found it, but all my valuables were gone.

THIRD LABORITE NOW ON TRIAL.

HOFFMAN TELLS JURY OF BRUTAL ASSAULT ON HIM.

Pickets and Labor Agitators Crowd Courtroom and Are Unruly When "Curley" Grow Is Tried for Participating in Attempt to Cripple Free Worker.

The trial of "Curley" Grow, labor-union agitator, known to the police of almost every city where industrial disturbances have occurred, who is charged with having assaulted Edward C. Hoffman with a deadly weapon on the night of December 19, near the latter's home at Latin Station, commenced yesterday afternoon in Judge McCormick's courtroom.

Long before the time set for the trial the visitors' seats were crowded with pickets and other unionites, over a hundred being present. Several times the efforts of the bailiff were necessary to maintain order among them.

Hoffman was the first witness called by the prosecution. He described how he was waylaid within a block of his home and beaten into insensibility.

"I was just coming around the corner," said he, "when I was struck a powerful blow and rendered unconscious. I did not see who struck me, or how it was done. The first thing I remember after coming to my senses was that I was being cared for by Michael Ryan, a groceryman near my home. He was washing the blood from my face, and attending to my wounds."

"My head was gashed in several places, and my hands and arms covered with welts."

The second witness was Dr. T. C. Robinson, who resides at No. 6120 Compton avenue, and attended Hoffman shortly after the assault. "The victim was beaten over the head with some blunt-edged instrument," he said. "Hoffman had an ugly gash near the crown of the head, another over the right eye, and another over the left eye. He also had a number of minor bruises and abrasions about the head and arms."

Grow's attorney opposed any and all reference being made to labor unions, and the efforts of labor-union agitators to induce Hoffman to join the metals traden strike prior to the commission of the assault. The court, however, ruled in favor of the prosecution, and admitted most of the evidence showing that the plot to assault Hoffman was concocted because he refused to desert his employers and join the strikers.

Grow is the third to be tried for the brutal assault upon Hoffman. Two of the agitator's confreres, Charles F. Stevens and Claude Mars, have been sentenced for their participation in the crime. Mars, owing to his remote connection with the case, was permitted to plead guilty to a misdemeanor, and given ninety days in the City Jail. Stevens was given two years in San Quentin. An effort was made several days ago to have Stevens admitted to probation, but it failed.

CASE DRAWING TO A CLOSE.

Defense Calls Three Witnesses Who Testify to Bell's Mental Condition During His Trouble.

The murder trial of Frank M. Bell is gradually drawing to a close. Shortly before adjournment yesterday afternoon Attorney Appel announced to the court that the defense would possibly rest its case tomorrow. Three witnesses were called yesterday.

Mrs. E. M. Bell, mother of the prisoner, was recalled, but before she had testified ten minutes, she asked permission to be excused. Mrs. Bell has been suffering for several days from sore throat. She was followed by Attorney John C. Flemming, who added to the reams of testimony already admitted concerning Bell's alleged irrational nature due to his domestic troubles. He read several letters that he had received from Bell written during the latter's troubles.

A letter from Bell to his mother immediately after the birth of his girl, drew from the prisoner a flood of tears and sympathy from the jurors and auditors. He wrote of his wife and baby in the most endearing terms, painting a picture of the happiness of himself and wife over their first born.

Arthur Sanger, brother-in-law of Bell, was called principally to show that, owing to his height, he could not have been one of the men alleged to have assaulted Bell in his Hollywood shack. According to the witnesses for the defense, the two men seen near the Bell shack were short and stout Sanger is 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighs about 130 pounds. The trial will resume this afternoon at two o'clock. After Mrs. E. M. Bell is heard, the mental experts for the defense will be called.

UNIVERSITY LOCATION.

There will be a meeting of the North, Northeast and Northwest Improvement Association at the Chamber of Commerce committee rooms this afternoon. Dr. J. P. Widney will speak on the contemplated location of a State University in Elysian Park. Owing to another appointment a half hour later his address will begin at 3:30 o'clock sharp.

John Sears, a negro, was convicted of murder in the first degree in Trenton, N. J. yesterday for the killing of Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Armstrong, at Dutch Neck, on the night before last Thanksgiving day. Death sentence was pronounced.

6% No Fluctuation

The man or woman who has money invested in our $100 Certificates has no worry about the securities market, or the fluctuation of the value of their investment.

The fact that our $100 Certificates are worth $100 every day of the year—that after one year's time you may withdraw all money invested with interest; that you do not have to find a buyer for your investment, and perhaps take a loss; that the security is absolute, being safeguarded by rigid State Laws, a special Guarantee Capital of $100.000, and over $3,000,000 of assets; and that your money earns the liberal rate of six per cent. interest—these facts make our $100 Certificates a most attractive investment.

It does not take a financier to understand, or keep well informed regarding an investment of this kind. You know at all times what your investment is worth, what it is earning, and what the security.

Six per cent. paid on your idle money and on your monthly savings.

ditional Equipment Now Made Necessary.

nta Maria Field, as Whole, Never Looked Better.

eneral News of Interest from Oil Fields.

The Palmer Oil Company, in the Santa Maria field, is rushing to completion new battery of boilers to better handle the big output of the company, and enormous flow that is daily expected from No. 4 well. The gas pressure in this well is now nearly 500 pounds and must be turned loose soon, as it is nearing the danger point.

No. 4 is looked upon by most oil men familiar with the Santa Maria field as the most promising well so far drilled in that territory, and with its great depth of oil sand and high saturation should maintain a production of several thousand barrels for at least two or three years. While there has been no strife in the Palmer's official family, the property has been developed rapidly and if all the wells were completed loose at once the production would probably rank third of all the companies in the State.

The Palmer Annex Oil Company will start its No. 2 this week with tenders at a depth of 2150 feet, and the derrick, adjoining the Annex, will also have a job of cementing. The Sumner to the north cemented its ten-inch casing above the oil sands last week. The Palmer Union No. 1 is nearing completion, and No. 2 will probably reach the oil sands during this month. The Brooks Oil Company, on the east, is now delivering oil through its own pipeline to Sisquoc, the end of the Pacific Coast Company, and from there shipping in tank cars to the company's refinery.

Taken as a whole, the Santa Maria field has never looked better than it does at present, and it is attracting the attention of eastern investors as well as those from the interior of the State.

BIG OFFER IS RECEIVED.

DEVIL'S DEN HOLDINGS.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

SALIA, Jan. 21.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Devil's Den Development Company held in this city today, it was announced by the directorate that offers for part of the company's holdings, including about 160 acres, have been made by an Oakland syndicate. It is said to be a syndicate headed by a well-known California operator and that the price offered is nearly $1000 per acre.

This company was organized in the early nineties, when the Devil's Den field first came into prominence. Since the company has done only a small amount of development work, it has at last secured nearly a half section of patented land, all of which is in what is considered to be proven territory. The following were chosen as directors for the coming year: A. D. Cox, Charles Togni, H. D. Switzer, H. T. Mills of Visalia; E. L. Snell of San Francisco and B. L. Barney of Oxford. After the stockholders' meeting the directors chose the following officers: A. D. Sweet, president; B. L. Barney, vice-president; A. H. Murray, secretary, and C. J. Giddings, treasurer.

The bulk of a large block of the stock of the company is held by bay capitalists, although the control is in the hands of Visalians, those of this city interested in the company beside those named upon the directorate being Judge W. B. Maddox, C. A. Van Loan, Otto Tunze, Farnsworth, A. Tevis and A. B.

INCREASED OIL SALES.

FUTURE LOOKS BRIGHT.

The sales of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency were greater by 200,000 barrels in December than in November. This increase was due largely to new contracts and to the general enlargement of the demand for California oil.

Already well-informed oil men are saying that in March the consumption of oil will equal the production. If this should come to pass it is probable that there will be an era of new development that has seldom been seen in this State. Operators are generally agreed upon the proposition that for the sake of upholding the market there should not be less than 25,000,000 barrels of oil on hand at all time. Oil stocks that will insure an adequate supply at all times are necessary if new industries are to be built on the expensive oil burning machine.

CANNING DEVELOPMENT.

IN SHALLOW TERRITORY.

Work being closed down since the first of December, the Rio Oil Company, operating on the northeast quarter of section 3, 11-24, will resume work February 15. Its well is down 1000 feet, and it is expected that it will be put down 1060 feet further. The last showing of oil was found at 1000 feet, but it was not in paying quantities.

The Genesee, on the west half of the same section, is planning an extensive drilling campaign. The Phoenix Incorporate, on the southwest quarter of the same section, will also begin operations at once. This land lies in what is known as the shallow well district, the Boston Pacific having several good wells on the adjoining section.

L. T. O. GETS NEW WELL.

OTHERS ARE AFTER OIL.

The L. T. O. Oil Company has started in a new well to offset the well now drilling of the Dawson Oil Company, which came in yesterday and spouted over the derrick for some time before sanding up. The Dawson is now 2765 feet, having made this record in exactly thirty days.

Mr. Sallier of the Dawson company, who has just returned from the east, reports that the Midway Northern had closed a contract with the Standard for its entire output for two years at 45 cents a barrel.

Has Another Good Well.

Local officials of the Merchants' and Producers' Oil Company have received word from Superintendent Tyler to the effect that the company's No. 4 is now on the pump and that it is as good as the three other wells, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are all good producers, equaling those of the Bosqueboutroteum immediately southeast of the seventy-five barrels a day. No. 4 is worth of the other three wells, and is about midway of the quarter

INVITES PUBLIC TO SEE HOME.

MISS WHITE PROPOSES TO KEEP INSTITUTION OPEN.

Says the Establishment Is a Private Charity Run for the Benefit of the Public—Declares That She Has Nothing to Fear from the Closest Scrutiny.

Miss Belle White will not close her home at Sixth and Mateo streets to the thirty happy and healthy little children, who now reside with her because the Associated Charities wishes her to, nor does she shrink from public scrutiny. These statements she made yesterday after reading in The Times the gist of a report derogatory whose institution has been attacked by the Associated Charities, and who will receive the public Saturday night.

Miss Belle White,

to the Belle White Home made to a local social conference by a committee from the Associated Charities and other organizations.

"Mine is a private charity," said Miss White, "but it is for the benefit of the public. It has been running five years and I hope that it will not die with me. I started the work because there was a place for it and I know that when I cannot carry it any longer others will take it up. I think the best way to answer the charges made against my house is to simply open the portals of my home and say to the public, 'come and see.'

"There is no occasion for those who are interested in this work to accept the word of others about us. It is such a simple and easy thing for those who give the matter any attention whatever to come and see for themselves. I especially invite the public to come down Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. I will keep open house that evening for the benefit of all who may care to investigate the Belle White Home.

"We are not asking the Associated Charities for any money, but our doors are open to the members of that society as well as to all others. We have nothing to fear from the most searching investigation nor from the widest publicity.

"J. Ross Clark furnishes our institution with sugar, John R. Newberry supplies us with bread, Rivers Brothers give us quantities of vegetables every day, Dean's Drug store gives us assistance and George Ralph makes us liberal donations of groceries. Wiley J. Phillips, editor of the California Voice, Rev. C. C. Pierce and Rev. A. Graves often confer with us, giving us their time and assistance in planning for the work.

"It is unlikely that such men would take an active interest in an institution which was not doing a good work or which was lacking in moral tone. I certainly hope that all who are interested will not fail to come to see us Saturday evening. I am sure that I can show them thirty healthy and happy children, despite the fact that a member of the Associated Charities was greatly shocked to find a 10-year-old boy whose hands were actually soiled."

Entered at the Postoffice as mail matter of Class II.

AS USUAL.

Open the doors of Los Angeles to the Tacoma, Seattle and Portland tourists. Take off your overcoats and wraps and bask in the sunlight of glorious California. How fine it must seem to you, gentlemen of the mists!

EASY OF ENFORCEMENT.

We note that Mrs. Calvin N. Gabriel, a distinguished suffragist of Maryland, is in favor of a rule prohibiting any man from kissing a suffragette, or words to that effect. We take it that the rule will be easy of enforcement. If any man dares to kiss a suffragette, shoot him on the spot; which spot we do not desire to take the trouble to indicate, but shoot him anyway.

THE GOULD-DECIES AFFAIR.

Although we have not been invited to the wedding of Miss Vivien Gould to the distinguished Irish nobleman, Lord Decies, we still desire to present our distinguished consideration and best wishes to the happy people on the eve of their nuptials. May the skin of a gooseberry be large enough to make an umbrella for all their enemies.

SAVE THE LARK.

Every one who lives near the green fields on the outskirts of Los Angeles will oppose the bill pending in the Assembly removing the meadow lark from the list of protected birds. The song of the meadow lark is concentrated music, and the yellow-breasted bird's trills have it on Tetrazzini or Caruso in every way. He is the Southland's foremost tenor, and does more good than mischief.

COMPETENT JUDGES.

For several days women who belong to the smart set of Paris have been casting straw votes on popular styles of women's gowns. We begin to see the real significance of the straw vote, and we also freely admit that in some cases women make the best judges. However, we cannot help suggesting that a woman's judgment on a street gown or on children's teething would perhaps be more appropriate than her opinion on railroad legislation.

THE STRICKEN YELLOW BROTHER.

It makes the heart ache with pity to read the accounts of the awful ravishment of the plague in China. That we are living here in a sunny land of light and beauty, health and plenty, is perhaps all the more reason why we should turn with sympathizing thoughts to our fellow human beings of China whom the gods afflict so cruelly. It seems that the incense of the punk sticks which they burn in the temples of the Joss are ineffective and unavailing. Might it not be well for the Christian people to supplicate the Christians' God to lift the curse that lies heavy on our yellow brother?

SUCCESSFUL CHARITY.

That the work of caring for orphan and dependent children in Los Angeles is practically overdone is the remarkable statement made by the Associated Charities. This organization asserts that it is prepared to care for all cases of need among little people which may be brought to the attention of the society. Its members joined the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association in a positive stand condemning a private institution on account of its unsatisfactory tone. The fact that Los Angeles has more persons willing to make cheerful contribution for the support of orphans than it has orphans to support, gives it a place unique among cities, and the effort of the Society of Associated Charities to bring all such work within a system by which the public will receive the largest and most wholesome service at the least possible expense is a subject of wide practical interest.

THE LAW'S DELAY.

We often complain, not without cause, of the law's delay, and point to the swift manner in which justice is often administered in English courts. It is true that rapidity characterizes criminal trials in England, but in civil cases, especially in chancery cases, our processes are swift in comparison with those in vogue in Great Britain. Dickens's novel of Dombey and Son with Miss Flite, who looked for a judgment at the day of judgment, did something to expedite trials in England at the time, but the reform soon lagged. A case was begun there in 1348—562 years ago—against Richard de Maundeville to determine his right to hold a market at Stowmarket, Suffolk. The suit was brought by the Abbot of Saint Asyth, Essex, when Richard the Second was King. De Maundeville was obliged to leave for the war in France, and that was good ground for a continuance. Whether he ever returned or not does not appear, but if so the trial of the cause was postponed for generations, and the descendants of Richard were permitted to sell cattle and peddle things unmolested for five and one-half centuries. After a lapse of 562 years the controversy has been renewed, the present Abbot leased the market privilege which had remained dormant for over five centuries to Mr. G. A. Woodwars. The grantee of De Maundeville's descendant renewed the action or brought the original controversy to trial, and the court decided against the Abbot's claim, and held that Woodward had no right to set up a rival market. But the case will probably go to the Court of Appeal and then to the House of Lords and, sometime next century a final decision may be had, and in the meantime C. N. Pedder and his grandchildren, who are claimants under Richard de Maundeville, will continue in the market business at the old stand.

THE RUEF CASE.

The independence of the judiciary is the bulwark of representative Republican government. When an executive—be he President, Governor or Constitutional King—crosses the threshold of the courtroom he leaves his scepter behind him. There the arrogant voice of the iconoclastic legislator is silenced. Against its doors the waves of popular clamor may roll and roar as the ocean rolls around the rock, but they cannot invade the chamber wherein Justice holds aloft her scales.

Among all the changes which insurgent Republicanism proposes, both in the substance and the form of our government, there is none so revolutionary and so fraught with possibilities of evil as the doctrine of a recall of the judiciary. It offers a premium to the judge to close his law books and frame his decisions according to the mandates of irresponsible editors of popularity-seeking newspaper publications, or the passing prejudices of an uninformed populace. It prostrates property rights at the feet of anarchic clamor, and compels the citizen to hold his liberty and his life at the caprice of the mob.

A yellow, anarchic, muck-raking, boss-ruled, evening journal, published in this city, insolently designates The Times as "a local apologist for corruption," because it defends the judges of the Supreme Court of California from the foul and slanderous accusation of being allies and defenders of thieves.

This lying charge is made upon the authority of one A. E. Boynton, who, through the negligence of the voters, has crawled into the California State Senate. He says, referring to the recent decision of the Supreme Court granting a rehearing in the Ruef case:

"When you make a farce of justice, as was done yesterday in San Francisco, it is time that we wiped out this disgrace and so amend the laws that criminals cannot continue to flaunt justice and go free."

Following this declaration of opinion of the Boynton person the gifted constitutional lawyer who acts as Sacramento correspondent of the Evening Muck-rake avers that:

"Many of the legislators at first were inclined to oppose the recall of judges, but the recent 4 to 3 decision of the State Supreme Court in the Ruef case has materially altered their point of view."

Then came a Los Angeles Senator, saying: "When the decision became known it stiffened the backs of the progressive leaders and administration supporters, and no argument now will induce us to withdraw the clause relating to the recall of judges from the bill."

"Tray, Blanche and Sweetheart"—little dogs all—ranged along the roadside yelping at the moon.

All that the Supreme Court of California did to incur this outburst of insurgent fury was to decide that Abe Ruef was, under the law, entitled to a rehearing. Such rehearing was granted because of errors committed by the prosecution at the trial. It could not have been granted for any other reason. Whether it was Frank Heney, who officiated as prosecuting officer at the trial for eight days before he was shot, or Hiram W. Johnson, who took his place, or both of them that blundered, will definitely appear when the record is made public. In the meantime it is fair to presume that Chief Justice Beatty, who for twenty-three years has presided over the Supreme Court of California, and whose learning, integrity and courage have gained for him an honored place among the great jurists of the country, and Associate Justices Henshaw, Lorrigan and Melvin, did not grant the rehearing because they were friends and allies of a thief, but because they would have failed of their sworn duty if they had acted otherwise. It may also be presumed that these judges know as much law as either Heney or Johnson, or both of them combined.

Once before Chief Justice Beatty was the recipient of a torrent of abuse because the Supreme Court set aside the conviction of Mayor Eugene Schmitz.

Schmitz, it will be remembered, was convicted of having accepted a bribe for granting a license to a San Francisco restaurant-keeper. The offense was a purely statutory one, and the gist of it was that in issuing the license he acted as Mayor. If as attorney or as a private individual he had, for a fee, influenced its issuance, no offense would have been committed.

The indictment or information on which Schmitz was arraigned was defective in that it did not state that Schmitz was Mayor or that he granted the license as such. If this had been alleged it is possible that at the trial the court might have taken judicial notice of Schmitz's official position, and dispensed with proof upon that point. The muck-raking press asserted that the Supreme Court decided that for failure of the judge below to take such notice and instruct the jury accordingly Schmitz must go free. Such was not the decision of the Supreme Court. It set aside the judgment of conviction of Schmitz solely on the ground that the accusation did not state a public offense, because it did not state that Schmitz was Mayor, or that he acted as Mayor in granting the license.

Heney prosecuted the case and crowned himself with an aureole when the jury brought in a verdict of guilty. If Heney drew the faulty accusation he was guilty either of inexcusable ignorance or equally inexcusable negligence. If he did not draw it he should have discovered the omission when the accusation was read to the jury, and at once moved for a nolle pros. and a resubmission of the case. He did neither, and as a result, after an expenditure of thousands or tens of thousands of dollars to obtain Schmitz's conviction—the fiddler went free.

The Times was justified, from Heney's record, in stating that the rehearing of Ruef was the offspring of his ignorance. If it was mistaken and it was really the offspring of the ignorance or carelessness of Johnson, why, then the Evening Muck-rake is right in saying that to Governor Johnson "belongs all the responsibility and all the credit" of the fiasco.

It is unnecessary to say that The Times has no sympathy with Abe Ruef, and that it hopes that at his retrial he may be legally convicted and receive that long sojourn in the penitentiary to which he is entitled. But The Times believes that he, as well as all others accused of crime, should be properly and decently prosecuted by a lawyer who comprehends the law and the duties and responsibilities of the position of a prosecuting officer, and that neither Ruef's trial nor the trial of any other person accused of crime should be seized by a legal blatherskite as an opportunity to make a grand display from the hand stand.

Will Have to Grow Some.

opinion that the Justices of the Supreme Court are able lawyers of stainless integrity, and that neither Frank Heney nor Hiram W. Johnson—Governor though he be—occupy any position as lawyers that entitle them to criticise and condemn either the learning or the integrity of the Justices of the Supreme Court of California.

PASSING OF THE POET.

This is a utilitarian and not a poetical age. Joaquin Miller has written nothing since 1892 so good as his "Columbus," and Rudyard Kipling's "Careless Beggar," written ten years ago, has not been followed by any verses of equal merit from his pen.

The singers of the olden time seem to have no successors. There is no Byron, no Moore, no Burns, no Tennyson, no Shelley and no Campbell in England now. There is no Longfellow, no Bryant, no Holmes, no Whittier, no Lowell and no Bayard Taylor in America.

It is strange that the Civil War did not elicit from the poets of that day any great battle lyrics. With the exception of some dialect verses by Lowell, and of Julia Ward Howe's Battle Hymn, there was no poem given to the world that in any degree depicted the great sacrificing patriotic heart of the nation fifty years ago.

And what sublimer subject for a mighty epic did history ever afford? The siege of Troy which Homer immortalized was child's play compared with our great struggle. A nation rising like Anteus from the embrace of the earth, refreshed rather than dismayed by every disaster—a nation soaring superior to its own prejudices and above its own baser passions—a nation blood-bespattered but clasping liberty the closer for the assaults made upon her by the foe—such was the subject for an epic which our country presented to the ages.

Froissart relates how a Scottish Earl of Douglas carried about his neck in a silver casket the heart of his dead King, and how, when going into battle, he would, in the presence of his army, cast this casket into the very thickest of the enemy and exclaim, "Go forward, heart of Bruce, thy sons will follow thee." So, in the midst of our civil conflict the casket containing the eternal principles upon which this government was established was fearlessly cast forward, and the people never failed to follow it. Before the Civil War European writers often characterized our government as a weak one. It proved itself to be the strongest government in the world. It rested upon the intelligence and love of liberty and of order of the people. No marvel that when Sumter's guns flashed out the summons the solid hills shook with the clangor of the great uprising. No marvel tha. from icebound Maine to golden California the spirit of national preservation and love of freedom sprang to its feet from every busy city and every farm, and, with the war cry upon its lips marshaled a million men to the defense of their country. No marvel that even against our southern brethren of equal valor and equal devotion to a cause which they believed to be right, our legions hewed a path for the Mississippi in which it could flow unvexed to the sea. No marvel that Atlanta and Savannah and Charleston yielded to the bronzed warriors of Sherman, that Sheridan and his horsemen rode unchecked up and down the valley of the Shenandoah, and that Grant at last crushed the empty shell of the rebellion in his iron hand.

And yet no great historic poem was written, no master hand struck the lyre. Maybe now .nat time has dissipated the acerbities of the conflict the mighty epic will be written.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.

I longed for wild adventure. "My life's too flat," I said. My next door neighbor heard me, and kindly punched my head. My eyes are black and swollen, a lump is on my brow. At first I felt resentful, but I'm not angry now. I'm sitting in the gloaming, a poultice on my face, and now I bless my neighbor, who punched with skill and grace. For I have lost the yearning for war and deadly strife, and I am quite contented to lead the simple life. We read of knights and barons who rode on prancing steeds, and rescued weeping maidens, and did all kinds of deeds; we read about their jousting with ringing battle cries, but not about the beefsteak upon their blackened eyes. We read of lion slayers who do heroic stunts, and all about the trophies they bring back from their hunts; but on the shining pages no gifted hunter writes about his weird adventures with ant and chigger bites. We read of brave Horatius and how he whipped a crowd; but when, a mass of bruises, he wept and groaned aloud, when busy Roman matrons put plasters on his neck, there was no poet handy to sing about the wreck. I'm cured of all my sighing for brave and knightly deeds; I'd rather sit in comfort and smoke my two-fer weeds.

CLEAN THE TREASURY SLATE.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

In his last report the Secretary of the Treasury shows that the total given of our outstanding public debt includes the following old obligations which are not at all likely ever to be presented for payment,—probably all destroyed in some way:

Old debt (some very old items)	$151,635
Texan Indemnity Stock	20,000
Loan of 1858	2,000
Loan of February, 1861	5,000
Treasury Notes of 1861	2,300
Oregon War Debt	2,250
Loan of July and August, 1861	16,650
Old Demand Notes, 1861 and 1862	53,232
Seven-Thirties of 1861	9,350
Five-Twenty s of 1862	108,250
Temporary Loan, 1862	2,850
Certificates of Indebtedness, 1862 and 1863	3,000
Fractional Currency	6,858,822
Loan of 1863	3,200
One-Year Notes of 1863	30,370
Two Year Notes of 1863	26,850
Compound-Interest Notes, 1863 and 1864	159,430
Ten-Forties of 1864	16,650
Five-Twenties of 1864	14,000
Seven-Thirties of 1864 and 1865	120,300
Five-Twenties of 1865	19,850
Consols of 1865	59,550
Consols of 1867	94,300
Three per cent. certificates, 1867 and 1868	5,000

Inasmuch as the youngest of these items is forty-three years old and as most of them are reminders o. painful days (Civil War) that are best forgotten, why not clean the Treasury slate by wr..ar them off pending improbable presentation in favor of our Treasury "daily available cash balance," or of some elastic fund.

How to Store a Watch.

Beekman Winthrop, assistant Secretary of the Navy, is a great pedestrian, but he tells a story to show that once, at least, Theodore Roosevelt led him a foot chase which he did not relish.

It was a cold, rainy day in March, and Roosevelt, then President, was out on one of his famous "hikes." He and Winthrop came to Rock Creek, just outside of Washington, and Roosevelt waded in to get across, the water rising to his armpits.

Winthrop took a few steps in the icy flood, but suddenly stopped and held up his watch.

"What shall I do with my watch?" he called out to the President. "This water will injure it."

"Swallow it," said Roosevelt quickly over his shoulder, and continued his trip to the opposite bank.—[Popular Magazine.

Life's Perfect Duties.

Gentleness and cheerfulness, these come before all morality; they are the perfect duties. If your morals make you dreary, depend upon it they are wrong. I do not say "give them up," for they may be all you have, but conceal them like a vice, lest they should spoil the lives of better and simpler people.—[Robert Louis Stevenson.

LVI.

The Man With the Rope.

There was a time, strange as it may seem, and not a century ago, at that, when that noble animal, the horse, was the most valuable piece of property in California. A man was perhaps the least considered bit of live stock in the young State at that time. Not only in California but in all this western country. It was called "The Great West," at that recent-remote period. "The Staked Plain" was something real—not real estate, as it now is. The "great American desert" was splashed across the map in lurid yellow. The few inhabitants of this mysterious land, from the spot where Denver was not, on to the shores of the western sea that always was, were centaurs. The pony express was the airship; the stage coach was the limited passenger express; the ox team was the fast freight, preferable to the mule because the ox was considered more edible, although less amenable to the encouragement or reproof of vivid and involuntary profanity, more or less picturesque and uncopyrighted. A plaza hack was the automobile of the time.

Unwritten etiquette of the day expected a gentleman who carved another gentleman into anatomical ribbons during a dispute as to the relative values of a full and fours, so to speak, or who perforated a friend with a Colt's until he resembled a human porous plaster in the course of the adjustment of some delicate questions of priority in the location of a mining claim, to see that the sliced or perforated was decently interred with some mark of civilized respect for the dead, at the sole expense of the perforator. This duty to society being performed, the incident was closed, and it was considered bad form to refer to it in mixed company.

But when a gentleman, being low in funds, sought to relieve the financial strain by abducting another gentleman's horse—pronounced "hoss"—with a view to hypothecating the same in some remote neighborhood, the countryside rose as a posse of many men and one rope. The rope was to be used in case the time and the passing sentiment permitted a formal trial of five or ten minutes in the informal court of Judge Lynch—very few of whose decisions were ever reviewed, reversed or remanded—a thing incredible in the present State of California. In that case, out of respect to the Christian forms of the laws of the highest and most refined civilization on earth, the assimilator of the horse would be slowly strangled to death. But in the majority of cases, the time of the citizens being as valuable as it was limited, the condemned was allowed a moment for confessional and silent prayer, and shot full of "large, irregular holes" as he was kneeling down.

This made the industry of horse-stealing trebly exciting and aroused the interest of the entire community. First, the stealing, second, the pursuit; third, the capture. "And did not the hanging or shooting make the fourth?" Bless you, simple one, this was forty or fifty years ago. The capture and the hanging were synonymous, and the hanging was far more the synonymous of the two. Now the things synonymous in the history of crime and the criminal in California are the capture and acquittal. That is, when there is any capture. That may be sometimes omitted. The acquittal, never.

Because of the conditions of quick detection, rapid pursuit, and prompt execution, the horse-stealing industry gradually languished. When an operator met with a little reverse in his business he immediately went into involuntary and permanent bankruptcy, leaving his successor no capital with which to make a new start. Every new captain of that industry had to start from the bottom and work up, and the highest he could ever hope to get was not over five or six feet from the ground, except in those rare cases where a bridge was handier than a tree, when the suspension was sometimes announced twenty-five or thirty feet above the creek.

But in place of horse-stealing, there has arisen a new industry in the transportation interests. Where the fathers stole horses, the sons skip with automobiles. And they appear to be far more successful than were their fathers. The thefts are more numerous. They are made more boldly. The coveted machine is taken before the owner's door; in front of theaters and hotels in the glare of electric lights and before the eyes of the passing throngs. The theft is performed in the most business-like manner. No man ever cranks a machine without an audience—not an idly curious, but an intensely interested one. A little group stands around and watches the thief commit the deed. When some hours later the discovery is made that a crime was committed the witnesses recall with pleasant interest that they were standing right there and saw it all. It is a story for many a luncheon and many a fireside.

It may be an unjust suggestion, but may it not be possible that ofttimes, when an honest citizen, a bank director, a Sunday-school superintendent, a school teacher is making his machine ready for the start home from theater, convention, or conference, that the group of citizens watching him so intently, are suspicious that he is an automobile thief, making a swift get-away with another man's property? And as he chugs away, they smile at each other knowingly, as who would say, "Cool hand, isn't he?"

Now this industry flourishes because there is a lack of hearty co-operation among automobile owners in suppressing it. If, whenever the word goes out that somebody's auto has disappeared, and the once happy owner has been harshly and cruelly reduced from the steering wheel or his luxurious fauteuil in the tonneau to the humiliation of a trolley suicide, hanging himself from the pendant strap, all auto owners would rush out with their machines, and unite to run down the limit-breaking thief, we would soon note a decline in this class of thievery.

Then the thief being captured, volunteers might be called for. Only those drivers who had made records with human beings, of course, would be accepted. Hanging is too revolting to be thought of among people who own and drive machines. And shooting is too apt to result in serious and fatal injuries to the innocent spectators, to be considered.

The prisoner might be placed in the middle of the road, and the crack baby catchers stationed far enough away to gather full speed. When within a fair distance of the culprit, the prisoner should be released at the official "honk" of the starter, and if he could get across the road in safety, he would be entitled to a second trial, with a shorter start for a longer distance.

Or, a good game, and rather more exciting, would be to mark out a measured course of say two hundred feet straightaway down the road and the prisoner could be compelled to run for it, not being allowed to leave the road, but with full liberty to dodge and duck to the best of his ability. In this case also, if the speeders didn't catch him the first time, the prisoner should be allowed, in the name of humanity and fair play, to have a second, and if necessary, even a third trial.

Let the Automobile Club organize its Vigilance Committee. That's what stopped horse-stealing in this State.

NEW YORK PAPER SAYS MOROSCO HAS IT FOR CORT.

Belasco Company Will Revive "The Liars" Next Week, With Several New Players Making First Appearances — "Campus" and "Fox" Will Continue, as Usual.

What will become of the present Orpheum theater building after the Orpheum moves to its sumptuous palace on South Broadway?

This question has been asked a great many times, and the guessers have answered it almost as many times as it has been asked. Their answers for the most part have been as far apart as the tales of Cook and Peary—but they have answered, anyway.

A New York paper, which has some inside ways of obtaining considerable theatrical information, has just published a statement which asserts that the building will pass into the hands of Oliver Morosco, to be used for the "dollar shows" of the Shubert faction, represented in the West by Cort. Mr. Morosco seemed somewhat amused at seeing this, yesterday, and would neither deny nor affirm that he intended using the structure for a theatrical purpose.

The visit of John Cort, who will arrive the latter part of this week, should shed some light on this question.

This probably will be the last week of "The Lottery Man," only seven more performances remaining at the Belasco theater, where for the past three weeks the farce has kept audiences laughing. On next Monday night Lewis S. Stone, who has been absent from the cast, and the others of the Belasco company, will be seen in a production of Henry Arthur Jones's brilliant comedy, "The Liars."

The opening on Monday night will be of twofold interest for it will serve to introduce to the Belasco audiences four new members of that organization. These new players will be Robert Hayden, who will be seen as Gilbert Neville; Hugh Dillman, who will have the role of George Nepean, and William Gerard, the new director of the Belasco company, who will make his first appearance as Ned Faulkner. Roberta Arnold, the new ingenue of the Belasco company, will also make her first appearance in a role which will allow her unusually fine opportunities.

"The Liars" was one of the biggest comedy hits in which John Drew ever appeared and it is one of the best comedies from the pen of Henry Arthur Jones. The production in every detail will be well up to the high Belasco standard and the three weeks of repertoire which the run of "The Lottery Man" has allowed promise a perfect presentation on Monday night.

"The Campus" will enter upon the fourth week of its surprisingly long run at the Grand, Sunday afternoon. The attendance at this musical play has been in nothing less than phenomenal, with a constant line of ticket buyers always to be seen in front of the office. Although several new productions have been made on the local stages this season, the long run of "The Campus" brands it the biggest success that has yet been produced and there is every evidence that this piece will establish a record that will not be easily broken. Ferris Hartman, Walter Leon, "Muggins" Davies, Bob Leonard, Myrtle Dingwell, Josie Hart, Oliver Lenoir, Joseph Fogarty and the other principals of the company continue in the roles in which they have won individual success.

On the occasion of the fiftieth consecutive performance of the play, Saturday afternoon, the management will present to those in attendance cane nants as souvenirs of the event. Seats for the sixth week of "The Campus" will go on sale this morning.

"The Fox" will go into its fourth week at the Burbank Theater on Sunday. Just how long "The Fox" will reap "Is Matrimony a Failure?" off the lobby boards in an interesting question. The Burbank manager obtained the piece from David Belasco on condition that he present it immediately, but as Belasco has signified his willingness to wait until Mr. Arthur's play has been sufficiently enjoyed — and that's chivalrous, for Mr. Belasco and Mr. Arthur, for many years extremely close business associates, no longer speak as they meet at the free lunch counter.

Seats will be placed on sale this morning at the Bartlett music house for the Josef Hofmann piano recitals to be given in Simpson Auditorium next Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Hofmann will come as the great artist on the Philharmonic course.

For the first time on any stage, Lillian Burkhart and her company will present at the Orpheum next week a one fantasy-sketch by Ruth Comfort Mitchell of this city, entitled "Steering Through Life." This sketch is different from anything ever done here; it has been declared by Manager Clarence Drown and he affirms that it is unique and unusual. A specially-selected cast will

Belasco Company Will Revive "The Liars" Next Week, With Several New Players Making First Appearances — "Campus" and "Fox" Will Continue, as Usual.

What will become of the present Orpheum theater building after the Orpheum moves to its sumptuous palace on South Broadway?

This question has been asked a great many times, and the guessers have answered it almost as many times as it has been asked. Their answers for the most part have been as far apart as the tales of Cook and Peary—if they have answered, anyway.

A New York paper, which has some inside ways of obtaining considerable theatrical information, has just published a statement which asserts that the building will pass into the hands of Oliver Morosco, to be used for the "dollar shows" of the Shubert faction, represented in the West by Cort. Mr. Morosco seemed somewhat surprised at seeing this, yesterday, and would neither deny nor affirm that he intended using the structure for a theatrical purpose.

The visit of John Cort, who will arrive the latter part of this week, should shed some light on this question.

This probably will be the last week of "The Lottery Man," only seven more performances remaining at the Belasco theater, where for the past three weeks its fare has kept audiences laughing. On next Monday night Lewis S. Stone, who has been absent from the cast, and the others of the Belasco company, will be seen in a production of Henry Arthur Jones's brilliant comedy, "The Liars."

The opening on Monday night will be of twofold interest for it will serve to introduce to the Belasco audiences four new members of that organization. The new players will be Robert Hayden, who will be seen as Gilbert Nesbit; Hugh Dillman, who will have the role of George Nepean, and William Bernard, the new director of the Belasco company, who will make his first appearance as Ned Faulkner. Roberta Arnold, the new ingenue of the Belasco company, will also make her first appearance in a role which will allow unusually fine opportunities.

"The Liars" was one of the biggest money hits in which John Drew ever appeared and it is one of the best comedies from the pen of Henry Arthur Jones. The production in every detail will be well up to the high Belasco standard and the three weeks of respite which the run of "The Liars" has allowed promise a perfect presentation on Monday night.

"The Campus" will enter upon the fifth week of its surprisingly long run at the Grand, Sunday afternoon. The attendance at this musical play has been nothing less than phenomenal, with a constant line of ticket buyers always to be seen in front of the box office.

Although several new productions have been made on the local stages this season, the long run of "The Campus" brands it the biggest success that has yet been produced and there is every evidence that this piece will make a record that will not be easily broken. Ferris Hartman, Walter Lawrence, "Muggins" Davies, Bob Leonard, Myrtle Dingwell, Josie Hart, Olive Proctor, Joseph Fogarty and the other principals of the company continue in the roles in which they have won individual success.

On the occasion of the fiftieth consecutive performance of the play, Saturday afternoon, the management will present to those in attendance cane canes as souvenirs of the event. The cane for the sixth week of "The Campus" will go on sale this morning.

"The Fox" will go into its fourth week at the Burbank Theater on Sunday. Just how long "The Fox" will keep on Matrimony a Failure?" off the local boards is an interesting question. The Burbank manager obtained the piece from David Belasco on condition that he present it immediately, but Belasco has signified his willingness to wait until Mr Arthur's play has been sufficiently enjoyed — and Belasco chuckles, for Mr. Belasco and Arthur, for many years extremely close business associates, no longer appear as they meet at the free lunch counter.

Seats will be placed on sale this morning at the Bartlett music house for the Josef Hofmann piano recitals to be given in Simpson Auditorium next Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon. Hofmann will come as the soloist with the Philharmonic orchestra.

For the first time on any stage, Lillian Russell and her company will appear at the Orpheum next week a one-act sketch by Ruth Comfort Mitchell of this city, entitled "Steerage." The sketch is different from anything that has been seen here; it has been staged and the three weeks of rehearsal which the run of "The Lottery Man" has allowed Clarence Drown and Miss Russell think it is unique and unusually attractive cast will the order that it should be done but that the information will not be made public until the proper time arrives. When he is ready, he said, there will be some startling disclosures. As to the justice of holding up the Gamewell warrants, he said:

"There are now in use 317 fire alarm boxes which cost the city $37,275. The same number of boxes of the Cregier make now in use in the University district would have cost the city $21,239 or a saving of $16,036. There are 131 Gamewell police boxes now in use, some of which are not paid for, but which if paid for would cost $19,650. The same number of Cregier boxes would cost $8515, a saving of $11,135. The total saving to the city on both police and fire alarm boxes would be $27,171."

The supply committee took the matter under advisement.

TALK BY PEACE SECRETARY.

Root Will Discuss Live Subject Before the Why Club of the Young Men's Christian Association Tonight.

Robert C. Root, secretary of the Southern California Peace Society, will deliver an address tonight before the 'Why Club" of the Young Men's Christian Association. He will speak on the topic: Resolved, That the Time Will Come When All Nations are Bound by the Peace Tribunal," and the address will be followed by a discussion. The membership of 100, now on the club rolls, includes many of the strong young business and professional men of the city, the present officers being as follows: President, Fred N. Arnoldy; vice-president, Russell Law; secretary, Humphrey Marshall, Jr.; treasurer, R. M. Allan. An effort is now on foot to increase the membership to 200. Every second Thursday evening, the club holds a legislative session, when members may present bills and resolutions for discussion.

Pay Us a Dollar--- We'll Make You a Skirt

What woman will "fuss around" with home tailoring when she sees this offer from so reliable a source?

For as little as a dollar we will make to your exact measurement a neat tailored skirt in prevailing style; your part consists simply in choosing and buying your required materials, and paying a nominal charge for the findings and shrinking of the cloth.

Skirts will be made by expert tailors, in first-class manner, with fitting and workmanship absolutely guaranteed.

We assume all the trouble; we show you made-up models—several different styles—from which to select—you buy any material in the Wool Dress Goods Section which you prefer, and leave the details to us—we guarantee satisfaction.

Of course, we've many other styles for which we charge a little more, but we're sure you'll like these.

If you fancy any of the made-up models, and they can be made to fit you, we will sell them at any time.

N. B.—For as little as $35.00 we make custom-tailored suits of unusually high quality; ask for details.

ENGLISH LORDS HANG TOGETHER.

Forming Polo Team to Play California's Best.

Frank Mackey to Cast Lot With Nobility.

Walter Dupee to Mount Men on Crack Ponies.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

Lord Tweedmouth and Lord Innes-Kerr, who are passing the winter in California, have decided to organize a new polo team and go after all the championships in sight.

They have had pressing invitations to join nearly all the polo teams of Southern California. Embarrassed as to which offer they should accept, they have determined to accept none; and so will flock by themselves.

The team which they will enter in the coming polo tournaments will be a dangerous contestant for all the cups.

The two lords are among the best polo players of England. They have played on the best teams in South Africa, India and in England itself. They are intensely interested in the game and ride superbly.

Some time ago when their coming to California was first known arrangements were quickly made by representatives of the Riverside, Pasadena and Coronado teams to secure them as members. Each team at one time or other thought it had secured the noblemen as players.

After their arrival they were silent upon their plans and spent the time in looking over the situation. The result is that they will organize their own team and will enter into competition in all of the tournaments to be played this winter in California.

MACKEY TO PLAY.

Frank J. Mackey, the brilliant player who has offered a beautiful silver cup as a trophy, is expected shortly at Riverside and from there will go to Coronado, where he will meet Lords Tweedmouth and Innes-Kerr. He is expected to join forces with the two English noblemen and become a member of their team.

The fourth member of the team will be Fred Cheape of England, who is one of the most famous polo players in the British Isles. He is now en route to Coronado and will immediately cast his lot with the Englishmen's team.

With this team made up of Lord Tweedmouth, Lord Innes-Kerr, Frank J. Mackey and Fred Cheape it is expected that the California teams will have their hardest tussles. The team will practice on the polo grounds of the Coronado Country Club and as all members of the team continually keep themselves at the highest notch of efficiency both in riding and in the science of the game, it is expected that a very short period of time will suffice to have them ready to lock horns with the best teams in California.

The question of mounts is an important one for the Englishmen's team. They will not have sufficient time to bring their own polo stables to America and all other polo stables are spoken for for the California clubs members.

However, Walter H. Dupee has a large ranch near Coronado and keeps a long string of polo ponies always on hand, and he may be induced to furnish mounts for the Englishmen's team. Dupee is a close personal friend of the two noblemen and is constantly in their company.

GIANT WRESTLER IS NOT GUILTY.

[Associated Press Night Report.]

EDWARDSVILLE (Ill.) Feb. 1.—George Burton of Alton, a wrestler, who killed two men by strangling them with his bare hands, was found not guilty today by a jury. The verdict applies to the death of Louis Welbrecht, whom Burton, according to his testimony, strangled, after he had choked Leo Wentz to death. A manslaughter indictment for Wentz's death is standing against Burton.

DESIRE REPEAL OF BOXING LAW.

Nevada Legislature Petitioned to Kill the Game.

Bill Introduced and Referred To Morals Committee.

Reno Weary of Sink-hole of Iniquity and Gambling.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A bill has been introduced in the Nevada Assembly for the repeal of the law permitting glove contests in this State and if it becomes a law it will end all glove contests or prize fights, no matter of what character.

The bill has not yet come up for a vote in the Assembly, where it originated, but was referred to the Committee on Public Morals. What the stand of the Legislature will be in regard to the bill is not positively known, but it is thought it will be passed.

The bill sought to be repealed was introduced during the term of office of Gov. Sadler, in 1897 under this law several championship contests have been fought, principal among which were the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Carson City, in 1897; the Root-Hart fight in Reno, and the Nelson-Gans fight at Goldfield, and the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno.

If the bill passes, the prize fight promoters will be driven from the last ditch. There will be no place in the United States where finish fights are permitted.

Strong influences in bringing about the introduction of this bill were the scandalous stories of crookedness that followed the Jeffries-Johnson fight and the action of the California Legislature, in putting the cover on races.

Reno has become weary of being called a sink-hole of iniquity. Gambling went out last October; now for prize fighting. Divorces next.

Winter Baseball Today.

The Winter League will resume business again today at the Vernon grounds, when the Doyles are scheduled to play the Giants the first of two games. On Saturday the Doyles are to play the McCormicks, while on Sunday these teams are to play two games in the afternoon for one admission.

AD WOLGAST TO DEFEND TITLE.

[Associated Press Night Report.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Packy McFarland of Chicago and Ad Wolgast, after a year of wrangling, are to get together. They will box six rounds before Jack O'Brien's Philadelphia club February 22, the anniversary of Wolgast's victory over Nelson. A telegram saying that the match was on awaited McFarland when he returned home from Memphis last night.

NOT TO ALTER RULES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The football rules will come up for their annual combing out on Friday and Saturday of this week, when the Rules Committee meets here. It is probable that few changes will be made. The revision of last year was a thorough-going one, and the policy this year is likely to be one of "let well enough alone."

After Another Bout.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Negotiations are pending here today for another match between Digger Stanley, the English bantam, and Frankie Burns, the result of whose recent bout in this city aroused much discussion. It is understood Alfred Mack, Stanley's manager, has under consideration a number of propositions made by Manager O'Rourke of the National Sporting Club.

"Big Four."

TO FORM NEW BALL LEAGUE.

Classy Sport to Be Dished Out to the Fans.

Old Heads to Guide Clubs in Their Destiny.

National Franchise Applied for to Protect.

A scheme to organize a Class D baseball league, comprising San Bernardino, Redlands, Riverside and Pomona, is under way and before many days have rolled by it will be an assured reality.

The promoters of the new league have already applied to the National Commission for a Class D franchise and are confident that their request will be granted by the commissioners.

The commercial and civic organizations of the "Big Four" cities in the proposed league have taken an active part in promoting the new league. Several thousand dollars has already been raised by private subscription. New baseball grounds will be built at Pomona and Riverside, the old ball parks at Redlands and San Bernardino will be overhauled and put in first class shape.

Jess Orendorff, the Los Angeles back-stop, will guide the destinies of the San Bernardino team. George Blackburn, an old eastern player, will assist Orendorff in rounding the players into form. Frank Abbott will handle the Riverside aggregation of sphere tossers. He left Wednesday for Riverside to make final arrangements with the backers of the team. Albert Crouch, a veteran baseball impresario, has been secured by Redlands to manage that nine. He is in Redlands making final preparations for spring practice. The Board of Trade at Pomona has made a desperate effort to secure the services of Kitty Brashear and from all reports "Brash" is perfectly willing to accept the generous offer if the citizens see fit to raise his monthly stipend.

The "Big Four" season will open April 8 and run to October 8, or thereabouts. Games will be played Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday during the season.

Many of the fastest amateur players in Southern California will perform in the new league. The managers in the league promise to spare no effort in gobbling up the best talent available in this section.

"We expect to give the public a fine article of the national game," said Orendorff today. "The promoters of the league mean business and are going about it in a high class way. We expect our commission to arrive any day from the East. We are not worrying about that part of it. The rivalry between the cities in the league is something fierce and many of the wealthiest citizens in the league cities are behind the project. This field has been neglected in years past by baseball promoters for some unknown reason. There is no doubt about the season being a successful one."

The Real Thing.

LOCAL PLAYERS HAVE NO SHOW.

ENGLISH CHECKER EXPERT WINS TWENTY-SEVEN GAMES.

Only Two Los Angeles Men Succeed in Securing Draws—Simultaneous Play Worries the Master Not a Whit—Wonderful Exhibition of Draughts Game Shown.

BY C. F. PIERCE.

The game of draughts in its perfection was exemplified last night by Alfred Jordan, champion of England, when he engaged simultaneously as many of the local experts as could crowd the tables at the Chess and Checker Club of Southern California, with a resulting score of twenty-five games won, two drawn, and none lost, out of a total of twenty-seven.

The master's task was so easily, smoothly and quickly accomplished as to appear effortless on his part. A. E. Wigney and D. C. McCallum only succeeded in drawing, the former with a defense to the Alma, and the latter in a Switcher.

It was soon demonstrated that the local cracks are no matches for the English master. Moving easily around the boards he made his combinations so rapidly that all contestants soon found themselves in difficulties. Ten minutes brought Young's resignation, M. B. Wellington and H. Cardell soon following his example.

The lapse of time brought increase of trouble for the Angelenos, mixed with some positions which seemed to promise awkward developments for the champion. But these were only seeming. Abandoning temporarily his easy poise, Jordan would back slightly from the table, assume the posture of a half-shut jack-knife, plant his elbows firmly on the board, bury his chin and mouth in cupped palm, and after a few seconds' thought, evolve a move which brought destruction on the hopeful opponent.

Jordan plays either black or white pieces in his games, and frequently passes an opponent who desires additional time for his moves, chatting sometimes over his own difficulties, or complimenting the man who brings them upon him.

Prior to the evening play Jordan modestly ascribed his successes to his use of a single opening—the Alma. But as the various games opened it was seen that he was using a variety of games and variations.

The boards were occupied by the following local players who comprise much of the strength in play recognized in the city: John A. Hunter, A. E. Wigney, M. B. Wellington, D. F. Young, George N. Briggs, George Johnson, H. Cardell, F. A. Parker, M. Wellington, Harry Cardell, H. E. Matthews, C. E. Jennigs, A. E. McConnell, W. J. Kissler, O. E. Frasier, F. Parker, J. Hunter, D. C. McCallum.

New Stunt.

LONG BEACH TO CATALINA BY CURTISS HYDROPLANE.

NEGOTIATIONS are now pending looking to the holding of a water aviation meeting at Long Beach February 22.

The success of Glenn Curtiss in flying from the surface of the bay at San Diego has aroused the greatest interest in the stunt and it is very probable that arrangements will be completed within a few days for the meeting.

E. D. Moore of the Curtiss organization is at the Alexandria and says negotiations are under way and that Curtiss was perfectly willing to come to Long Beach and agree to fly from land to water and vice versa.

Moore says the hydroplanes have been so perfected even in the short time that Curtiss has been using them that there is not the slightest doubt as to the feasibility of a machine flying over the surface of the water to Catalina Island or, in fact, any other place that it should desire to go.

"The time is coming shortly," said Moore, yesterday, "when the most of the flying will be done over water for the reason that it is smoother than over land. It is perfectly possible now to fly along the coast from here to San Diego and perhaps Mr. Curtiss might come to Los Angeles in his biplane along the coast instead of shipping it up here by rail."

An interesting contest may be arranged at the proposed water meet. The biplanes have been able to make such wonderful speed in the water that it is proposed to select the fastest motor boat on the local waters and match it against the biplane equipped as a hydroplane in a race between Los Angeles and Catalina Island.

The hydroplane has made as high as thirty-five miles an hour in the water and at that rate would reach Avalon before the motor boat was half way across.

The proposed meet will be free of admission as it would be impossible to charge for an exhibition made upon the ocean. Glenn H. Curtiss himself may run up from San Diego and assist in completing the ...

HOODOO NUMBER SCARES WOMAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The limit in automobile number hoodoos has just been called to the attention of Secretary of State Jordan. E. Bell of Napa, who has a new motor car, in securing his State license drew the number 43,501.

Bell writes to the Secretary of State that his wife has proved that these figures total 13, and she refuses to ride in the new machine until Bell gets a new number. The hoodoo number first attracted attention in 1908 when the State began issuing licenses. Dr Simmons of Sacramento drew No. 13, and im-

Meet to Last Fortnight to Close Accounts.

Owners Plan to Ship Horses to Eastern Tracks.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OAKLAND, Feb. 1.—When followers of the racing game gathered at the Emeryville track today, a feeling of gloom prevailed over the announcement that, owing to the signing by Gov. Johnson last night of the anti-gambling bill, the California racing season would end on February 15, the limit allowed by the law.

Secretary Percy Treat, of the New California Jockey Club, silenced the rumor that the meeting would be continued with betting eliminated, by declaring positively that in view of the adverse legislation the track would be closed on February 15.

Most of the horses quartered here will be sent to Juarez, Mex.; some of the stables will start eastward to be on hand for the opening of the metropolitan season, while a few owners have arranged to sell their horses at auction.

Light showers fell and the track was heavy and holding. Results:

Greatest Bunch of Glad Rags Ever Brought Into Los Angeles.

Alice Lloyd, the Girl With the Forty Hats and a Hundred Dresses, reveling in her treasure trove which the Orpheum management has safeguarded like the strong room of a banking house. Miss Lloyd can dress up if she wants to. She appears here as Cupid.

Nifty.

SUCH AN AWFUL LOT OF CLOTHES FOR ONE LITTLE GIRL TO WEAR.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

DID you ever have hats go to your head?

I mean were you ever intoxicated on hats? I felt after imbibing the view of little Alice Lloyd's headgear, as though I had indulged in a millinery orgy.

There were champagne hats and absinthe hoods; wine bonnets and creme de violette matinee caps; turbans in creme de menthe and Pioret bandeaux of benedictine velvet; creme de coca lace head-dresses and bonbon theatres of Chertosa—oh, don't be shocked, these are all colors in fashionable millinery and the glass by means of which I partook was backed with quicksilver—it was in fact the dressing glass of Miss Lloyd's "green room" at the Orpheum.

The room was already half filled with hats; it seemed to me, when she offered to show me her hats and opened that whopping trunk which disclosed the real gist of the hat collection.

There were hats bristling out in every direction—like fronds in a cactus hedge, only the fronds were of superb ostrich plumes, aigrettes, herons, chanticlers, flowers, beaded quills and all the finery of French hat-making.

There were creations from all the celebrated Parisians makers, from London, from Berlin; there were peasant caps, of various nations; head coverings "excepted" from all walks of life—for Miss Lloyd has a costume hat for every song she sings, every character she represents—and then, I think, she must stay up nights to wear the rest of them, for it doesn't seem as though there could possibly be occasions enough to use them all.

MEANING OF ITS OWN.

The beauty about Alice Lloyd's hats is that evehy little hat—(and big one too) has a meaning of its own! That is, it is a part of a complete costume. In thinking over the rainbow vision of hats and gowns, two especially stand out in my recollection—that is they are most clear in the eye of my memory. The first is of king's blue chiffon over coral messaline—this is the gown—with the coral showing out from thinner fabric at unexpected places, as though the more vivid color had burned through in a sort of assertive determination to predominate.

The hat which fulfills this costume is a huge one of the blue shade in velvet with great drifts of ostrich plumes in the blue, and tiny rosebuds blooming out from under them, here and there—like crocuses coming up through the velvet of the lawn in the spring.

Miss Lloyd carries as a complement to the costume, a parasol in king's blue chiffon with a stick as long as she herself is tall—and she wears, in her own inimitable way, a monocle.

else wore it—but she is such a tiny, dear, clever little fairy of a person that whatever she does becomes therefore, unique and adorable.

The second costume, in my memory, is one of emerald green messaline embellished with baby Irish—a true gown of the Emerald Isle—only "it's Frinch it is." With this is worn a charming paysant's cap of baby Irish with touches of emerald velvet.

Then there is a white netted and bugled affair which is like a tangle of cobwebs on a dewy morning—I half believe I like this best of all—were it not for that one of blue silk in the odd weave, with the panel of heavy braid embroidery the entire length of both back and front and those unexpected great tassels of heavy silk thread, as a finish; and that delightful litle bonbon cap of gilt mesh which is worn with it.

VIOLET AND BLUE.

Just as I have decided upon this—comes a vision of the violet and blue, a combination of color which is as satisfying as a dinner of herbs where love is—you know, it feels to the eye as somthing sweetly tart tastes way back in the far corners of your mouth—and I am certain for a moment, that it is the violet and blue which I would take were I a lady burglar. And I wouldn't forget the turban which goes with it—it would go with it when I stole the gown, too. It is of the light blue, in satin ribbon and has a violet aigrette standing up boldly at one side of the front, with oh, such a chic air.

Don't you know that clothes have qualities just as people have—one is courageous, another modest, a third is insinuating, while some are just vaguely existent. Now that black chiffon over the softest of white meteor crepe—a shadow gown I would call it—is as full of character as black print on white paper—the right kind of print on the proper kind of paper. I believe, after all, that if I were stealing I would take that gown and the hat with which it is affiliated—that immense black velvet picture hat with the Masonic plumes.

I would leave Miss Alice the pink gowns—not because I do not like them, but because they are so becoming to her blonde beauty that I would be too lady-like a burglar to rob her of them. There is the one in blush rose, with the great bowknot of Rhine pebbles fastening the scarf in front at the high waist line; the gold-of-Ophir rose in chiffon over messaline with the glittering buttons of paste; the apricot satin, embellished with hand made Pointe de Venise. There is a delicious little opera cap to go with this, with a valance of Pointe de Venise around the brim.

QUITE EMBRACING.

Are they hobbled? Well, they certainly are not at knee. The width of the skirts run from as high as one and one fourth yards around to as little as less than a yard. Of course she wears no petticoats. Where would she?

There is a peachblow satin veiled with hand-run points d'esprit which made me think of a spring shower in an orchard when the fruit trees are in full bloom—the skirt of this was wider.

In her various Custer songs Miss Lloyd wears odd little costumes which carry out the idea developed in the song and as her fad is for hats, she never neglects to make the hat the keynote of her mimicry; for instance, a policeman's helmet becomes under her clever manipulation, a very characteristic piece of headwear; and a pink satin sunbonnet on her head is simply charming.

In her Cupid costume of rose colored satin she is just a lovable little god of the bow and arrow. The material in an ordinary woman's gown would make several gowns for Miss Lloyd; but do not imagine because of this, that her costumes cost any less. Her dress hats measure more than the average in circumference and although it would take several of her bobbie bands to go around the crowns of some of them, it would probably take several bands of five dollar gold pieces to cover the cost of the least expensive of other hats or gowns.

DISQUALIFY ATHLETES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The disqualification at one blow of a national champion and a metropolitan title holder, is announced by the Registration Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union.

The two athletes thus barred from amateur competition are W. W. Barbour, national title holder of the heavyweight division in the amateur boxing world, and J. J. Garretson, metropolitan champion.

They disqualified themselves from further amateur competition, the committee rules, by boxing on Monday night at an unsanctioned exhibition in Coppers's Gymnasium here.

Famous Airship Contest for the Coupe Internationale D'Aviation to Be Held in England.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Word has been received at the offices of the Aero Club of America, from the Royal Aero Club of the United Kingdom, that the race this year for the coupe Internationale d'Aviation, which is to be held in England, will probably take place before July 1.

The club has until April 1 to settle definitely upon a date. The determination to hold the contest early in the year, is due to the desire to take advantage of the fact that London will be crowded with visitors in July, attracted by the ceremonies attending the coronation

CHESS TOURNAMENT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The two leaders in the national chess masters' tournament, J. Marshall, the United States champion, and Oscar Chajes of Chicago, played together in the eleventh round today. But as the game was drawn, the men retained their respective positions, Marshall still first, because he had lost one less game. The tournament narrows down to the semi-final round tonight.

Scoring Baseball Games.

The art of scoring baseball games is easy of mastery if once carried to conclusion, but it is safe to say that not one fan in a hundred can turn in a correct score after a game. This might include the players also, for even the professionals get muddled, while the semi-pro and the amateur are hopelessly lost with score-sheet and pencil. It is a common thing for an amateur of the best of teams to demand of the scorer why he gave him only two times at bat when he made three runs. Bases on balls, hit batsmen and sacrifices do not count as a time up, yet players frequently forget this. The difference between a hit and an error or put-out is the cause for much difference of opinion even between experts and the official scorer has his doubt many times. Most amateurs make mistakes in this case half the time if the drive is not a clean hit to uncovered territory. It would be good practice for players to keep score whenever they have the opportunities.

Rules of Baseball.

Simple as baseball rules are to most fans there are many small points in the game which puzzle players and spectators alike. Hence the trouble umpires have with the players. Most of the players kick up a row because they desire to bluff the umpire on matters of judgment. Sometimes the rules admit of interpretation, and in that case players urge different meanings, according to their desires in the premises. Baseball is a game easily understood—for an American. It usually is hard for Englishmen to get next, but that is a racial joke. Despite its great simpleness there is great diversity of play but it is so open that everyone can see what is going on.

THE coming season promises to be this a merry one for the members of the South Coast Yacht Club. The membership roll for the club is being augmented daily by the addition of new names.

Yachting has made rapid progress in Southern California during the past few years and it is still in its infancy. The sea dog sportsmen of Southern California for some unknown reason have failed to avail themselves of the glorious opportunities for yachting which the Pacific Coast presents. It is a remarkable fact that on the Southern California waters there is but one or two yachts of the size and style so common on the Atlantic, and this, too, in spite of the fact that the natural advantages are all in favor of the Pacific. Yachting is a sport for all climes. The owner of a 1000-ton steam yacht costing perhaps $100,000 a year to keep in commission, gets no more real pleasure than the yachtsman who is the possessor of a trim but inexpensive little craft, and is at once, owner, skipper, crew and cook, and who does all his own rigging and overhauling with his own hands.

In eastern waters are to be found many second-hand craft of good design at prices varying from $350 upwards, on which an enthusiastic yachtsman, with a friend or two, or with his family, can spend the most enjoyable of week ends. That something of this sort is not general in Southern California waters is due almost entirely to ignorance on the part of the people in regard to the ideal conditions existing here.

On the Atlantic the lack of certainty in regard to the wind during the summer season is leading a great many to abandon sailing. On the Pacific the contrary is true; every summer day is as sure of its breeze as the sun is to rise in the East. The direction and intensity hardly vary from one day to another. In the East yachts are laid up the greater part of the year; on the Pacific in southern waters it would be possible to keep a boat in commission the entire year with less expense than is attendant upon placing the boat in winter quarters.

The numerous islands close to Los Angeles are deserving of a thousand-fold more attention than they have heretofore received. Catalina, Clemente, Santa Rosa, Anacapa, San Miguel, Santa Cruz and others, afford the finest yachting and fishing known the world. From San Pedro, San Diego it is only six or seven hours to Ensenada, a quaint little Mexican town, well worthy of being visited.

To the northward is Santa Barbara, with its beautiful harbor and islands. The South Coast Yacht Club will hold Concentration Monopoly.

This man Alfred Jordan has about cornered the market on concentration stock, according to reports. It takes some concerted effort to keep the other fellows from winning but seventeen games out of nearly four thousand played, many of them in simultaneous matches. The champion chess or checker player must be the eternal grouch in disposition; at least he has a good excuse. Jordan, however, though quiet and unassuming, is a pleasant fellow and easy to get along with—if he is winning.

Handball, the Conditioner.

As a means for conditioning athletes and taking the fat off portly citizens athletically inclined, Handball is the dope par excellence. In addition acting as a physical culture tonic the game is popular as a sport and thousands of persons in Los Angeles play it every day. There are handball courts all over town and in nearly every institution where sports are permitted. Nearly all boxers use the game for daily exercise and for hardening the muscles and hands.

Small-Bore Rifles.

Dr. W. G. Hudson's score of 1482 points out of a possible 2500 at seventy-five feet with a twenty-two caliber rifle, in New York, Tuesday, shows the wonderful efficiency of the small-bore rifles at short range. Hudson used the quarter-inch ring target and in the one hundred shots he missed the exact center only eighteen times. The new indoor rifle league has a great work before it, and it is becoming very popular throughout the country.

Gardner and Klaus.

One of the most earnest battles in months was the twelve-round draw between Frank Klaus and Jimmy Gardner. Klaus knocked down his opponent in the first round, but after that Gardner was more wary and evened things up. These two men are about the only two light middleweights, or rather welterweights, of standing with the exception of Harry Lewis, who is rather light for them. Gardner took on considerable of a handicap in meeting Klaus as he can make 142 easily.

Colleges to Remain in the A. A. U. Affiliation.

Franklin and Cromwell Have Heart to Heart Talk.

Dietrich Declared Amateur for Venice Race.

The troubles between Southern California colleges and the Amateur Athletic Union seem about to be patched up, following an informal conference held last night between Capt. J. B. Franklin, president of the Southern Pacific branch, and Coach Dean Cromwell representing the University of California.

Cromwell asked Franklin point-blank if his interview in The Times published recently, in which the A.A.U. head said he would be glad to permit the colleges to decide their own eligibility cases, were true.

The U.S.C. representative then remarked that in that case U.S.C. probably would retain its membership in the A.A.U. It is expected that Pomona will follow the local school's example.

The controversy between the schools and the A.A.U. has existed ever since the suspending of "Bill" Hatch last fall. Hatch played on the U.S.C. football team. He was charged with professionalism in baseball by the Occidental physical director, George Braden.

The charges were brought before the registration committee of the A.A.U. and Hatch was declared a professional by that committee. This action took place just three days before the big Occidental-U.S.C. football game and the varsity football enthusiasts were very peevish.

The athletic management at U.S.C. promptly decided that it had not been treated fairly by the registration committee. Pomona college took much the same attitude as the Methodist school. Two or three of the sagebrush athletes also had questionable records in baseball and they immediately decided that the A. A. U. had nothing to say in regard to intercollegiate athletics.

The whole matter came to a head with the colleges at a conference meet a month ago. They decided to withdraw in a body from the Southern Pacific Association, which is the local branch of the A.A.U.

This formal action by the colleges caused consternation in the local A.A.U., as the colleges are its main strength. The result was a decision to take a more lenient policy toward intercollegiate athletes as shown by Capt. Franklin in his explanation of the position of the local A.A.U. officials.

FRANKLIN FRIENDLY.

The captain, who expressed the views of the whole committee, said: "It doesn't make a bit of defference what athletes the colleges play among themselves in their closed conferences. We don't want to interfere.

"If they bring charges before our registration committee it is up to the committee to take up the matter and investigate the charges. If we declare a college man a professional our decision only binds him in athletics which come directly under the control of the A.A.U.

"If the colleges want to play him in their closed leagues it is none of our business. It would suit us much better if the schools would decide for themselves who is amateur and who

FRANK GARBUTT DISCUSSES SOUTH COAST YACHTING.

BY LOU GUERNSEY.

THE coming season promises to be a merry one for the members of the South Coast Yacht Club. The membership roll for the club is being augmented daily by the addition of new names.

Yachting has made rapid progress in Southern California during the past few years and it is still in its infancy. The sea dog sportsmen of Southern California for some unknown reason have failed to avail themselves of the glorious opportunities for yachting which the Pacific Coast presents. It is a remarkable fact that on the Southern California waters there is but one or two yachts of the size and style so common on the Atlantic, and this, too, in spite of the fact that the natural advantages are all in favor of the Pacific. Yachting is a sport for all classes. The owner of a 1000-ton steam yacht costing perhaps $100,000 a year to keep in commission, gets no more real pleasure than the yachtsman who is the possessor of a trim but inexpensive little craft, and is at once, owner, skipper, crew and cook, and who does all his own rigging and overhauling with his own hands.

In eastern waters are to be found many second-hand craft of good design at prices varying from $350 upwards, on which an enthusiastic yachtsman, with a friend or two, or with his family, can spend the most enjoyable of week ends. That something of this sort is not general in Southern California waters is due almost entirely to ignorance on the part of the people in regard to the ideal conditions existing here.

On the Atlantic the lack of certainty in regard to the wind during the summer season is leading a great many to abandon sailing. On the Pacific the contrary is true; every summer day is as sure of its breeze as the sun is to rise in the East. The direction and velocity hardly vary from one day to another. In the East yachts are laid up the greater part of the year; on the Pacific in southern waters it would be possible to keep a boat in commission the entire year with less expense than is attendant upon placing the boat in winter quarters.

The numerous islands close to Los Angeles are deserving of a thousand-fold more attention than they have received. Catalina, Clemente, Santa Rosa, Anacapa, San Nicolas, Santa Cruz and others, afford the best of cruising, painting and fishing known in the world. From San Pedro, San Diego can be reached in less than a day, and many are the points of interest to be visited therefrom. From Los Angeles it is only six or seven hours to Redondo, a quaint little seaside town, well worthy of being visited. The next port north is Santa Barbara, with its beautiful harbor and islands. The South Coast Yacht Club will hold this year. Several days will be spent at Balboa before the cruise northward is begun.

"It is a pity that our people do not take more interest in yachting," said Frank Garbutt yesterday. "It seems almost incredible that in a great city of this size, possessing the greatest natural advantages in the world for the enjoyment of yachting, there should be so few people who know anything about the sport. There is perhaps no sport which can be indulged in so economically, which would yield as much pleasure, furnish such an amount of health-giving exercise, and at the same time give such a thorough change of scene to the tired business man. There is something about the salt water, once you get a few miles away from land, that dulls every care. Business is of necessity laid aside, there are no telephones, messenger boys; once away from the mooring, one can be certain of perfect rest without responsibility and without interruption.

"If the question were asked, in what particular is the Pacific Coast farthest behind the Atlantic, the correct answer, I believe, would be yachting. I confidently predict that more progress will be made in this sport in the next ten years in southern waters than in any other branch of sport."

Caterwauling.

STIRRING UP THE ANIMALS IN LEVY'S BEEFSTEAK ROOM.

MM. AND MMES. WESTADAMS recently indulged in a beefsteak supper at Al Levy's, the like of which was never in grill or by campfire.

Not content with this high originality, certain restless blue-stockings have been planning another little supper which shall be even more unusual.

This will be the strange beefsteak supper augmented by a Tom-cat finale, all to take place, as before, in Levy's subterranean beefsteak room.

Instead of being amused by minstrelsy, the guests will be diverted by a half-dozen rugged Kilkennys capering about with bon-bon crackers on their tails. Liberated en masse, the felines are said to make a broken high-voltage wire seem like a section of cold, sundered chicken fence—in electric comparison. The traditional tin-canned dog will indeed be a sleepy thing beside these maniacal cats.

The services of the humane society will hardly be necessary, as no damage is done to either cats or caudal appendages, and the earthquake lasts for only a few seconds. But while the melee is on, it is guaranteed that the guests will be aware of the Thomases' presence.

As before, guests and waiters are to be garbed in butcher's aprons, and, forsooth, knifeless, will sit upon cracker boxes and eat from wooden plates.

ABE ATTELL WAS THE BOOKMAKER'S MEAL TICKET.

It wasn't any young or old second class dub fighter that put Abe Attell out of business. It was the race track. If he had been a bookmaker instead of a "good thing," he would have been about $19,000,000 right at this minute. He would not have broken his shoulder falling on it, but by counting his money.

Abie is down and out now as a fighter, if it is really true that his shoulder is gone, and San Francisco probably had a big celebration last night in honor of it.

He was born in that town and that is what makes the dope stronger, for half the time no one fights you like your own brother. No one can knock you so hard unless it is your wife trying to get a divorce from you.

That's about the way the sports in Frisco handed it to Abe Attell, who was about the only great man the town ever produced. He was featherweight champion for years, practically beat easily every man he ever tackled in his class and fought with high honor to himself, lightweight champion Freddie Welsh of England and Bat Nelson champion of the world.

Even though Attell kept Frisco from being forgotten, the sports up there simply stayed up all night figuring how they could beat him out of the championship. They attended his fights in droves in the hope that some bum would trim him.

Seeing there was no use they used to lay for him over at the Emeryville race track at Oakland and it won't take you long to guess what they can do to anyone there. There are always about two caucus nominees on the programme every day and these are the ones that WIN. You can bet $5,000,000 on the best horse or the two best, but if one of these does not happen to be the "nominee," you couldn't make him win if you cried your eyes out.

Now when Abe got to town the word was passed around that the Good Thing had arrived. What happened? Why Abe was called into some doorway and told in a hoarse whisper that there was something to be "put over" tomorrow and for Gawd's sake don't even dream the name of this "sleeper" for some one might hear you talking in your sleep and go to bettin'. The price wouldn't be less than 40 to 1.

Some of you can't believe this, but Abe actually fell for it and would not only sink a chunk in a handbook over night but would go to 'em in the morning and then hurry out to the track to bet.

Everyone knows what happens when a tout calls you off into a corner and tells you about what's going over tomorrow. Abe would simply unbelt his wad and set in, and the Long Shot generally managed to run just back of where he had bet the money. If it was on the nose, the nag would run second; if a place, he would be third and if a show, the beast would be just far enough out on the limb to be off altogether.

He was not a cheap skate, either, for he would often bet $400 or more on a race and a man can't do this much and keep his job unless he has as much money as Hetty Green and nails some of it to the floor, as she does.

In addition to all this Abe shook dice, played poker and shot craps and between all of these he sure had some packages handed to him. This is why he had to fight every two weeks for if he didn't he wouldn't have had any money to bet on the Something Good.

He's made not only a barrel of money but a number of barrels full, but it is about a 1 to 2 bet that he has shot most of it away. If he had turned bookmaker and permitted other suckers the privilege of trying to beat him he could have owned all the race tracks in the country and not only one joy ride every night but three. He could have owned a chewing gum factory, too, and that was one of his short suits.

No one can imagine how much Abie has taken in during his ten years of fighting. It might be $50,000 and it might be more, but even $5000 a year is a pretty fair salary for a boy who, can get up when he pleases, go to bed when he is sleepy and who need not worry about the coal bin being empty, whether the chickens are fed or the cat put out of the house at night.

Each arm has been worth at least $100,000 to him, for he has more than made the interest on the total sum since he was born. Even John D. Rockyfellow couldn't afford to lose $50,000 by falling on his right arm.

If Abe had lost $50,000 and broken his arm trying to beat two sixes shaking dice, you couldn't have blamed him for feeling sore; but to put himself off the race track by wrapping his legs around each other and falling on his arm! Ach Louis! Mine Leiber!

Abe didn't have much method in training. He didn't need to box for he knew that business from soup to nuts.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

The liveliest event in the records of amateur dramatics will take place in Los Angeles today.

It will not only take place, but will take place twice—in the auditorium of the Los Angeles High School, where the winter Class, '11, will present Charles Klein's "The Lion and the Mouse," with complete scenic accessories and a magnificent equipment of furniture and properties.

Heretofore it has been the custom of schools and colleges to give either old masterpieces like "The Rivals," or "The School for Scandal," or else dreadful home-made affairs that might be endured but never enjoyed. Other schools did this; ours did too.

This season, however, the class felt itself called upon to make a histrionic effort that would make history.

They cast about for available plays, and this high royalty piece, with its timely comments and a story thoroughly of today, appealed to them roundly.

They thought perhaps Mr. Henry B. Harris, who owns the drama, might, considering—possibly—

But he didn't.

Furthermore, it seemed quite evident that Mr. Harris was not especially anxious to have them use the play under any circumstances.

They spent about $10 in telegrams before they could get any answer at all out of him, and when they did, he responded with a curt message that he would charge them just five-score iron men for the use of the piece one day. Furthermore, a certain portion of the money would necessarily be in advance.

They didn't wait to send a New York draft or a mail order. They decided to be as curt as Mr. Harris. They telegraphed him his money.

The promptness and business-like spirit of the young students evidently appealed strongly to the New York manager, for he sent a complete set of parts and a script or two by return mail, and the L.A.H.S. actors got busy at once.

Since they were giving a real royalty play, they decided to stave in another edition and do all the work themselves. Heretofore they have hired a "regular" actor to rehearse their pieces, but this time they dispensed with a professional thespian, and made Miss Jane Butt, of the faculty, their stage director—or directress, if you are particular about it.

Miss Butt has done splendid work and has brought out speeches and business of really professional sort.

The cast includes Paul E. Peabody, as John Burkett Ryder; Jefferson Ryder, Marshal Taylor; Judge Rossmore, Percy Major; Hon. Fitzroy Bagley, Gardner Walker; Senator Roberts, Omar F. Bradway; Ex-Judge Stott, W. Robertson Ralston; Rev. Pontifex Seetley, J. Eugene Stanton; Jorkins, Harper Edmiston; expressman, Max Krueb; Shirley Rossmore, Isabella Macintyre; Mrs. Ryder, Mona Moody; Mrs. Rossmore, Melinda Seay; Kate Roberts, Imagarde Poyser; Jane Seattle, Mary O'Connor; Araminia Spencer, Ruth Lorraine; Eudoxia, Ruth Jones; Deborah, Gertrude Fisher.

musical comedy star who has entered the vaudeville ranks. Bonita was in Los Angeles a few months ago at the head of her own company. At that time she had vaudeville invitations which she refused with scorn. However, the Orpheum Circuit seems to have captured her, for at the present time she is content to be a martinbeck headliner.

NAIL ON THE LID.

Tacoma "Reformer" Holds Indignation Mass Meeting and Chief of Police Stops Prize Fight.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The boxing contest scheduled for tonight between Denver Ed Martin and Jack Lester, heavyweight champion of the Northwest, was prohibited today by Police Commissioner Roys.

The City Commission, elected on a "wide-open" platform, instructed the police to stop the fight, after several large mass meetings had been held by protesting citizens.

Pauley Leads Ten-Pinners.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 1.—Missing a spare in the ninth frame of his final game, robbed William Pauley of Sioux City, Iowa, of first place in the bowling strategies today. Getting 221 pins in the first game and 206 in the second, Pauley started the third with seven straight strikes. Then in the ninth frame he missed three pins and on his second shot dropped two of them. He finished, however, with the highest score of the day, rolling 674, but fell seven pins short of the tournament record of 681, held by James Blouin of Chicago.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I intended to leave Indianapolis for the Coast Saturday night, but if Al Kaufman wants to meet me I will go to Chicago Sunday and post a forfeit if he so desires," said Jack Johnson, tonight, in discussing the possibility of meeting Al Kaufman in a finish fight.

Johnson is appearing this week at a local theater in three-round exhibition bouts with his sparring partner, Walter Monahan.

Fred Martin, the San Francisco skater who defeated Fred Wolfe, the local champion in a one-mile race for the Pacific Coast championship last Sunday, again defeated his rival last night at the Palms rink in an Australian pursuit race.

In this contest Martin started half a lap behind Wolfe. To win he must catch within five miles on the nineteen lap course. It took him four miles and twelve and one half laps to touch Wolfe. The time for that distance was 13m. 26s.

The two racers will compete for the Coast two-mile championship at the Palm Garden rink next Sunday. They are to have a series of these races including every distance up to five miles.

Jack O'Brien's Philadelphia Club or before any other club for that matter, in a six-round contest before he can demand a finish fight. If he is able to show he is skillful enough in a bout of that length then he is entitled to fight for the title. I am willing to meet any one, provided the purse is right. If Kaufman can, let him land a knockout in a bout of short duration.

"Personally, I like Kaufman. He is a nice boy, but he is not keen after a fight with me. It is the theatrical promoters that are trying to bring us together. I am willing to go to Chicago and post a forfeit of from $10,000 to $20,000, and if he can cover that, it is all I ask."

BELIEVE IN BOTH.

FIGHTERS IN SHAPE.

Many of the local fight bugs are already beginning to figure Len Lauder as the winner of the fight next Saturday afternoon at the Vernon arena with Mike Memsic and this dope is mixed simply on the showing that Lauder is making every day at the Vernon training camp. He is surely making a fine showing.

Some of Lauder's friends think that he can make short work of Mike Memsic and if he does, a few of his friends here are thinking of backing him to meet some of the top-notchers in the lightweight ranks. Lauder is putting in his best work out at the Vernon camp and is getting plenty of rough exercise boxing with big Jack Walsh. He weighed 135 pounds after his work yesterday and can easily reduce to 133 pounds by Saturday morning.

Meanwhile, Memsic is not overlooking anything over at the Eastside camp. He uses his brother George as a punching bag, and the hugs who assembled at the camp yesterday seemed to think that Lauder would be easy picking for Memsic.

Of equal importance with the main event is the bout between the paperweights, Jimmy Austin and Battling Chico. These 107-pound kids are fast and snappy fighters and their meeting for the championship of the Coast has kept both hard at work. Austin is paying particular attention to his training for this fight, for he does not propose to be caught out of condition this time, as he was on several previous occasions when he has gone into the ring on a moment's notice.

Chico is boxing at the Naud Junction pavilion with Frank Picato, but in spite of the great difference in weight Chico generally holds his own with the heavier boy. In the second round of their bout he spanked Picato on the nose and made the blood flow. The boys around the pavilion see nothing but Chico in the coming fight and

A number of the college men claim that this interpretation is somewhat altered from that taken by the A.A.U., last fall, but so long as the association is willing to grant them this much liberty there seems to be no object in withdrawing, as they had planned to do.

Manager Warren Bovard at U.S.C. expressed himself as willing to remain in the organization under such an understanding. Warren has been heartily in sympathy with the Southern Pacific Association all along, but deemed it a matter of policy to draw ot the university membership if the organization was to interefere as they did in the case of Hatch last fall.

Occidental and Whittier colleges have already expressed themselves as willing to remain in the A.A.U. under the conditions named by Capt. Franklin in his explanation of the amateur ruling.

The authorities at Pomona College have not taken any definite action since their determination to withdraw from the A. A. U. last fall. The Claremont College will be forced into line, however, if the other three schools can agree in the matter.

In commenting upon the scope of the A.A.U. generally, Franklin, who is president of the local branch, stated that he was heartily in favor of eliminating baseball from the control of the organization entirely. He said the time would undoubtedly come when the central council of the Athletic Union would take action to this effect.

In that case the only baseball players who would be professional players would be the league players who were under contract. The college fellows could take money occasionally if they desired, so long as they did not sign up and play ball in a professional league for a living.

At the regular meeting of the A.A.U. last night Ed. Dietrich, the local Marathon runner, who won the Mt. Wilson climb, was declared an amateur. He has been under charges of professionalism for teaching hygiene and calisthenics in one of the Los Angeles schools. The Registration Committee decided that this was not sufficient grounds for professionalism.

ROAST RAH-RAHS.

Chicago University Daily Fires Hot Stuff at the Athletic Department of Windy City College.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Severe criticisms of the athletic department of the University of Chicago is made by the Daily Maroon, the under-graduate newspaper of the institution, in its issue yesterday. In addition to charging the university with proselyting for students with records in athletics, the Maroon attacks intercollegiate athletics in general.

Some of the charges are:

"Candidates for the football team are kept at work so long that they cannot make even a pretense of studying.

"Students enter the university largely because of the opportunity of exercising their athletic prowess.

"That 99 per cent. of the students take no part in athletics except to shriek from the bleachers.

"That these 99 per cent. have an insane desire to win and do not honor any team which fails to come home with the spoils.

"That the remaining 1 per cent. which takes part in athletics is physically injured by the exercise involved.

"These things explain," the article maintains, "why college alumni are not taking the active part in the affairs of the country they should, and account for much of the commercial legiate athletics in general.

"My, but I'm glad to see the sun shine!" exclaimed a friend, over the 'phone, yesterday. "I always have the blues when the days are dark!"

"I don't have time to have the blues," I answered.

"I take time for that," she said, determinedly. Then we both laughed, for she had said it as though "having the blues" were something much to be coveted, like having a new fur set, or a velvet coat, or a diamond tiara.

I believe some people do take the blues as a valued recreation. Haven't you met people who just would not be hoisted out of their Hollows of Despair? They are bound to dote upon all the unpleasant things within the range of their knowledge and when you point to something different, they hark right back to the original theme. This friend is not at all like that—quite the reverse, for I have never seen her really blue—I think she hides away until she is over it and if she tells about it afterward, it is in a jocular way, but I imagine that she sounds the depths, at times.

I suppose every one has days when life does not look like a parterre in full bloom but however wrong things may seem, we can always find some compensation, or at least we can comfort ourselves by learning of some one who is so much worse off than we, that our lot seems roseate.

I saw a man the other day though, who would have to look a long time to find any one with whom his fate compared favorably, I'm afraid. It was such a pitiful case that I am going to tell you about it, although I am not much given to recounting horrors; but maybe some one will find a way to help the poor fellow. I went with a friend to a doctor's office and it was there that I saw a case which made me count my blessings.

Two men were there for treatment and when one of them began to complain of his lot—and he was pretty bad off—the doctor said, "I am going to bring to you, from the next room, a man who is as much worse off than you, as it is possible to imagine—and he did. Patient No. 1 acknowledged that his troubles were mild by comparison. This poor creature had his lower jaw broken in such a way that it will take a long, long time to heal it and then only with the utmost care and continuous attention. You see, when the lower jaw is broken as his is, you cannot swallow—and food must be inserted into the system by means of a tube. As a result of poor nourishment, the man had pneumonia, from which he is just recovering. But even if he could eat, he has no food, nor money with which to buy it, and is so weak that he cannot work. He came here from some other climate, thinking he might find life easier—but life is not a very happy state, even in Los Angeles, to be situated as he is. A public charitable institution cannot give him the attention which his case demands, he has no home and no relatives. The doctor, who is, like many of his profession, continuously giving of his time and of himself, has thus far taken care of the helpless one—but it is hardly fair that he should shoulder the whole burden. I know of no institution which can minister to his case, and yet how many individuals have more than they can use and are in perfect comfort.

Perhaps a Salon.

There is something delightful about a Private View, either of clothes, inventions or art. It is not merely that we are selfishly exclusive and enjoy feeling that we are especially privileged, but there is the feeling that we are at the source of things. If you have ever been at the top of a high mountain and have seen there the tiny rivulet which, as you know, will later broaden into the river on the plains below, you know just what I mean to convey.

That was the feeling that I had, the other evening, at the Private View of the Los Angeles Art Club. Here we were, witnessing the beginning of something which may become a great movement, perhaps a Salon similar to that of Paris. Why not? We have excellent artists here in California and more are attracted each year, by the congenial climate and the beauty of the landscapes. Facility, talent, genius was shown in many of the canvases and there was enthusiasm both among the artists themselves and in the lovers of this kind of work. I was pleased to note that several women artists were represented there and that their positions were quite equal to those of the men. The most beautiful picture shown was, of course, that of a woman. I shall not dare to enter into an analysis of the paintings, nor be bold enough to say which I thought best, until after Antony Anderson has led the way.

Once in a while I see a maxim or a definition which seems so satisfactory, so expressive that I feel as though I must pass it on. I found this in a little column headed "A Girl's Notebook." "Superciliousness indicates an empty heart as well as an empty head, and should receive our compassion as a form of imbecility."

This reminds me of a remark made by Mrs. Henrotin, when she was president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. "I hope the time will come," said Mrs. Henrotin, "when we shall be able to say of the greatest social leader, not that she moves in an exclusive set, but rather that she is the most all-inclusive of women—that is that her sympathies and her associations are all-embracing in their benevolence."

Once in a while I see a maxim or a definition which seems so satisfactory, so expressive that I feel as though I must jam it on. I found this in a little book headed 'A Girl's Notebook.' This reminds me of a remark made by Mrs. Henrotin, when she was president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. A Gift Hospital.

One of the big stores has established a gift hospital. This means that if you would think at first glance, as you remember when you were a little girl, the heart break attending the dismemberment of your favorite doll, you know that it might be other dolls more beautiful, more symmetrical, of greater cost—but they were not your first beloved. Supposing that when the eyes of your bisque "Lady Louise" fell out backward into the depths of her brains, you could have placed her in the doll hospital to be re-eyed—how happy you would have been! If, when Brother Jack snatched the top off from Bessie B's head she could have paid a visit to the wigging department of this hospital, how eagerly you would have awaited her return to her habitation, rehabilitated. It is worth while to visit the emergency ward on the second floor of this big store, just to see the 'first aid' appliances and the operating tables and to sympathize with the pretty patients who are there awaiting rejuvenation at the hands of the doll doctor.

For Next Christmas.

How would you like to have to pick your gifts for next Christmas right now? It would seem a far cry, wouldn't it. But the toy buyer of one of the large stores has left for Germany to select the toys for Santa's distribution next Christmas.

You see, they hold a toy fair in Leipsig for three months, beginning in March, and it is there that enterprising toy buyers examine the samples of toys made by the country people and choose what they will have in quantities for the holiday trade. Toy-making in several foreign countries, and especially in Germany, is fostered by the government, and the common people, even the farmers in remote parts of the country, devote a part of their leisure time to inventing and making toys for exhibition at this great toy fair. If the samples shown there prove acceptable and are ordered by visitors, the articles are then made in quantity. I hope—don't you?—that the buyers take their children along when they go to this toy fair. I think it would be a great help to the buyers, and I am sure the children would be willing victims.

A New Meaning.

The expression "right out in the black and white" will take on a new meaning when the clothes for spring are sprung, for black and white will be the synonym for fashionable attire. Black and white, in checks, stripes, figures, laces, embroideries. There may be touches of other colors, especially of emerald green—emblematic of spring itself, but there must be black and white, either veiled or boldly displayed.

Fashion's Fancies.

Mixed straws are most prevalent in the new hats for spring. Rough straws in the peacock colors, trimmed but slightly, have it nearly all their own way, in the examples now displayed. One of these, toning with the winter suit, will add a new note to your costume and will carry you along until you know ust what you want in the way of the new season's finery.

TENDER TRIBUTE TO GENTLE LIFE.

SCHOOL SECRETARY LAID AT REST IN EVERGREEN.

Board Officials and Friends Attend Rites for Norman S. Averill. Magnificent Floral Contributions. A Touching Unspoken Tribute by an Humble Friend.

A more tender tribute has never been paid any man, as he passes from the stage of life, than that which yesterday marked the last ceremonies to the memory of Norman S. Averill, the deceased secretary of the Board of Education.

The service was held in the First Congregational Church, of which the deceased was an official member, and the great auditorium was filled with mourning friends. The members of the Board of Education, the executive force from the offices, the many outside employees of the school department, and hundreds of teachers in the city schools, which had been closed for the day, helped swell the throng, each of whom felt that they had lost a personal friend and adviser.

A touching unspoken incident, unobserved by many of those present, was that of a young colored girl, apparently a domestic, who passed the flower-covered casket to take a last look at the face of the dead. She tenderly looked at the marble-like countenance, and then bolted from the line and fairly ran from the church by a side door, to hide her grief. No finer tribute could have been paid to the memory of this modest, sympathetic man, as indicating the humility of his character, and his interest in the humblest person with whom he came in contact.

The floral tribute was remarkable, in that it was a tangible evidence of individual estimate of his character. The scores of magnificent pieces were all delicately wrought in pink and white blossoms and fleecy green. The casket was entirely covered with a fabric wrought in white roses, over a ground of asparagus fern, of which the placid countenance of the snowy-haired form seemed a part. There were wreaths of laurel, harps with a broken string, lyres, pillows, and wreaths of violets, roses and carnations, the whole, entirely filling the front of the chancel where the casket stood.

The ceremonies were conducted by Dr. William Horace Day, pastor of the First Congregational Church, and Dr. Warren F. Day, pastor emeritus, assisted by Rev. Dana W. Bartlett of Bethlehem Institution. The quartette choir sang two of the favorite hymns of the deceased, "I Would Not Live Alway," and "Nearer, My God, to Thee," while the audience was requested to join in singing another of his favorites, "Alas, and Did My Savior Bleed."

Dr. William Horace Day gave a brief chronological history of the life of Mr. Averill, from his birth in Bethany, N. Y., May 14, 1833, to the day of his death, and pronounced him "a Christian man without guile." Dr. Day also spoke of the deceased as his counselor and friend.

"With you," he said, "I have come to say farewell; to pay my respects to this casket of clay, from which he shall go out into a broader life. I looked upon him as my counselor and friend and outside the family circle, there is no more beautiful word.

"We little thought, as we saw him at the last mid-week service, where he was always in his place, that it would be the last time with us. It was his desire to see the work of the church go forward to the larger and better things, and so, as the pastor of this family of Christians, I am poorer by the loss of my friend."

Rev. Dana W. Bartlett spoke of the deceased as "a friend we all loved," and referred to the inevitable end that awaits us all. Owing to the beautiful and fruitful life that had passed, Mr. Bartlett said that there was no loud mourning, but the deep sadness that marks the loss of a friend and brother.

"We all have more hope for the world," he said, "because one man like Mr. Averill lived in the world unspotted."

Dr. Warren F. Day, who found Mr. Averill one of the official members of the church when he arrived in this city, spoke most tenderly of their associations during all these years. He said:

"When I arrived at the Arcade depot in 1894, and looked out over the crowd of those awaiting me, above the heads of the others I saw that of Norman S. Averill, and I have been looking at him ever since."

He made lengthy reference to the work of the deceased in the church and in business life, and declared:

"Nobody can fill his place. We may elect other men to bear the title; they may stand in the same place and respond for themselves, but none of them will be Norman S. Averill. He was one of the men to whose life we owe a better city, making it a fitter and better place in which to live, and in doing that he has done that which enables him to reach the reward of the good and faithful servant."

After the closing prayer by Dr. Day, all who desired to do so were permitted to view the remains, and then the cortege moved to Evergreen Cemetery, where the body was laid by the side of a deceased son. The pallbearers were Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, Louis Clendennon and Hugh Harrison, representing the church, and J. B. Monlux, J. M. Guinn and J. A. Foshay, representing the school department, the latter being a former city superintendent.

The only relatives of the deceased in this city are his widow, well-known as Mrs. Anna S. Averill; a son, G. Edward Averill, and his wife, and Norman Averill, a grandson.

SAYS HER BABY WAS ABDUCTED.

Mother Places Infant Out to Board and Couple Who Take It Disappear. Complaint Issued.

Charging a couple supposed to be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Edstrome with abducting her 3-months-old girl, Mrs. J. L. Young, of No. 819 South Olive street, was given a complaint yesterday afternoon by Deputy District Attorney Hammon. The complaint was filed in Justice Summerfield's court, and a description of the man and woman sent out by Under Sheriff Brain to police departments throughout the country.

Mrs. Young, the complainant, is employed as a waitress at a West Third street place. Her husband is a chauffeur for Dr. C. W. Bryson. They answered a want advertisement for "babies to board" and placed the infant with the Edstromes at No. 912 South San Pedro street. Twenty dollars a month was the rate charged for her care and visiting hours were set for Sunday afternoons.

When the first Sunday came Mr. and Mrs. Young found a "To Let" sign in the front window of the Edstrome house, which was vacant. Yesterday Mrs. Young received a letter posted in Bakersfield, and written by Mr. Edstrome. He informed Mrs. Young that they were stopping in Bakersfield for a few hours on their way to New York via Salt Lake. "We have the baby," he wrote, "and upon our arrival in New York will place Myrtle Anne with people who are in a much better way to care for her than you."

JEWISH CHARITY CONCERT.

A charity concert will be given in Gamut Club Auditorium, on Sunday evening, under the auspices of the Jewish Endeavor Society, for the benefit of the Fruit and Flower Mission. past. These amounted to more than one fifth of the crop. When the shortage became apparent several weeks ago, we had our northern stock all in hand, and a working agreement with our only competitor, Shima.

"There were other fields, that might have proved damaging to my interests. In less than a day's notice I had a man on the way to buy up all of the Idaho potatoes in sight. It happened that the Western Milling Company of Idaho Falls had control of all of the surplus potatoes in that section and right there we acquired more than 100 carloads.

"Colorado might have been a competitor in the business, and our representative was jumped from Idaho to Colorado. Carbondale is the chief shipping point for potatoes in the western part of that State, and today we have every available car of potatoes that can come from that section tied up.

"It is the potatoes that were coming from these two places that have been securely tied up by washouts and other railroad tie-ups, and which will not arrive for two weeks at the very least, on account of the time necessary to detour them by roundabout routes.

NO HOLD-UP, HE SAYS.

"This leaves Los Angeles with scarcely any potatoes on hand and able to get only those I will supply. There is absolutely no intention on my part to hold up the public on prices. I don't think that Highlands will go up 50 cents higher than they are now in the next two weeks, and at the end of that time the first Idaho stock will be here."

While Zuckerman was speaking on a telegram from San Francisco arrived announcing that his heavy buying order, the other morning put the potatoes up to Los Angeles prices there. Further it announced that the San Francisco wharfinger had issued orders that all potatoes must be moved from the dock upon arrival. In the past the merchants with small warehouse space have utilized the wharf as storage facilities, having their potatoes delivered there, and taken them as needed. With the withdrawal of this privilege they will be forced to buy close, and thus further the ends of the Los Angeles man.

MAYR CASE GOES SLOWLY.

Disposition of Divorce Matter by Supreme Court Not Expected Before May—What Husband Says.

No disposition of the divorce suit of Walter A. and Ann Etta Mayr is to be hoped for before the middle of May or the first of June. The Supreme Court cannot reach the case before next April, and no opinion is expected for at least six weeks afterward. Mayr stated yesterday that no new features could be considered by the Supreme Court and that the charges made by Mrs. Mayr in her recent interview, had not been supported by the evidence in the lower courts, and consequently she had been refused her divorce.

He is carrying the case to the Supreme Court, hoping that he will be granted legal separation from her in as much as the lower courts have declared that many of the charges made against him by her were untrue, while most of his charges against her were supported by facts. Judge James declared that she had disregarded most of her wifely duties, was harsh and cruel in the treatment of the child, that she had sought to excite his jealousy and that the whole of the property was the separate estate of the defendant.

The Doctor's Answers On Health and Beauty Questions

By Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given, and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Bts., Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Sarah I.:—The mossy yellow or green substance on your teeth is called "tartar" and can readily be removed with a home-made tooth powder which is superior to any you can buy, and much cheaper, too. This prescription makes enough to last your whole family six months to a year: 4 ozs. Precipitated Chalk, 2 ozs. Powdered Sugar, 2 ozs. Vilane Powder and 1 oz. Powdered Soap. Mix thoroughly and apply with tooth brush once or twice daily. This destroys germs, prevents decay and removes the unsightly tarter quickly.

Mrs. D. E. R.:—You have dyspepsia if your symptoms are bloating and belching, pains in stomach, foul breath, headache, weakness and dizziness. You should avoid pastries and sweets for some time and take a teaspoonful after each meal of the following:

3 ozs. Essence of Pepsin, 1 oz. Comp. Essence Cardiol and 2 ozs. Syrup of Ginger. Mix. The foregoing will correct and cure any case of indigestion or dyspepsia.

Harold A.:—You state your symptoms are constant thirst, feverishness, pains in the back and groin, swelling of the ankles, puffs under the eyes, inflammed eyelids, painful, smarting and frequent urination, sleeplessness, catarrh, etc., and you are correct in surmising that your kidneys and bladder need a good tonic treatment. Have any well-stocked druggist mix the following: 1 oz. Fl. Ext. Buchu, 1 oz. Comp. Fl. Balmwort and 4 ozs. Syrup Sarsparilla Compound. Take a teaspoonful before or after meals and one when retiring. Drink plenty of water between meals. Eat slowly. Abstain alcohol. Continue treatment 6 to 8 weeks.

Rose G.:—To have beautiful, fluffy hair, free from oil and yet not harsh and brittle, use a dry shampoo composed of 6 ozs. Pulverized Orris Root and 2 ozs. Vilane Powder. Mix thoroughly. Apply a teaspoonful at night, rubbing into the hair and scalp. Use a brush and comb in the morning until all trace of the powder is removed. This is far better than liquid shampoos.

Mrs. R. E.:—Your questions and symptoms have been answered and explained several times heretofore in these columns, but as they may have escaped your attention I will repeat my advice, as I have for many others. For children's whooping cough and your own troubles of chronic bronchitis—not whooping cough—a laxative tonic cough syrup such as the following will quickly relieve and cure all of you. Recommend it to your neighbors, too, as it is excellent for any cough in old or young. Take ½ to 1 teaspoonful every half hour until relieved. Thereafter take a teaspoonful every hour or two. Obtain from any well-stocked druggist a 2½ oz. package of Essence Mentho-Laxene and mix it with accompanying it. This makes a full pint of the finest laxative, curative and tonic cough syrup, superior to patent or labeled goods and about 8 times cheaper. It makes the most effective cough remedy that I have ever prescribed.

Mr. G.:—You may be on the verge of nervous prostration. Your blood is thin and watery. Such symptoms as fear without cause, trembling, nervousness, bad dreams, wasting thinness, sleeplessness, timidity, debility, poor circulation, all indicate serious derangements of the vital organs, the blood and the nerves. You need something to rejuvenate, restore and correct your depleted nervous system, to enable you to keep up your work. For such a case, I recommend taking 2-grain Hypo-Nuclano Tablets after each meal. Between meals take ten drops—in water—of Tincture Cadomene Compound (one ounce.) Obtain both of leading druggists in your city.

Give me your name and address and I will send you a symptom blank and treat you specially, if necessary.

Jim:—Dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair can be stopped, but not by patent hair tonics made with alcohol. Alcohol merely allays the symptoms. Something to destroy the microbes which attack the hair and scalp is needed. In all my experience I have found nothing so sure and prompt in action as plain Yellow Minyol. Obtain a 4-oz. jar, which will be sufficient to cure any case like yours. Leading druggists have it or can get it of wholesale druggists. Directions accompany jar.

Mrs. O.:—If you want something superior or unequaled, something that will not only relieve constipation, but cure it, have the following prescription filled and take from one-half to a teaspoonful after each meal and when retiring: 3 ozs. Syrup Rhubarb, 2 ozs. Aromatic Fluid Cascara and 1 oz. Comp. Essence Cardiol. This is fine for old and young.

Thinness:—Your extreme thinness is unnatural. You should weigh 25 lbs. more. Your trouble is due to inability of the digestive tract, or alimentary canal, to absorb the proper elements that go to make flesh and fat from the food taken into your system. I know many who have gained a pound a day for 30 days through the use of the following prescription. Your sister will find it very strengthening, while increasing her weight. You can both use it to great advantage:

3 ozs. Essence of Pepsin, 1 oz. Tincture Cadomene (not Cardamon,) 1 oz. Comp. Essence Cardiol, and 3 ozs. Syrup of Rhubarb. Mix. Take a teaspoonful after meals and one before retiring. Continue 30 to 90 days.

Another excellent preparation to increase the weight, tone up the nerves and make the cheeks pink and the lips red by improving the blood is 3-grain Hypo-Nuclano Tablets. These may be taken alone or in conjunction with the foregoing prescription. They are put up in packages

Sacramento Valley Plans Big Exposition Display.

San Joaquin and Imperial Exhibits Assured.

Prominent Men Added to Roll of Advisory Body.

The Porterville Chamber of Commerce has given definite assurance of a splendid exhibit at the Pacific Land and Products Exposition. Advices received at headquarters yesterday from J. A. Gillis, exposition representative, who is canvassing the whole San Joaquin Valley, stated that a committee from the Porterville Chamber of Commerce started to work yesterday to raise funds all over the county and that a magnificent display from that section will be entered. Contracts will be closed Friday. The newspapers throughout the San Joaquin Valley are enthusiastic about the exposition and are devoting a great deal of space in their news columns to the enterprise. The Chamber of Commerce of Sacramento is considering an exhibit of the products of the Sacramento Valley. A letter was received at headquarters yesterday from S. Glen Andrus, secretary-manager, stating that the Board of Directors will take the matter up at its next regular meeting. Advices from Imperial yesterday stated that El Centro citizens have subscribed a handsome amount towards a joint Imperial county exhibit and that a general meeting of all of the county would be called to consider the ways and means to this end.

A number of additional acceptances to positions on the advisory committee are received by Chairman M. H. Flint yesterday from men prominent in the business and professional life of Los Angeles. Some of the replies follow:

MORE ACCEPTANCES.

Wm. Banning—"I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 24th and in reply to say that, as you are probably aware, my occupation keeps me away from the city most of the time, but if, under the circumstances, I can be of any benefit, I would be very glad to serve on the Advisory Committee."

Charles C. Chapman—"I am in receipt of your favor asking me to serve on the Advisory Committee to assist the Executive Committee in furthering the interest of the exposition. I assure you it will be a pleasure to render any assistance I am able to in making the enterprise a success."

Wm. D. Stevens—"I beg to acknowledge your letter dated Jan. 24th, and in reply to your very kind invitation to become a member of an 'Advisory Committee of Fifty,' beg to say that it will give me great pleasure to become a member of said committee, and to do all that I can for the Pacific Land and Products Exposition."

D. W. Pontius, Traffic Manager, Pacific Electric—"I am in receipt of your letter of the 24th advising that I have been named as one of the Advisory Committee of fifty to lend assistance to the Exposition Committee. I am obliged to you for the acknowledgment and shall do what I can to further the exposition."

J. G. Bullock—"It gives me great pleasure to serve on the Advisory Committee of the Pacific Land and Products Exposition, and I shall be pleased to render any assistance possible at any time."

W. M. Garland—"Glad to help in any way I can if it does not take too much of my time. I wish you and your assistants all kinds of success in your endeavors, which seem at once meritorious and patriotic."

I. A. Wann, Traffic Manager Salt Lake Railway, wired from Chicago—"Letter 24th just received. Appreciate honor conferred. Will be glad to serve."

SOME EXHIBITORS.

Among the prominent exhibitors who have already secured floor space in the exposition are the following: Imperial county exhibit, including Chambers of Commerce of El Centro, Brawley, Holtville, Imperial and Calexico; Yuma project exhibit, including leading commercial bodies of Yuma county, Arizona; Green & Griffin, Phoenix, Ariz.; Southwestern Sugar and Land Co., Phoenix, Ariz.; Porterville Chamber of Commerce; Kern County Board of Trade, Pacific Electric Railway Co., Los Angeles Suburban Homes Co., Janss Investment Co., W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., M. E. Miller & Co., Yaqui River Land & Water Co., W. O. Huse, Emil Firth, W. P. WORN EVIDENCE MORE RIDDLED.

BALDWIN-ASHLEY DEPOSITION GETS HOT SHOT.

Alleged Sworn Statement by Brother of Mrs. Turnbull for Use in Old Seduction Suit Adduced to Impeach His Testimony—Ruled Out in Bulk, But Parts Read.

All the large-bore legal batteries pro and con in the Baldwin will case lined up again yesterday around the well-worn bone of contention that, despite its frayed decrepitude, is looked upon as one of the cruxes in the many-angled evidence. That is the knowledge or the lack of knowledge regarding the supposed contract marriage of Lillian Ashley-Turnbull, the plaintiff, and "Lucky" Baldwin possessed by her brother, E. Porter Ashley.

This time the heavy firing centered about the carbon copy of the deposition which Ashley is alleged to have made for use in the seduction suit by his sister against Baldwin nearly fifteen years ago. The original was destroyed with other documents at the time of the San Francisco fire and it is sought to introduce copies by way of impeaching the evidence already given by Ashley in the present trial—to the effect that he did not remember the famous Mt. Wilson incident in which he is asserted to have first learned the true relations of Baldwin and the girl.

It was astutely surmised by the defense that what the document was meant to prove fifteen years ago is equally susceptible to proof by it now. A great part of the session was consumed in the endeavor to secure its ton and Dockweiler for the plaintiff. As a composite document, the depositions of Ashley, Nurse Brennan and Dr. Trueworthy were finally ruled out by Judge Rives, who did, however, allow the reading to the jury of individual parts of it. The attorneys for the plaintiff piled up a liberal number of exceptions for themselves by one filed for each question read.

Much time was consumed in the effort to establish the authenticity of the yellowed collection of Ashley-Wood letters as part of the evidence used in the previous trial—this being considered to be proven by the endorsements thereon of the Deputy County Clerk, J. R. McElroy, who was on the stand for nearly two hours. The hope of the crowded audience for something snappy in the way of evidence from these letters was disappointed, for both sides contented themselves with merely calling the long roll of the exhibits.

The defense scored, as anticipated, by the evidence of E. S. Babcock, manager of the Hotel del Coronado at the time of Baldwin's visit there with the supposed Mrs. Baldwin after their reported marriage. The register showed the entry "E. J. Baldwin and daughter"—the latter word misspelled. Babcock testified that "Lucky" introduced the girl to him as his daughter, and that his manner toward her "bore out his introduction."

Similar evidence was secured from the hostler, Augustus Palmer, who took Baldwin's companion horseback riding at Coronado, though the attorneys for Mrs. Baldwin succeeded in eliciting the statement that Baldwin had behaved very affectionately toward her.

Just a Scare.

HUSBAND IS TARGET ON TOTHER SIDE OF THE DOOR.

Long Standing Dispute Over Ownership of House Leads to Sensational Episode—Victim Refuses to Prosecute for Sake of the Children. Police Not So Deferential.

For the sake of their children, he declared, G. M. McKenzie refused to make a complaint against his wife, Mary A. McKenzie, who, according to officers working out of the University Police Station, fired a shot at him through the front door of their home, No. 1132 East Forty-seventh street, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The trouble of the McKenzies is of long standing, both stated in Deputy District Attorney Doran's office. They had separated for a time, and both claimed the ownership of the house and lot at No. 1132 East Forty-seventh street.

Yesterday while McKenzie was down town, his wife and son, Mason, locked the doors and windows of the house When he returned she refused to let him in. He tried to force the door open and pounded vigorously, calling to her at the same time.

She still refused and he continued his efforts. Then the shot was fired. "I did not intend to hit him and I didn't hit him," Mrs. McKenzie said. "I looked through the keyhole to see where he was standing, and then I fired the revolver at the other side of the door and down real low so it wouldn't hit him."

The bullet passed through the door a few inches above the threshold and within a few inches of McKenzie's leg. McKenzie, his wife and son, were taken to the University Police Station and then to the District Attorney's office in the Tajo building.

As a result of McKenzie's refusal to make a complaint against his wife, she will appear in the University Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of discharging firearms within the city, or some other petty charge made against her by the police.

CITRUS FRUIT IN DEMAND.

Eastern Broker Here Asserts California Products Are Increasing in Popularity on Atlantic Coast.

Vincent R Lamia, one of the large commission agents and brokers of New York, is a late arrival at the Alexandria. He is here to look after the citrus production.

"There will be a greater demand for California fruit this year than ever before through the east," he said. "People are becoming more and more acquainted with it, and know that California products mean quality, not only in the fruit or vegetables themselves, but in the packing, in the culture, and in every possible way."

Lamia is a firm believer in independent shippers; that is, growers of fruits who have sufficient holdings to do their own packing, planting and shipping under their own brands as against those of an association.

"These producers are eliminating a large percentage of the cost of marketing their products, and if they are at all careful of their packs, can readily receive a bonus for extra fine stock.

"The outlook as we see it in New York is for a very favorable year in citrus fruits. The dealers there are all preparing to handle more California stock and to cut down the importation of Italian oranges and lemons."

SEES RELIGIOUS UPHEAVAL.

Catholic Thinker and Theologian Here for His Health, Declares That Religion Is Not Dead.

"The world is in the throes of a religious upheaval," said Rt. Rev. J. H. Conroy, vicar-general of the diocese of Ogdensburg, N. Y., who with Very Rev. P. J. Devlin of St. Patrick's Church of Watertown, arrived at the Alexandria yesterday. "We are in a period where there is a general movement towards unity; a general striving to learn the right doctrines which explains, in a measure, the many changes that are prevalent through the religious world of today.

"Dogma, in a measure, has ceased to exist among the Protestant churches. That which remains is only sufficient to serve as a wall by which each church may hold its entity. Without this entity there would be no need for the many different houses of worship scattered about.

"Religion is not dead, as claimed by many people who would wish this to be true. We are, on the contrary, in a time when way below the strata of superficial business cares and social problems there is a deep-rooted conviction of some religion. Men are what you might call of agnostic religion, not of agnosticism itself, but rather of a religion which has a doubt as to all orthodox forms."

He outlined many of the religious movements of the present day, and pointed to the fact that they all had a tendency to lean back to the Catholic faith. He was here several years ago and spoke at the annual dinner of the Newman Club at which he expounded his views on modernism.

Mgr. Conroy will visit Bishop Conaty, whom he has not seen for many

CHRISTIE OPERATION.

HOLE IN HIS SIDE.

Several months ago Smith sent Christie to the hospital to operate on him for appendicitis). When the patient recovered from the effects of the anaesthesia he found that there was an opening in his side. It was on account of the inconvenience caused him by this permanent aperture that he caused Attorney Paul Schenck to institute suit for $50,000 against Dr. Smith.

Smith admitted in court that he had sewed the intestines to the abdominal wall and had made an opening through them and through the skin, but declared that this was necessary in order to save the patient's life. He declared that, to the best of his belief, there was a cancerous growth containing about 169 cubic inches.

Drs. W. R. Severson and E .S. Pillsbury were called by the plaintiff and asserted that they were confident that there was no such growth and that there was no necessity of disarranging the organs as had been done.

Schenck then startled the court by announcing that he wanted more proof than the mere word of physicians and that his patient would submit to an operation in the presence of judge and jury.

Such procedure was unheard of, but at first glance seemed to the court to be a rational way to get at the facts of the case. Later the judge considered the serious consequences which might follow such an operation and refused to witness it. He cautioned the attorney against so proceeding, but Schenck declared that both he and Christie would not be satisfied until the surgeons' knife had bared the exact condition of the plaintiff's abdomen.

DARING OPERATION.

The operation was performed at the Angelus Hospital yesterday morning. Dr. Severson was assisted by Dr. Pillsbury. Dr. Smith was permitted to be present. Dr. Granville MacGowan, who had testified in the capacity of an expert for the defendant physician, was also allowed to watch every move which was made by the operators.

The operation required a daring surgeon to attempt it. In the first place the patient had been suffering with a chronic ailment for thirty years. The operator had staked his reputation on the outcome of it and he worked under the scrutinizing eyes of those whose best judgment he had controverted.

Christie was asked before he was put under the anaesthetic as to whether he had any objections. He declared that he was more than willing that an effort should be made to restore him to the normal condition.

For two hours and forty-five minutes the physicians worked over him before he was permitted to regain consciousness. There was grave danger in keeping him under an anaesthetic for this length of time.

When the surgeons declared they had finished their work, the false opening had been closed and his abdominal cavity was restored to the condition in which it had been before Dr. Smith operated.

NO LARGE GROWTH, THEY SAY.

The surgeons said last night that they did not find a cancerous growth of the size which had been described. They ascribed the trouble of the patient to a stricture in the intestines, but would not state as to whether a cancer had caused this, declaring they would give an opinion on this later. A large amount of scarred tissue was removed.

"I have confidence that the patient will recover," said Dr. Severson last night. "I can see no reason why he should not, barring the after effects which may follow any operation and which cannot be foreseen.

"I would not give an opinion as to whether there was any cancerous growth, until I have used the glass on this tissue which was removed. However, we did not find a growth of the size which was supposed to exist.

"We removed one enlarged gland, but this was not at the point where the trouble was caused. This was about one inch in diameter. This will also be given a careful examination."

Effort will be made to introduce the results of the operation as evidence before the jury in the malpractice suit, which will be resumed next Monday.

If it is admitted, Schenck will earn the credit of having established a precedent in the matter of the competency of evidence, as well as having created a sensation by the daring of his offer and that of his client to make actual proof of a most dangerous nature.

He told the court that he was willing to stake all of the rights of his client to recover on the outcome of the operation, and said last night that he is satisfied with the action taken.

Buy Before the Cars are Running to Van Nuys and Lankershim Lands

Cars will be running direct from the Los Angeles Pacific Station on Hill Street to Van Nuys and Lankershim lands in a few weeks. Upon the completion of this road, all land valuations will be substantially increased, and buying activity throughout the valley will be tremendously quickened. The logical time to buy Van Nuys and Lankershim lands is RIGHT NOW. This magnificent stretch of fertile land—at the very gates of the most rapidly growing city in the world—is being improved with over a half million dollars' worth of asphalt boulevards—depots are being built, homes are being erected, and contracts for scores of others are in preparation.

Buy now at original prices in what will be the BEST developed suburb of the city that is destined to have a million population in the next decade.

PACIFIC COAST CARRIES RATES

Colonists Favored fro Points West of Chicago.

Steamer Yale Makes World Speed Record.

Salt Lake Meets Hard Luck in New Washout.

By reason of a united front on the part of the Pacific Coast railroads against the eastern trunk lines, the usual low colonist rates from Chicago and the Missouri River to Los Angeles and other Pacific Coast points were won at the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger Association in Chicago yesterday.

Information to this effect was telegraphed to T. A. Graham, assistant general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Pacific; T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Salt Lake; E. J. Held, assistant general passenger agent of the Santa Fe, and C. P. Ensign, general agent of the Western Pacific, yesterday afternoon.

These rates will be in effect this spring from March 10 to April 10. Rates from eastern points will be on the same basis as last year, namely, from Chicago, $33; St. Louis, $32; Missouri River points, including Omaha and Kansas City, $25, and proportionately low rates from the East to all California points and city centers in contiguous States.

The period in which the rates are in effect was advanced five days, making a ten-day advance over the period in which the rates were in force two years ago. The rate quoted is a one-way rate and is supported by the western railroads because of the large number of homeseekers attracted by them to the Pacific Coast.

A number of other rates will be considered at the meeting today and tomorrow. The low summer rate from the Pacific Coast to the East will probably be on the basis of the same rates in force last year from June 1 to September 1. This rate is $60 from Los Angeles to Missouri River points for the round trip; $72.50 to Chicago, and $106 to New York and Boston, with proportionately low rates to other points between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast.

Another rate is the low summer tourist rate from Chicago and the Missouri River to Los Angeles, on sale every day between June 1 and September 1, on practically the same basis as the low summer rate to the East.

The special rates for conventions and other gatherings on the Pacific Coast this summer will probably be slightly lower than the regular summer tourist rates.

Makes World Record.

With no advance intention of breaking any record, the steamship Yale, of the Pacific Navigation Company, made a new world speed record on its last trip between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The speedy triple-screw steel passenger steamer made the journey from San Pedro to San Francisco in seventeen hours, one hour faster than the regular schedule.

In order to make this record, which gives the Yale first place as the fastest steamship sailing under the American flag, it was necessary to maintain an average speed of twenty-one knots for seventeen consecutive hours, a speed not hitherto accomplished for so long a time by any warship in the United States navy or any steamer sailing under the flag of this country.

The new record is attributed to the fuel oil used in the big turbine engines in use on the Yale and Harvard, combined with a high degree of efficiency and operation of the big floating hotel. In coal-burning steamships it is necessary to clean fires at every watch, an eight-hour interval, which makes it necessary to reduce the boat's speed one or two knots while the cleaning is being done.

"It was a distinct triumph for the oil-burning ship," said T. B. McGovern, traffic manager of the steamship company. "The fact that the boat was able to make twenty-one knots for seventeen consecutive hours was due entirely to the fact, aside from the efficiency of the machinery and the crew, that oil was used as fuel. The government has one or two warships capable of as great, if not greater, speed, but so far as I know no such record for so long a distance has ever been made. Even on shorter runs not so great speed has been shown without some preparation and a picked crew."

Starts Safety Campaign.

Frederick S. Hughes, field director of the American Safety League, has arrived in Los Angeles for the purpose of conducting a two months' "safety" campaign, under the auspices of the public service corporations and the school authorities. Mr. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes are co-lecturers. They will give a series of talks in school rooms, public, private and parochial, with a view of instructing pupils how to avoid accidents occasioned by steam and electric cars, motor cars, live wires and other dangers found on public thoroughfares.

"It is a get-together movement to prevent accidents," said Hughes last night. "About $125,000,000 is expended annually because of preventable accidents. About 98 per cent. of the accidents that occur are preventable. If there is an understanding on the part of the public of the rules of the street, and of trainmen and drivers of motor cars and other vehicles of the rules of operation and driving.

"Our method is to lecture to students and others and to distribute buttons on which will be the pennant of the organization and the inscription: 'The Los Angeles Safety League.' Children are to be told not to play in the streets or to cross in front of cars, or to go behind a car that has stopped, and a number of other safe and sane rules for their government. Our instruction is not alone for children, but also for adults and for trainmen and drivers of automobiles and other vehicles."

Mr. Hughes will begin his campaign of education in the public schools today with the first of a series of talks to school children. This series of lectures will be given to every school twice a year, with the hope, as Mr. Hughes expressed it, of reducing accidents one-half within five or six years.

Lovett Is Coming.

R. S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroads, will start within a day or two from New York for his annual tour of inspection. He will probably arrive in Los Angeles within ten days and pass a day or two here inspecting the electric roads recently taken over by the Southern Pacific. The Chamber of

R. S. Lovett, president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroads, will arrive within a day or two from New York for his annual tour of inspection. He will probably arrive in Los Angeles within ten days and pass a week or two here inspecting the electric service recently taken over by the Pacific Electric Railway Company. Chamber of Commerce officials will confer with Lovett in the long-delayed project of a new passenger station here.

Another Washout.

Ill luck haunts the right-of-way of the Salt Lake Railroad in the Meadow Valley wash. With its new high line above danger of flood, within a few weeks of completion, the old road-bed has been washed out twice within a week. The first washout was repaired yesterday when a cloudburst wrought a larger damage than the disaster of the previous week. There is lack of definite information concerning the extent of the second disaster, and little is known of it except the announcement yesterday that it would be ten days or two weeks before the line would be open for traffic. Neither of the two washouts came within ten feet of the grade of the new high line that is being constructed.

Through Orange Belt.

About 110 persons were the guests of the Salt Lake and Southern Pacific Railroads in an excursion over the new "orange belt" route yesterday. The party followed the regular trip of the new daily excursion train leaving the Salt Lake depot at 8:35 o'clock in the morning, stopping at Riverside, where the party was taken for an automobile ride and then to luncheon at the Glenwood Inn. Following the luncheon the party went to Redlands on the Southern Pacific, where another sightseeing tour was indulged in. Continuing to follow the regular route, the train reached the Arcade station of the Southern Pacific at 7 o'clock last night.

New Train Service.

The Southern Pacific Railroad has shipped two 60-passenger self-propelling motor cars to Calexico. The new cars will be put in service between Calexico and Hechichera on the Inter-California Railroad, furnishing a daily service between the two points as against three pasenger trains each way a week, the present service.

WANT EFFICIENT INSPECTION.

Association of Stationary Engineers Send Representative to Sacramento to Look After Desired Legislation.

The local branch of the National Association of Stationary Engineers is incensed at the treatment accorded a bill which they prepared for presentation in the State Legislature, regulating the construction, operation and inspection of steam boilers, and John Topham will go to Sacramento today, to attempt to straighten the matter out.

The bill as sent to the Legislature was prepared at the national meeting of the association held in this city last June, and had the unanimous endorsement of that body, as well as of the Los Angeles Board of Examiners, under whose management there has not been a boiler explosion in this city during the past eighteen years.

The bill, however, fell into the hands of the San Francisco philistines in committee, was mutilated by cutting out all provision for inspection, and providing only for the licensing of engineers, thus leaving the owners of plants entirely at the mercy of licensed engineers, who may or may not, know a great deal about the care and protection of boilers. This castrated bill was introduced in the House, but another bill in the original form, and including all the safeguards thought necessary by the national body, has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Hewitt of this city.

This complete bill provides that only such persons shall operate steam engines as hold licenses from the State Board of Examiners, but all persons doing such work at the time of the passage of the law shall be given a license without further examination, providing they make application within ninety days after the act becomes effective. Exceptions are made in the case of operators of locomotives, automobiles, and steam boilers of less than four horsepower. It provides for the appointment of a State Boiler Inspector and two District Examiners, who will form the State Board of Examining Engineers and Boiler Inspectors, and for as many deputy inspectors as may be necessary, and makes San Francisco the headquarters of the board.

It is made unlawful for anybody to operate boilers or machinery under steam pressure, without annual inspection, including mangles and steam kettles. Persons dissatisfied with the report of the deputy inspector, may refer the matter to the State Board, whose decision shall be final. The fees for inspection run from $1 to $5, according to power of boiler; fine and imprisonment are provided for those who permit boilers to be operated without inspection.

Mr. Topham, who goes to Sacramento today, is a member of the Police Commission, and is a stationary engineer by profession.

CANNOT EXIST

In the human body if you will use Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout. It is ridiculous, absurd and preposterous. In fact it is a pity and a shame to talk about rheumatism and gout, much less suffer with it, either inflammatory, muscular, sciatic or any other form of rheumatism. Trunk's Prescription for Rheumatism and Gout sells for $1.50 or six for $7.50. This prescription does not ruin the stomach: It does not depress the heart. Eat all the meat and good food you wish while taking Trunk's Prescription. It does not contain any mercury, salicylate of soda, oil of wintergreen or narcotics of any kind, but it absolutely and positively overcomes any kind of rheumatism or gout on earth. What more do you want? There is nothing yet as good, and it is impossible to get something better. It is also an excellent liver medicine.

Chapter 8 Service that Never Sleeps

No matter when you may call upon it—at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, when almost the whole city sleeps, or in the middle of the sunny afternoon—you will always find the service of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation at your command. Turn a switch or a valve and light and heat and power are yours.

To maintain this excellent service a large number of employees are on duty at night at the plants and at the offices of the company.

A squad of trained men stand with the telephone figuratively at their ears, ready to speed by automobile or motorcycle to any part of the city in response to emergency calls. Telephone operators are on duty at headquarters every hour of the twenty-four to receive all complaints and answer any alarm.

In the event of fires, the emergency crew hastens to the scene prepared to stop the flow of gas or shut off the electric current when necessary to protect life and property.

Leaks in gas pipes, breaks in electric lines, and all other interruptions to service are given immediate attention. Every want of the consumer is anticipated, and through this emergency department patrons are able to meet any contingency that may threaten hours of inconvenience and discomfort.

Local Produce Market.

The entire morning feature of the market was potatoes. Some of the retail dealers having a hunch of the present situation and hearing of the railroad tie-ups in Utah, where a major portion of the Los Angeles stock en route is standing, arrived early in the morning and bought all the potatoes obtainable. The result created that morning will find almost a panic among the smaller dealers who are endeavoring to supply their trade with potatoes. There are about ten cars on the tracks, and these are all sold by the man who has a car on the market, and will not be released until his price is reached. A few Oregon potatoes are expected in, but the amount is so small that it is expected that it will not change the situation materially. The efforts to get Minnesota and Iowa potatoes have proven unavailing. Cars from these states which have been brought in have been of such poor quality that it became essential to sell them for freight charges. By the time they could get here they were ordered now in the market would be well supplied with the delayed potatoes. Only 200 sacks were received yesterday, practically all local stock, which of no consequence on the market on account of the small amount coming in, although no official change in quotations as reported. Highlands were boosted to 75, and Idahos, which have been selling at 1.65, were advanced to 2.00 a hundred. The egg market continued weak. Case count were dropped to 27 cents a dozen, while candled were held at 31 cents. Outside eggs were quoted at 25 to 29 cents. Receipts for the morning were 219 cases. The call for butter was very fair. There were no changes in the market. Arrivals totaled 27,226 pounds.

Northern storage was among the larger offerings. Oregon Daisy cheese sold freely. Receipts were 1446 pounds.

Onion receipts were 320 sacks, a car having come in from the north. The demand for this commodity was slightly dragging, with the higher quotations in vogue. There were no changes in beans. Offerings and sales were light.

Sweet potato receipts were only 24 sacks, the call for the sweets was fair.

A car of apples on consignment arrived from the north. The demand in this fruit was for Bellefleurs, which were up fractionally, and Pearmains. There were no changes in other fruits or vegetables.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE.

Union Makes a Fair Recovery and Several Thousand Shares of Central Oil Change Hands.

There was not a very wide range to the trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday, but considerable business was transacted during the calls. Union sold as high as 104.50 but the closing bid was 103.50. Central Oil was somewhat active on the morning call, 8000 shares selling at 1.80, the stock closing at 1.79 1-2.

Oleum Development again got into the going, but there was no price change to record. Consolidated was again on the toboggan, closing at 14 1-2 bid. The trading was confined to the oil shares.

PRICES DROP ON CHILLY REPORTS.

FEAR FOR WINTER WHEAT IN SOUTHWEST FELT.

Total Lack of Snow Blankets Over Wide Area Tends to Create Pessimism Among Traders—Oats Extremely Weak from Much Liquidation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Predictions of a cold wave southwest put up the price of wheat today. There is a total lack of snow covering in that section, accordingly fear was aroused for the winter crop. Notwithstanding a widespread impression that the big longs were marketing their wheat on the swells, popular sentiment was more friendly to the cereal from the start. Just before midday open selling by longs caused a setback, but commission buying led to a surprising recovery in the end. May ranged from 96 1-8 to 96¾, and closed firm, 5-8 net higher, at 96 5-8. In corn light sales by the country made speculative buying of futures good. Fluctuations for May ran from 49 5-8 to 50 1-8, with the close firm at 50, a net gain of ¼. Cash corn was in fair demand; No. 2 yellow closing at 47@47½. Oats were extremely weak, suffering from much liquidation and short selling. May ranged between 33 5-8 and 32 7-8, with the close 3-8 down at 33 1-8. Provisions sagged because of selling due to heavy January receipts of hogs. After the gong, pork was 15 to 17½ down; lard 7½ to 10, and ribs the same as lard.

Cash quotations were as follows:

Flour, steady; No. 2 rye, 82½; feed or mixing barley, 45@75; fair to choice malting 84@96; flaxseed, No. 1 southwestern, 2.55½; No. 1 northwestern, 2.64½; timothy seed, 10.50@10.60; clover, 14.75; mess pork, per bbl., 20.00@20.25; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.75; short ribs, sides (loose,) 10.00@10.50; short clear sides (boxed,) 10.50@10.62½.

STOCK DEALINGS GAIN STRENGTH.

PRICE LEVELS SWEEP UPWARD ALL DAY LONG.

Northern Pacific Furnishes Aerial Stunt of Session by Rising Five Points on Lively Market—Harriman System's Improvement Plans Responsible for Tone.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—With scarcely a break through the day price levels swept upward on the Stock Exchange in consistent fashion until at the close some of the active stocks showed net gains of 2 points or over. It was the most impressive demonstration of strength which Wall street has witnessed in many weeks, and was attributed in the main to the influence of yesterday's favorable developments, notably the Harriman system's huge improvement projects, and the cheerful view expressed by Chairman Gary of the United States Steel Corporation as to present and prospective conditions in that industry. The volume of business on the exchange was nearly double that of recent days. Northern Pacific rose in spectacular fashion, touching 128¾, or 5 points above last night's close, and was again the feature of the day's trading. Its rapid advance of recent days still is unaccompanied by satisfactory explanations. Copper shares received less attention, though reflecting the general tendency of the market. Offerings of nearly $19,000,000 Reading 4 per cent. bonds increased the already large total of new securities recently placed on the market. Flotation of new securities to the value of $235,149,600 in the month just ended established a new high record. The increase was confined to railroad securities, which were more than $100,000,000 greater than in January, 1910, industrial issues falling o fconsiderably. London was a large buyer in this market, Americans advancing generally there. Bonds were firm, total sales, par value, $4,029,000. United States 2s registered advanced ¼ on call.

New York Curb Stocks.

[Special Service to The Times by R. F. Hutton & Co., Members of the New York Stock Exchange, 118 West Fourth st., Los Angeles.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Chino and Giroux were the features on the curb today. Giroux sold up from 6 7-8 to 7 1-4, close 7 1-8@7 1-4. There were supporting orders on Chino about 6000 shares changing hands and sales up to 21. Just at the close Giroux was in good demand. The balance of the list was steady with Yukon selling up 4 1-4. It begins to look as though the market was due for a good upward turn as the big board continues very strong.

The Boston coppers were stronger with good buying orders in evidence which were well distributed throughout the list. The Boston market reflects the strength of the New York list and is broadening daily.

ROOSEVELT DAM WORK COMPLETE.

Reclamation Service Engineer Inspects Project.

Job Is Considered Near to Absolute Perfection.

Immense Water Power Will Be Available Soon.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 31.—Arthur Powell Davis, Chief Engineer of the Reclamation Service and locally known as the father of the original plans of the Salt River irrigation project, has been here during the past few days on an inspection of the various features of the project, accompanied by L. C. Hill, engineer in charge of the southwestern projects, Chief Electrical Engineer O. F. Ensign of Los Angeles, Supervising Engineer F. E. Weymouth of the Boise irrigation project and Consulting Engineer J. Wiley of Boise.

The Roosevelt dam was found all but complete, the contractor finishing off his work by the erection of crest walls, on either side the roadway, of handsome variegated rock, set in concrete. Gate and tollhouses are being built and completion of the electrical work is well under way. While the Salt River project has been developed to an extent not at first deemed possible, in view of the original cose estimates of about $3,000,000, the work in general has been an elaboration of the original plans, with nearer approach to perfection secured by the inclusion of the canal distribution systems of the valley and the addition of immense water power development.

The party came from an inspection of the proposed dom at Engle, N. M., across the Rio Grande, where determination was made of the equipment necessary for the work. This dam will be longer than that at Roosevelt and will be about as high. The dam of the Boise project will be both longer and higher than the Roosevelt structure, upon which many engineering problems have been demonstrated, for the advantage of future work of the kind. Mr. Davis and party will spend the early part of the week around the Colorado River project, at Yuma.

RIVER AT FLOOD.

The Salt and Verde Rivers still continue at flood from rains in the mountains. Rain has not fallen in Phoenix for the past week, though announced imminent. The latter stream has furnished all the irrigation flow needed while the Salt is gradually filling up the reservoir at Roosevelt. At present the water level stands at about 110 feet on the dam, indicating storage of nearly 150,000 acre feet, compared with 200,000 acre feet when the winter rains began.

The removal of the cement mill from Roosevelt to a new site, a couple of miles west of Tempe, is now about complete, involving freighting by wagon of 600,000 pounds of machinery. The plant has been purchased by a company of local capitalists who expect to start the manufacture of cement in four or five months. Erection and operation will be under charge of F. E. Tupper, who was superintendent of the plant at Roosevelt. The mill is being built on the bank of Salt River, close by the tracks of the Arizona Eastern Railroad and will secure electric power from the Reclamation Service at low cost. Cement now sells on the local market at $2.75 a barrel, and a largely increased demand is expected on completion of the plant, when the product will likely be sold for not over $2 a barrel.

Though a number of committees have been appointed, no details have been settled upon for the entertainment of Col. Roosevelt when he comes in March to assist in the dedication of the dam which bears his name. A large number of suggestions have been made, some of them bizzare in the extreme, but the joint committee probably will prune all of them down. The published itinerary calls for the arrival of Col. Roosevelt in Los Angeles at 7:30 on the morning of March 21. To get him there on time, it will be necessary for him to take a train leaving here at 5 p.m. on the 20th, this cutting down his stay in Phoenix to little more than half a day.

TAX EQUALIZATION.

An important step toward the equalization of taxation in Arizona has been taken in the organization in Phoenix of an association of county assessors. The meeting was called by Territorial Auditor Mauk, upon whose office annually falls the burden of reconciling assessments of similar property at wide variance in valuation in different counties. Assessor J. J. Birdno of Graham county, an official to whose energy is due the first movement for equitable taxation of mines, presided over the sessions and B. A. Cameron of Pinino county acted as secretary. Permanent officers, T. E. Campbell of Navapal county was elected president and Frank Luke of Maricopa county secretary. Resolutions were adopted declaring "grossly inadequate" the present assessment of one per cent of gross earnings charged against telegraph, telephone and express companies. The mining assessment upon one per cent, of the gross production of mines was considered as not bearing just proportion to other classes of property and 40 per cent, was suggested as a more equitable proportion. Concerning railways, a resolution declares that no just reason exists why the main line of the Southern Pacific should be assessed in California at $9 a mile and in Arizona at only $3, the road being identical in construction in both States. A majority of the assessors agreed upon thirty-two articles of assessment, the most important item being the assessment of non-productive patented mines and mining claims at $35 an acre and mining improvements on the same basis as other property. Railroad land grants should not be assessed at less than 35 cents an acre, and private land grants at not less than $2 an acre. Stocks of goods and bank stock at 50 per cent., cattle at $55 each, range cattle at $40 and work horses at $40 a head.

CENSUS RECOUNT.

Dissatisfaction over the local census will likely lead to a recount, unless then by the School District Board, City Council and the Board of Census Supervisor Towle has written to Mayor Christy that he is ready to the census figures are about correct that he will assist in a recount though it would hardly be an official or authoritative one. Pay for enumeration already has been offered by several local business enterprises and the work will probably be done during February. The fact that Tucson has been granted 2000 population above Phoenix is a sore feature in view of the local postoffice re-

N. M., has been accorded a population almost the same as that of Phoenix, though her postal receipts are much lower. In the last school census, Tucson returned 3228 children of school age, compared with 3208 for Phoenix.

The last territorial bank statement for Arizona shows thirty-eight commercial banks, with gross assets of $14,732,550, and thirteen national banks, with gross assets of $9,739,293. At the head is the Phoenix National Bank, with a balance of $2,127,068, closely followed by the Valley Bank of Phoenix, with $2,002,835. In the million-dollar class are the Bank of Arizona of Prescott, Arizona Central Bank of Flagstaff, Bank of Bisbee, Gila Valley Bank and Trust Company of Morenci, Consolidated National Bank of Tucson, Prescott National Bank and National Bank of Arizona of Phoenix.

Wool shipments have been begun already from the feeding grounds north of Phoenix, where the grass is green and abundant and where all conditions are better for the sheepmen than known for years before. Fearful of a dry season, thousands of sheep were held in the district south of the Grand Canyon, but most of these are now being hurried south, for shearing and lambing in the milder climate of this locality.

A material change has been made in the management of the Overland Telephone Company. Dr. John W. Foss retires from the presidency, relinquishing the position to Isaac T. Stoddard, former Secretary of Arizona. The company opened its exchange in Phoenix last August and now is giving service to about 1400 patrons here, beside operating long distance lines within this valley and in Northern Arizona. Its plans include connection with every town in the Territory and extension by way of Parker into California.

At Hamilton, Ohio, last week died Mrs. W. E. Brown, mother of Mrs. R. E. Sloan, wife of Governor Sloan of Arizona. Mrs. Sloan was at her old home at the time, called East by the illness of her mother.

George Hough Smith, for years supervising gardener at the Arizona capitol grounds, died January 18 at his old home, Kendal, England, where he had gone for a visit.

DEADLY CURRENT HITS WORKMAN.

SHOCK AT DUCOR MAY PROVE FATAL TO HIM.

Arm Twisted Out of Semblance to a Human Limb and Drawn Against His Body by the Contracted Muscles With Such Force That It Cannot Be Straightened.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

DUCOR, Feb. 1.—Elmer Kimball, an employee at the sub-station of the Mt. Whitney Power Company here, was terribly and perhaps fatally burned this morning when he seized a power wire carrying 30,000 volts of electricity, having been informed that the current had been shut off.

Kimball and a fellow workman, John Neuheuser, were instructed last night to put new oil in the transformers at the station where the current is stepped down from the 30,000-volt tension at which it leaves the Porterville house, to the 2000-volt degree at which it is furnished to the various pumping stations of this district.

When they reported at the sub-station, Kimball remarked to Neuheuser that the power would be shut off in the Porterville house at 8 o'clock and that they could go right to work.

Kimball instructed Neuheuser to unwrap the lead wires on the far side of the transformers, saying he would work on the wires which he was facing. As he spoke he reached out and seized the wires leading into the machines. There was a flash, a report like that from a shotgun and Kimball was knocked violently to the concrete floor of the building.

Fellow workmen rushed him to the Ducor Hotel and a message was sent to Porterville for medical aid. Dr. Barber made the trip in record time from the neighboring town and everything possible was done to put the injured man in comfortable condition. It was found that Kimball's left arm was twisted out of all semblance to a human limb and was drawn up against his body with such froce from the contracted muscles that it could not be straightened. The soles of his shoes were burned to cinders; both feet were terribly scorched, his face was blistered and both arm-pits were one solid burn.

He was removed to a hospital in Porterville, where it is said there is very little chance for his recovery. Kimball is 30 years of age, a resident of Visalia and unmarried.

BURST CELLS AND ESCAPE.

Jail Delivery Takes Place in the Night at Visalia—Two Men Wanted for Burglary Get Out of Bastile.

VISALIA, Feb. 1.—Frank Larkin and Mike Burke, two inmates of the County Jail, both with very shady records and being held for burglary of the Wild store, escaped from the bastile last night after they had made their way out of their cells and then cut through the outer brick wall of the cell corridor.

From all appearance the men had assistance, though in what maner it could have been granted is not known. They were confined in one of the new style cages, but they cut the heads from steel rivets with which the bars were fastened in the cages and then, with a piece of gas pipe taken from a toilet fixture, the bars were pried far enough apart for them to slip through. This let them out into the main corridor at the rear of the cell room. Here they used some sort of a short, sharp crowbar with which to pry out a number of bricks from the wall and then made their way into the jail yard.

The jail delivery was not discovered until this morning at the breakfast hour for the prisoners, when Jailor Nanz called the trusties to serve the meal.

The police had congratulated themselves on the capture as there was said to have been a clear case against the prisoners and their activities were thought to have been nipped for a number of years at least.

GETS TWENTY YEARS.

William Caesar, accused of a crime against his 16-year-old sister, appeared in the Superior Court today and pleaded guilty. He was given a sentence by Judge Wallace of twenty years in San Quentin at hard labor.

Caesar is 25 years of age, according to his own story, thought his parents state that he is but 22. He is said by physicians who have examined him to be a moral pervert who should be sent to an institution rather than to the State's prison. His father and his mother, however, refused to have anything to do with his defense and his plea of guilty was allowed to stand.

A lifetime filled with startling made and lost several fortunes, J. H. Johnson, universally known through the San Joaquin Valley as "Picayune" Johnson, died here last night at the home of his son, L. J. Johnson, at the age of almost 80 years.

Attracted by the gold rush Johnson came to California in the early days of '49. He prospered in the early fifties and in 1859 came to the Visalia country where he bought a large tract and stocked it with hundreds of head of cattle. Money made in his cattle ventures he lost in speculation. Real estate investments again proved to be fortunate ones for him and about ten years ago he cleaned up his holding in this immediate vicinity for almost $220,000 cash.

He and his wife left here to take up their residence in San Francisco, where they fell into the hands of a gang of so-called "mediums," who fleeced them of every cent. Mrs. Johnson died and the old man, penniless and broken in health, returned here and passed his remaining days with members of his family.

He leaves a family of six sons and daughters: Lafayette Johnson, Hugh Johnson, both of Visalia; Mrs. Will Sanders of Orosi; Thomas Johnson of Wallace, Idaho; Mrs. Alice Crow of Drum Valley, and Henry Johnson of Dinuba.

DECLARE ACT VICIOUS.

At a specially called meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade held last night, resolutions were adopted condemning the proposed law to limit the working hours of women to not more than eight out of each twenty four. It is held that such a law will be ruinous to the deciduous fruit industry during the drying seasons especially. The resolutions are to be transmitted to the proper committee in Sacramento.

Next Monday evening at the Pablo, the first regular monthly dinner of the Board of Trade will be served. The proposal to have these get-together spreads was one of the first actions taken by the newly elected board of directors of the publicity body and it is believed they will be the eventual means of a great deal of good. For the first banquet, the arrangements have been placed in the hands of E. A. Bagby, John Coffee Hayes and Morley Maddox.

One of the chief matters of discussion at this banquet will be a report on the matter of bonds for the construction of a permanent pavilion, which is to be given by the committee comprising C. A. Whitmore, editor of the Visalia Delta, Morley Maddox, editor of The Times and John Coffee Hayes, general manager of the Mt. Whitney Power Company.

eland Dissents But Eshleman and Gordon Are Unyielding.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—Los Angeles won a clean-cut victory in the fight to prevent a rehearing by the State Railroad Commission of San Joaquin Valley freight rate case. The commission voted not to grant the rehearing petitioned for by San Francisco merchants.

In accordance with his dissenting opinion upon the former commission order of December 24, granting Los Angeles a reduction of rates into the valley, Commissioner Loveland did not concur in the opinion of the other two commissioners, James Eshleman, chairman, and Alexander Gordon, the two latter being the only members of the commission.

The decision of the commission means that the order of the former railroad board, made December 24th, will become effective Feb. 15. The order grants to Los Angeles rates into the San Joaquin valley that San Francisco and northern cities say are a "rank injustice" to San Francisco, Fresno and Oakland, especially when the comparison of the long haul over the Tehachepi mountains is made with the level
